Chris:
Well, we're Finally out of this hole but I can't say that we haven't had fun. Remember gymclass, Old Town & Big Boys. We've really had some great times together & I wish you two all of the happiness in the world. You're one of the sweetest people I know. We're definitely getting together this summer. Call me (255-3617) lots of luck in whatever you do.

Dear Chris – I'm gonna miss you so much in lunch and on the bus. Glad I got to really know you. Too bad we weren't friends last year, too. I'll probably see you in the summer and later on, but you're gonna get married (you dummy!) and I'll never see you. Besides admit it – you like that Mike guy more than you like me. I'm jealous! Don't ever forget Klaus or Larry Leprauchan, Peter Pig & Piglet, Klaus (how could anyone forget Klaus?), Nora, that couple in lunch, Jo's prom dress, my dry lips that I lick, my prunes, all that money you owe me ($6.81 10¢), and most of all don't forget about me. This was the best year I had at school. It's all your fault! Oh Gross! When I marry Mike, you and Mike (that two-timer) can come and have a dinner party. And Mickie, too. Chris, you're somebody I can always talk to, and thanks lots. I try to listen to you, but (Oh, Hell) you're hard to understand, schweetie! Sometimes when you turn into an old bag, come over and we can lick our lips, stick out our tongues while we drink milk and possibly eat our sleep (Ych) You, Mickie, and Julie will be the best bride's maids ever! Stay great Love armadillo Eileen

Kris,
This year has been quite a year to remember, with graduation & parties. Oh well, here's the record of things. I wish you the best of luck with Mike. Take care yourself & best of thanks. Love always, Jan Olson

Try to keep in touch this summer.

Chris,
I want to wish you the best of luck and success with everything you do. You're a very special kid. It was real a pleasure having you in class. I hope to see you during the summer.
Peace Baby!

Education: Achievement through Enthusiasm

Upon entering Forest View High School, a new student encounters the enthusiastic spirit of students and teachers alike. He soon finds that Forest View excels in extra-curricular as well as academic activities. Special programs encourage interested students to take courses beyond the normal selection, while numerous clubs provide outlets for diverse interests. Non - school - sponsored activities such as Campus Life also play a major role in many Falcon lives. Enthusiastic students find abundant opportunity for achievement in athletics, leadership, and scholarship at Forest View.

Chris
Its been a great knowing you this yr. You have a lot to be proud of. I know you'll do great next year & I know you'll miss it!

Chris- Its been great having you on the bus. Take care of Icky and keep your dog away from Missy- she'll beat yours up. Rick Uppling Slacks on girls (right) were a common sight in the halls of Forest View. Ron Roszak and Patti Pinkham (far right) reigned over Senior Spirit Week as Mr. and Miss Spiff. Three minutes (below) were all that were needed to evacuate 2,500 students from Forest View during a fire drill.

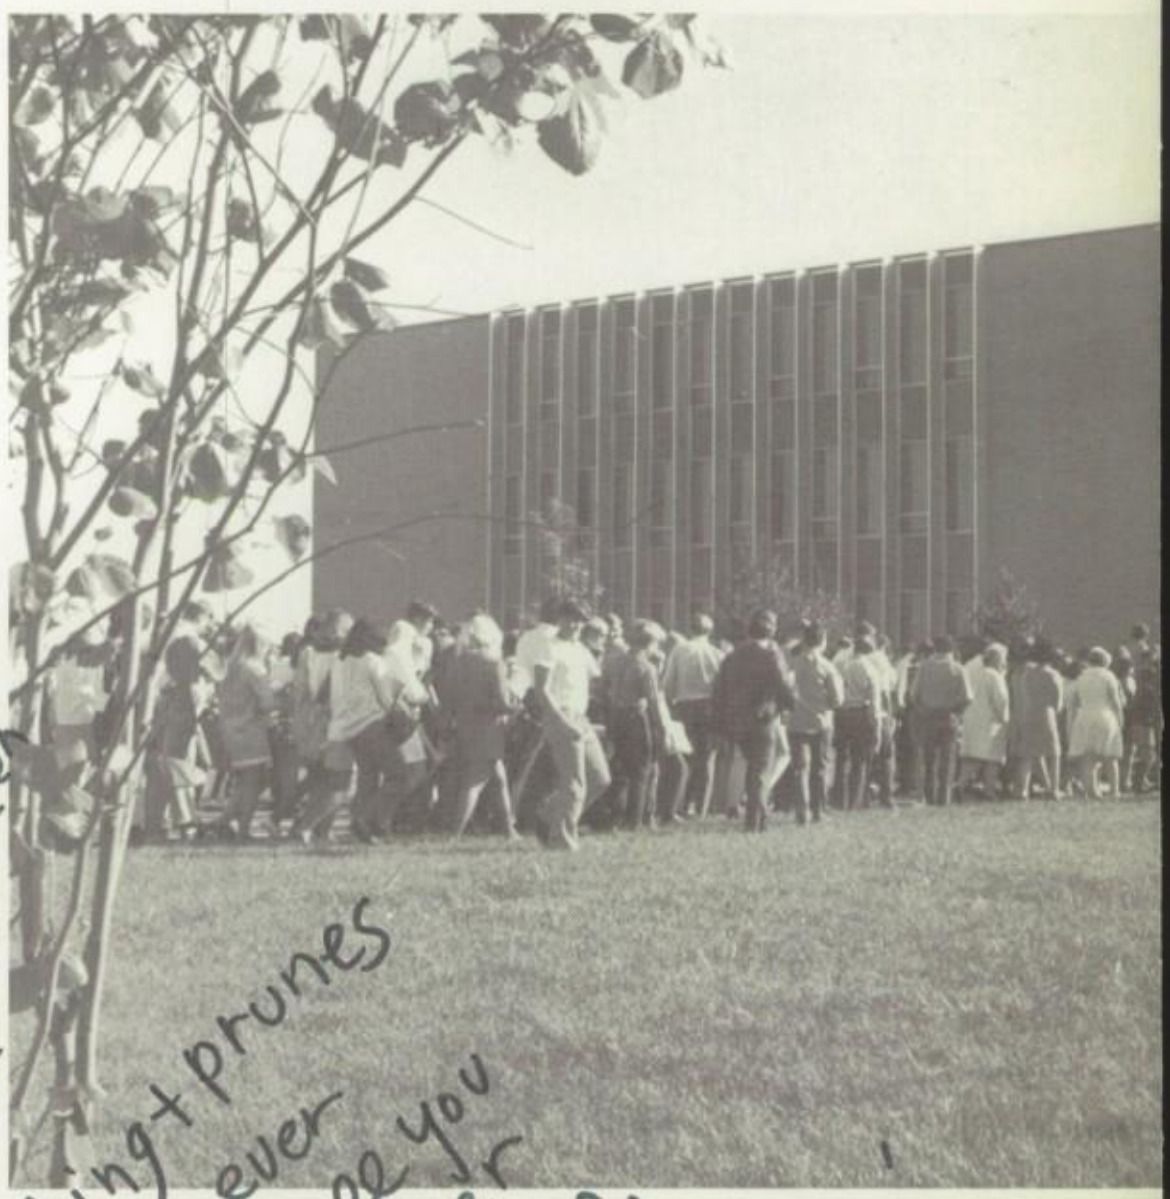
Freshmen who arrived in September found fire drills, spirit weeks, and mild forms of student rebellion to be only a part of the excitement they were to encounter during their four years at Forest View. Sophomores and juniors, relieved to find their first years of high school behind them, anticipated the privileges that came only with being upperclassmen, while seniors proudly proclaimed their superiority during Spiffy Senior Spirit Week. Yet, in spite of class competition, all united to form the most important facet of high school life, the student body.



Chris,
Hi Schweetie.
Chuck I can't even spell

The abundance of extra-curricular activities at Forest View allowed students to express themselves in many ways. Girls who took part in the Orchesis Show conveyed various moods through dancing. Drama productions gave student actors experience in communicating their feelings and ideas. At mixers, friends found the opportunity to get together and experiment with the latest dances. Involvement in these and numerous other activities motivated individual interest and achievement throughout the school year.

School spirit dominated Forest View's athletic program. Win or lose, the Falcons showed emphatic support for each team throughout the year. Ferdie Falcon symbolized the drive and desire of each athlete and supporter. Lights for the football field, which were the result of community and school enthusiasm, made football even more exciting. Hoarse voices were the result of the Victory Cheer competition at pep sessions. Once again, sportsmanship, skill, and spirit produced a rewarding athletic year.

Participation was the key factor in organization. NHS members exhibited their Falcon spirit by selling the traditional Fall Festival pennants. Student Council members strove to unify the students and to encourage their cooperation in school government. The various clubs held elections to appoint new officers to preside over the meetings and to organize activities. The band and majorettes inspired our athletes to achieve for Forest View. Although distinct in interest, enthusiasm was common to all organizations.

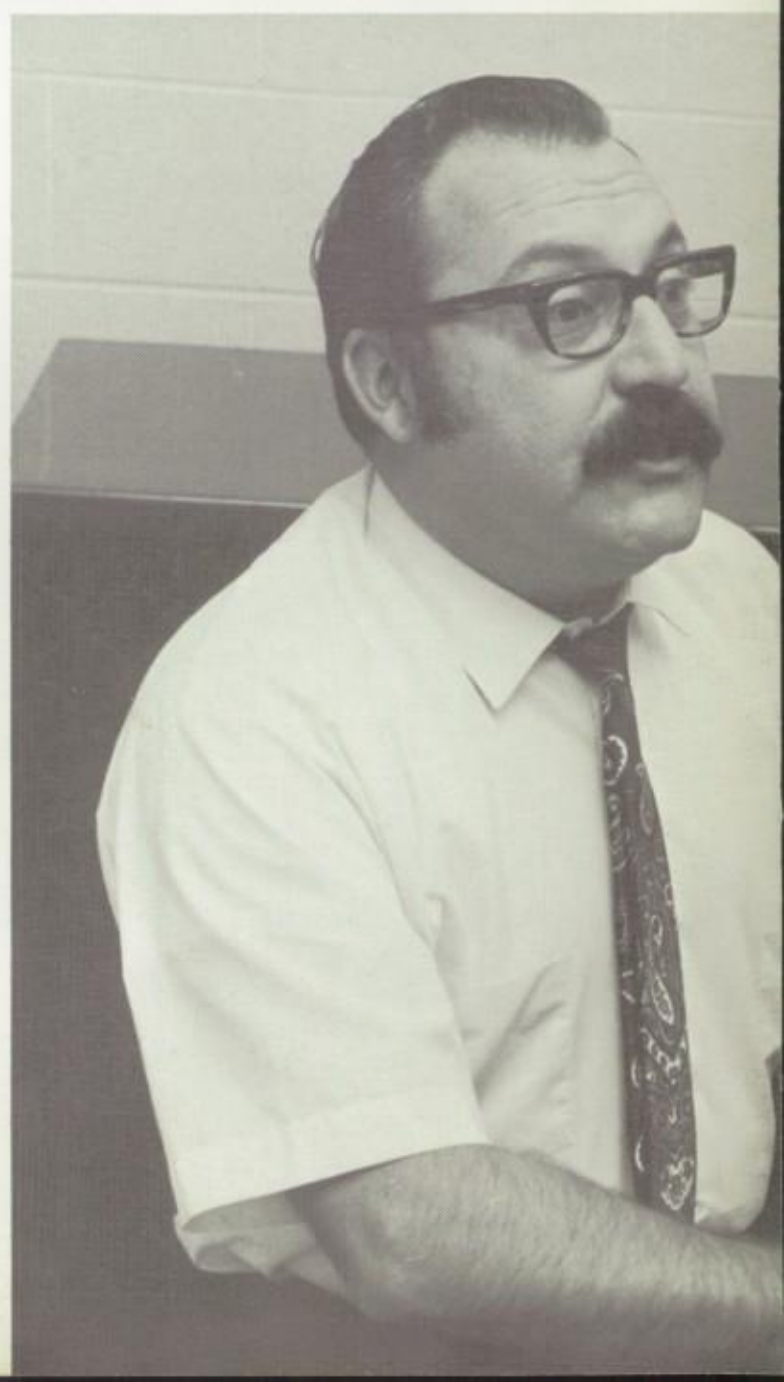
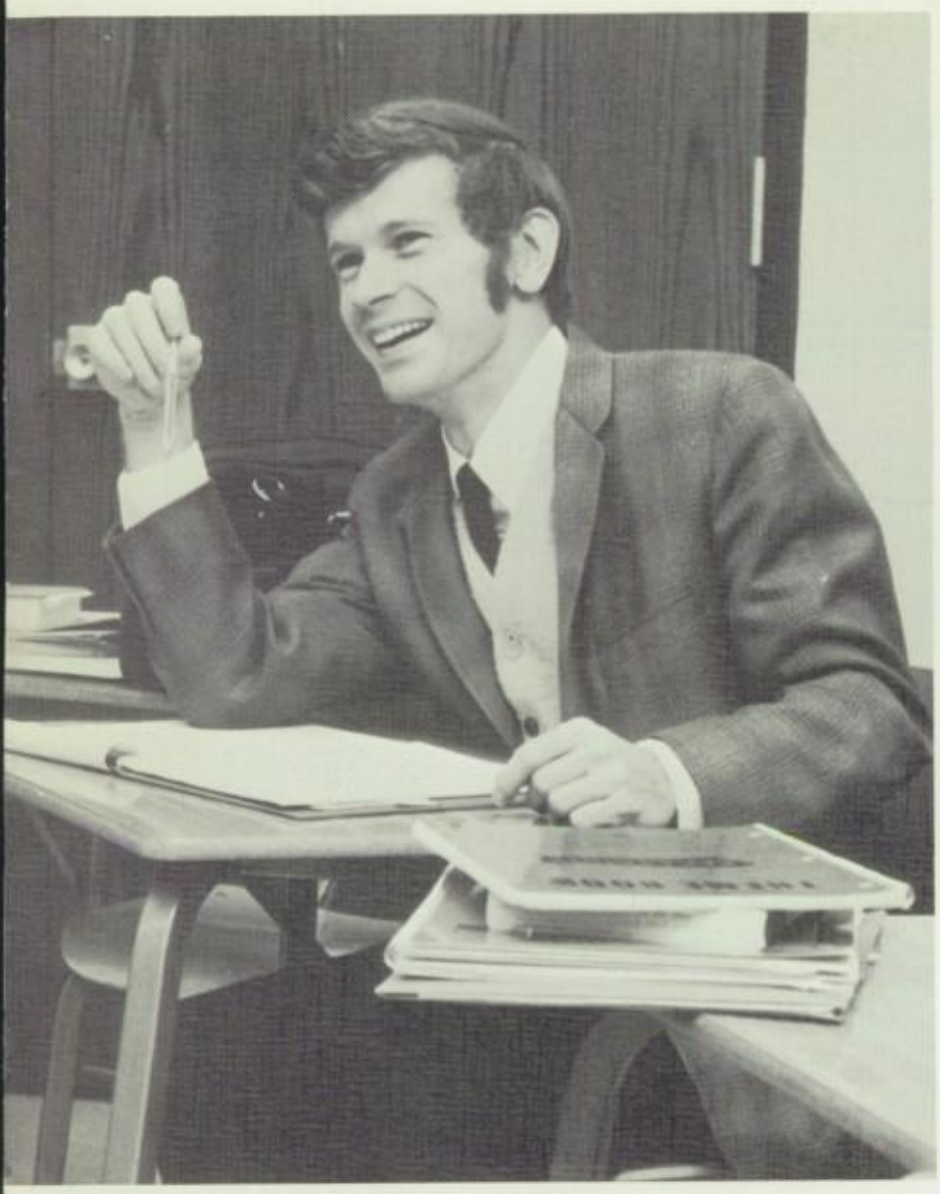
Peeling and eating a banana without using her hands (above) was the feat June Dunaway tried to accomplish. Bill Michalek (right) described his favorite sport at a Campus Life meeting. The Junior Achievement program (upper right) was introduced to the juniors by J. A. representative Mr. Donald Collins at a class meeting. Representatives from each class (far right) attempted to lead the Young Life participants in a round of songs.

Activities outside of school were as much a part of student life as those school sponsored. Campus Life and Young Life, both non-denominational organizations, not only stressed the place of Christianity in the lives of the youth today but also provided social activities for them. Junior Achievement Business Centers throughout Chicagoland offered sophomores, juniors, and seniors new responsibilities, ideas, and experiences. By spending two hours on one evening per week they were able to learn principles of economics through the organization and running of a business of their own.

A more liberalized system of teaching allowed the faculty members of Forest View to do more than relay facts and figures to the class. Instructors were no longer content to teach solely from books. Visual aids made both teaching and learning more enjoyable. Teachers also led open discussions which gave students the chance to voice their opinions. Yet the faculty existed not only to teach, but also to encourage and inspire through sponsoring clubs and coaching athletic teams. The spirit of involvement visible among the faculty members stimulated the students to participate actively in various events throughout the year.

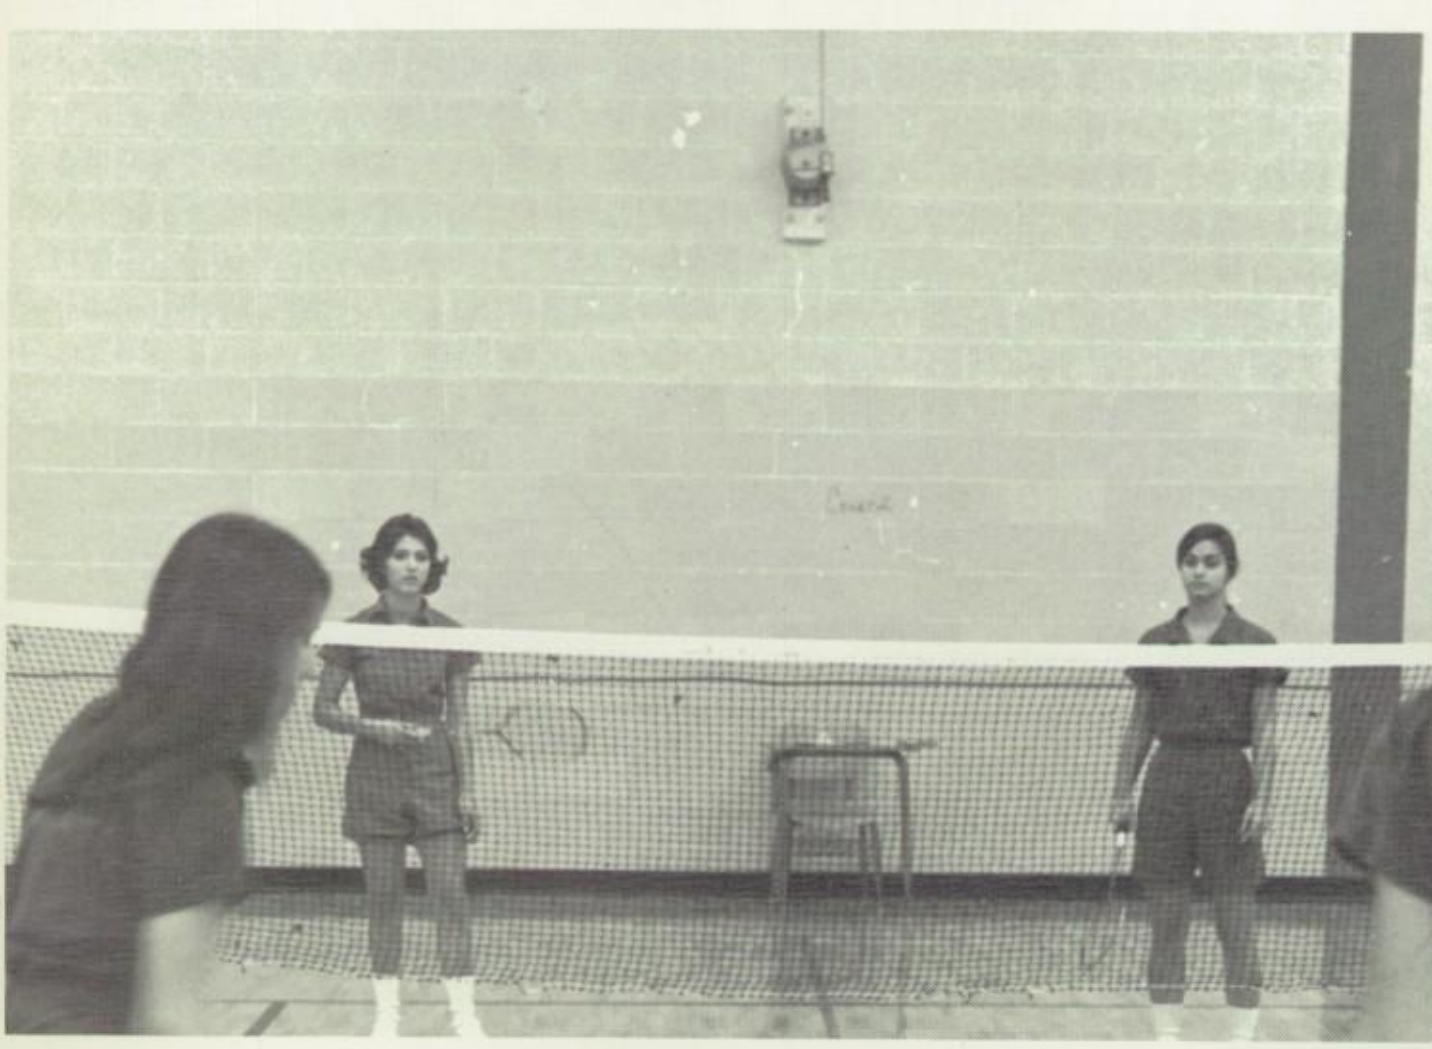




Determination was evident in the face of Mr. Darryl Phillips (above) as he intently watched a wrestling match. An amusing drama skit (above left) generated a laugh from Mr. Charles Wilde. Mr. Fred Schimmelman (left) led the chorus in a rendition of "Let There Be Peace on Earth." A petite and spirited Mrs. Barbara Farroh (far left) called the balls and strikes.

Students of various interests found a unique selection of courses offered at Forest View. The study of contemporary fiction was combined with that of English Literature to form a new class for seniors. Fourth and fifth-year foreign language scholars developed new conversational abilities. The Social Science Department continued to offer seminars in the specialized areas of Political Science and U.S. History. An experimental girls' gym class gave seniors the opportunity to participate in activities most appealing to them. The liberalized curriculum available to Forest View Students facilitated the learning process considerably.

Randy Williams (far left) listened as Mr. Robert Alexander discussed early political systems. Spanish V students (lower left) learned more fluent conversational techniques by listening and speaking to Mayda Sanchez, an immigrant from Cuba. Cheryl Romano and Carol Conrad (below) awaited the return of the shuttlecock in the special senior elective course. Seniors who chose the contemporary fiction course (right) in English studied modern novels as well as English Literature.



Chris,
It's been really great knowing you and having you in the same glpr class this year. It's been a real blast. Especially when we were the champs in the class for badminton. We were great!! I'll never forget you! I hope you don't forget me. Good luck in whatever you do. And keep smiling! Love, Deb Donavan

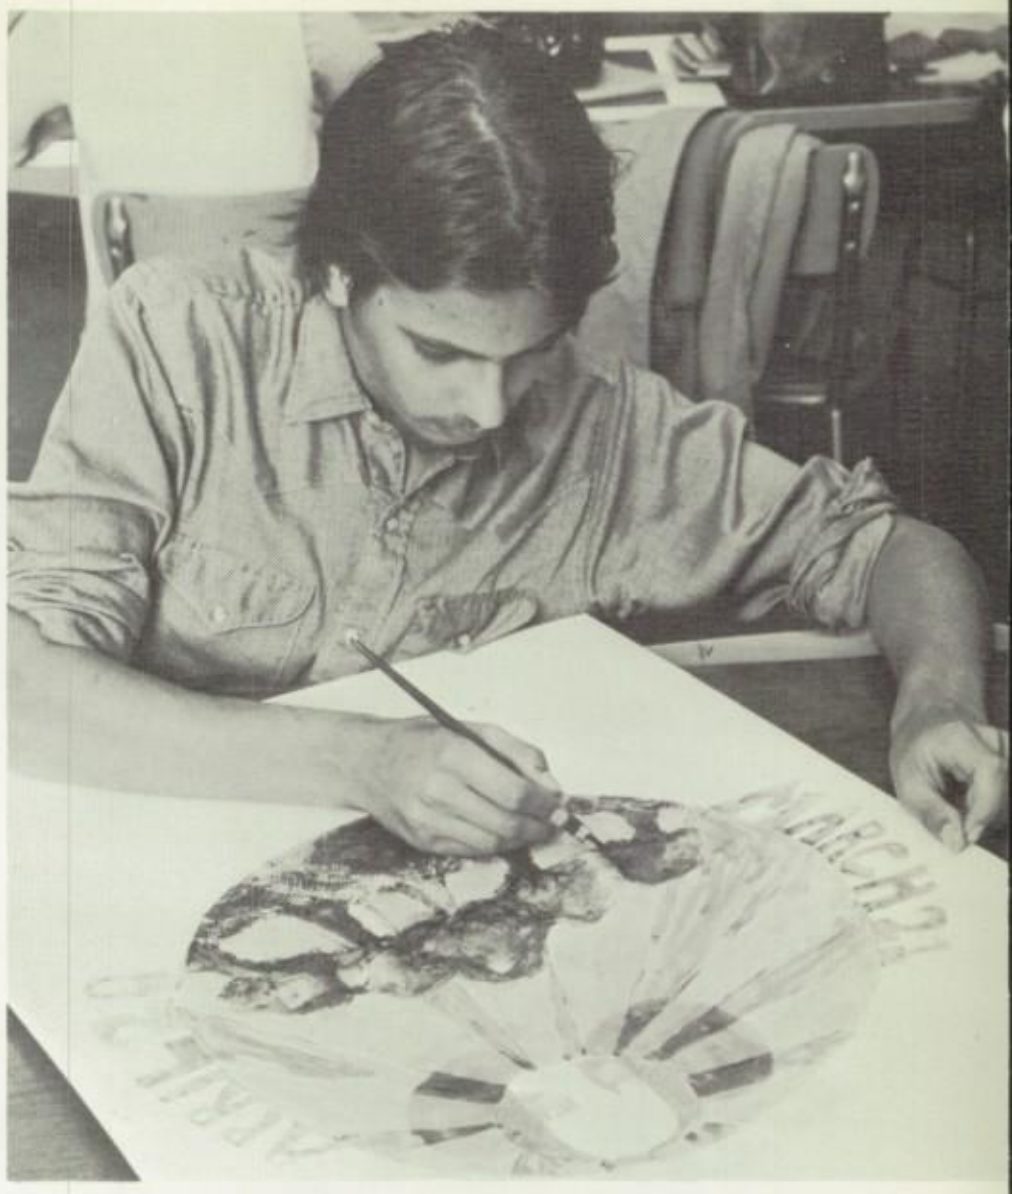
Achievement through Scholastics

A child miseducated is a child lost.

John F. Kennedy

Jean Cummings put the finishing touches on her lithograph.



The zodiac influence extended to Forest View's art students.

Mr. Jasinki, student art teacher, commented on the finer points of a student's work.

Art Developed Student Expression

Mr. John Doyle aided Michael Kowalczyk with his sketch.

The Forest View Art Department worked to develop student expression through the use of basic skills acquired in the first year of art classes. Printmaking, jewelry work, drawing techniques, and oil painting, as well as instruction in design and color, were among the many approaches to the course. Metalwork, although part of the program in the past, was used to a broader extent as a result of the installation of new welding equipment. Fine Arts, similar to an art appreciation course, stressed expression through the study of the different problems that confronted the student-artist.

A number of art students earned scholarships and awards. One deserving student, Keith Peterson, not only placed first in graphic design in a state art competition but also received a scholarship from the Rolling Meadows Women's Club.

Chris — It's been a pleasure having you around when you made it in. Good Luck
John Doyle.

Marie Mirro concentrated on drawing a still life.

Business Education Division Expanded with Additional Courses

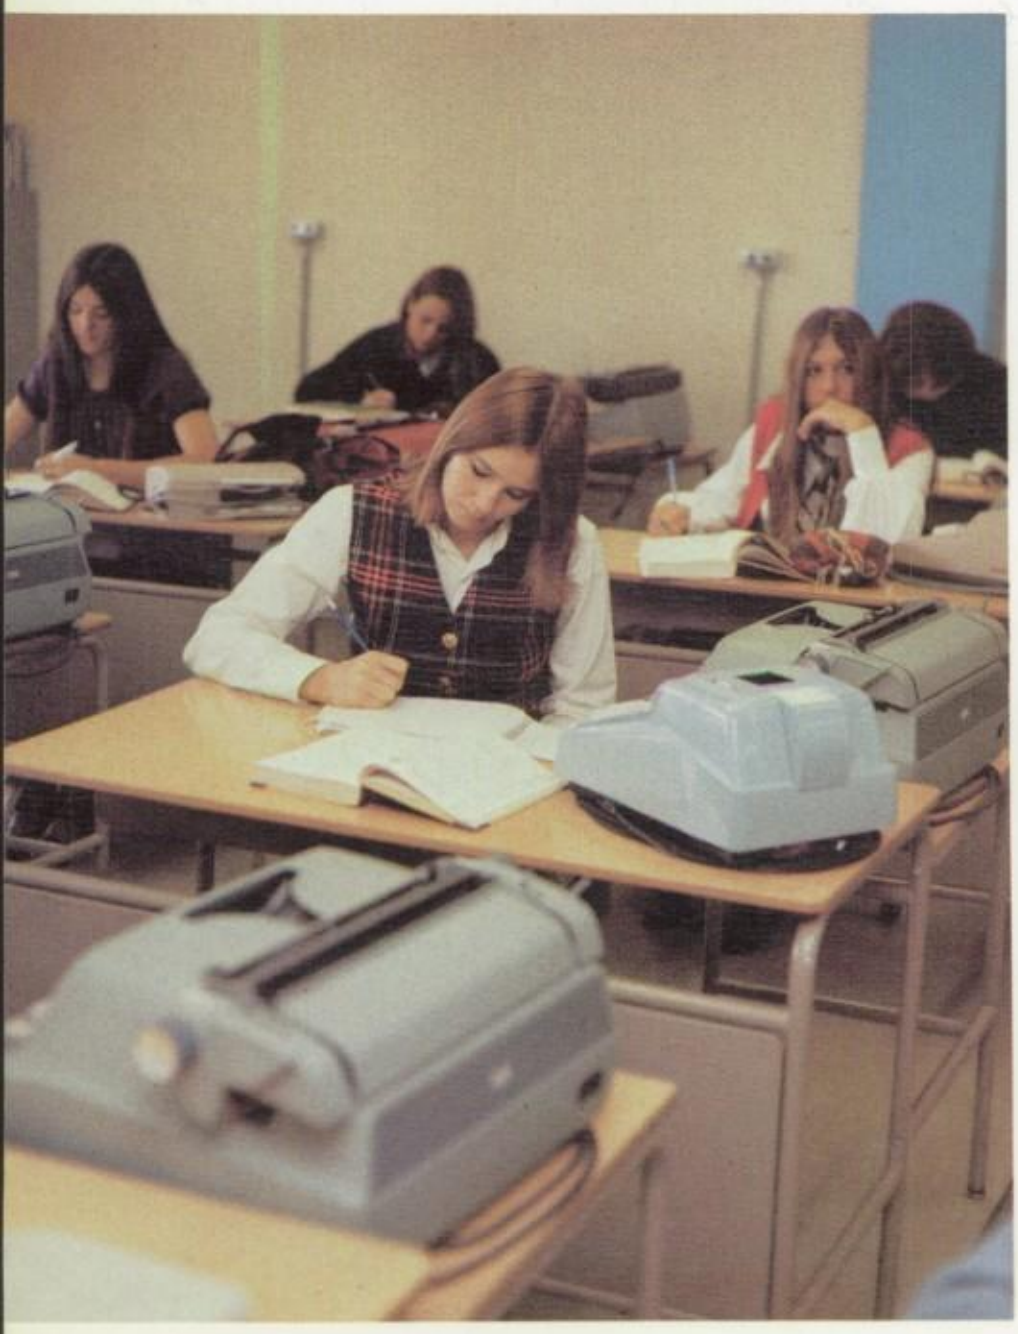
The Business Education Department, one of three branches of the Practical Arts Division, initiated several changes this year. Notehand was taught for the first time on a one-semester basis, and a greater number of students took accounting on an independent study basis. The enrollment in all business courses was higher than previous years. Typing students numbered 350.

Some business students had the opportunity to attend a leadership conference. Others went on field trips. At times, guest speakers visited classes and introduced topics such as the insurance or news industries or gave tips on grooming and office technique.

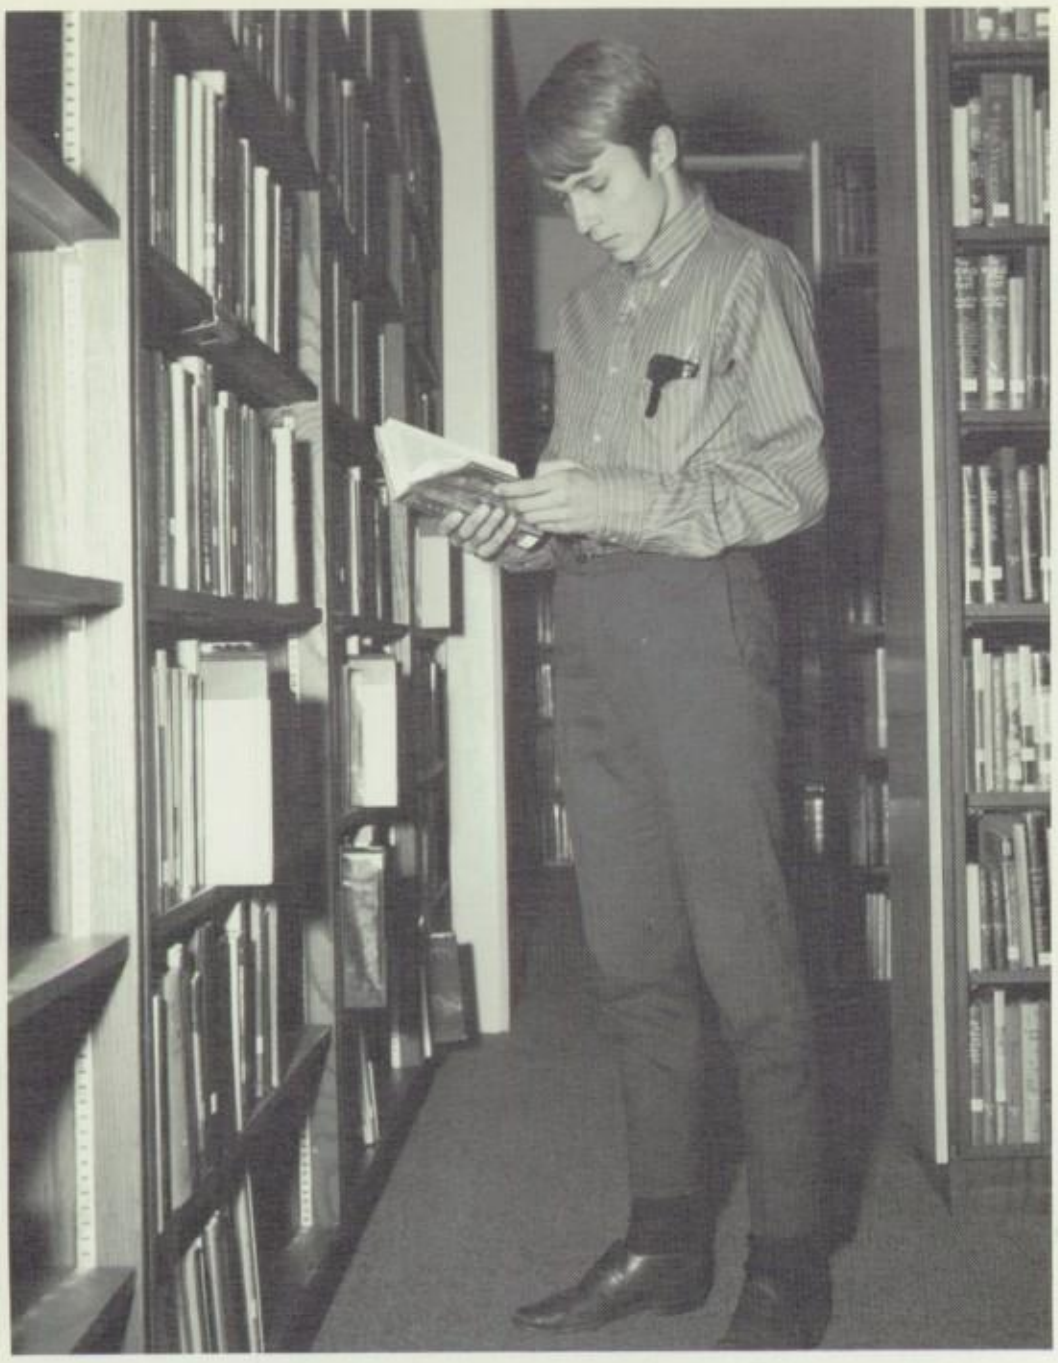
Office practice classes continued to be popular. Their function was to acquaint students with various types of office machines. Adding machines, printing calculators, dictaphone-transcription machines, offset printing machines, and electric typewriters were among those to which the students were exposed.

All courses and programs in Business Education contributed to the main purpose of the department. They taught items valuable for personal, everyday use, such as budgeting, buying, and borrowing, as well as laying the groundwork for those planning to enter the business world in the future.

The fifth-hour shorthand class worked on speed builders.



"Double-space or single-space after a period?" pondered Barb Werner.



Library Added Equipment and Resource Room

The library provided over 20,000 books on topics ranging from art to zoology. Students gathered every hour of the day to take advantage of the books, tape recorders, filmstrip machines, and phonographs which helped them to study in an easy and enjoyable way. Cassettes, made from the foreign language tapes, and an additional microfilm reader-printer supplemented the already ample equipment.

The librarians and English teachers, attempting to aid students and teachers alike, organized an English resource room in one of the library's conference rooms. The study carrels, phonographs, and films provided the students with opportunities to study in ease and quiet. English classes not only found the additional resource material more accessible but also found it helpful in preparation for term papers and speeches.

Chad Henderson sampled books from the library shelves.

Seniors found the library helpful while preparing term papers.

English Department Attempted Revisions in Current Curriculum

Change was the key word in the English Department. Personnel were added, curriculum revision plans were made, and teaching aids were developed.

Mr. Leo F. Hundt, assuming responsibility as the new department head, felt he was working with a very cooperative English faculty in developing ideas and plans for changes.

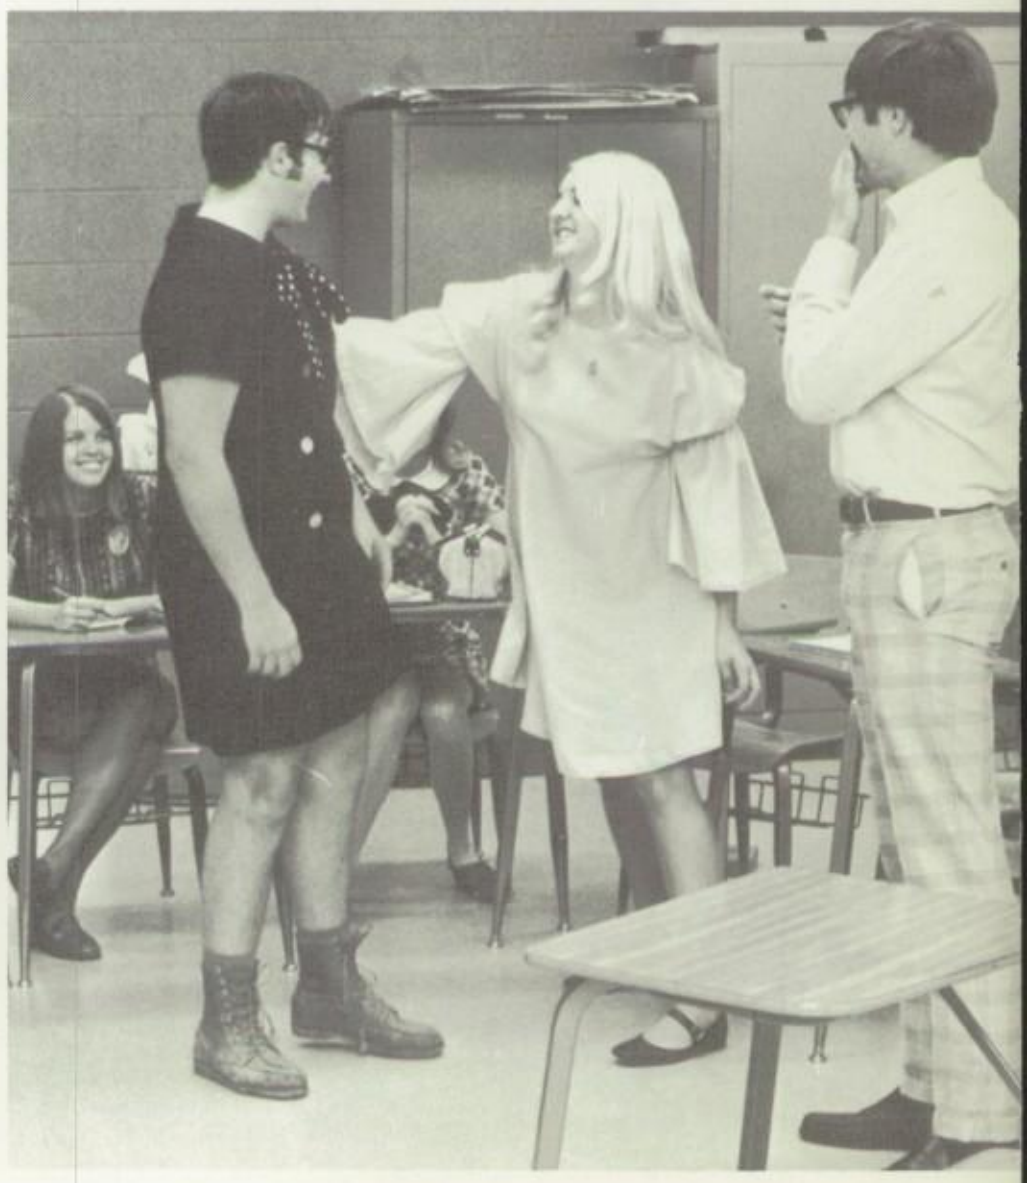
The English resource room, adjacent to the library, was fully equipped for the first time; records, films, and slides were available, along with the reference books formerly kept in the English office. The mechanical equipment that students used included tape recorders, slide projectors, film editors, and record players. It was hoped that lounge-type furniture could be provided to make the area more relaxing and liveable.

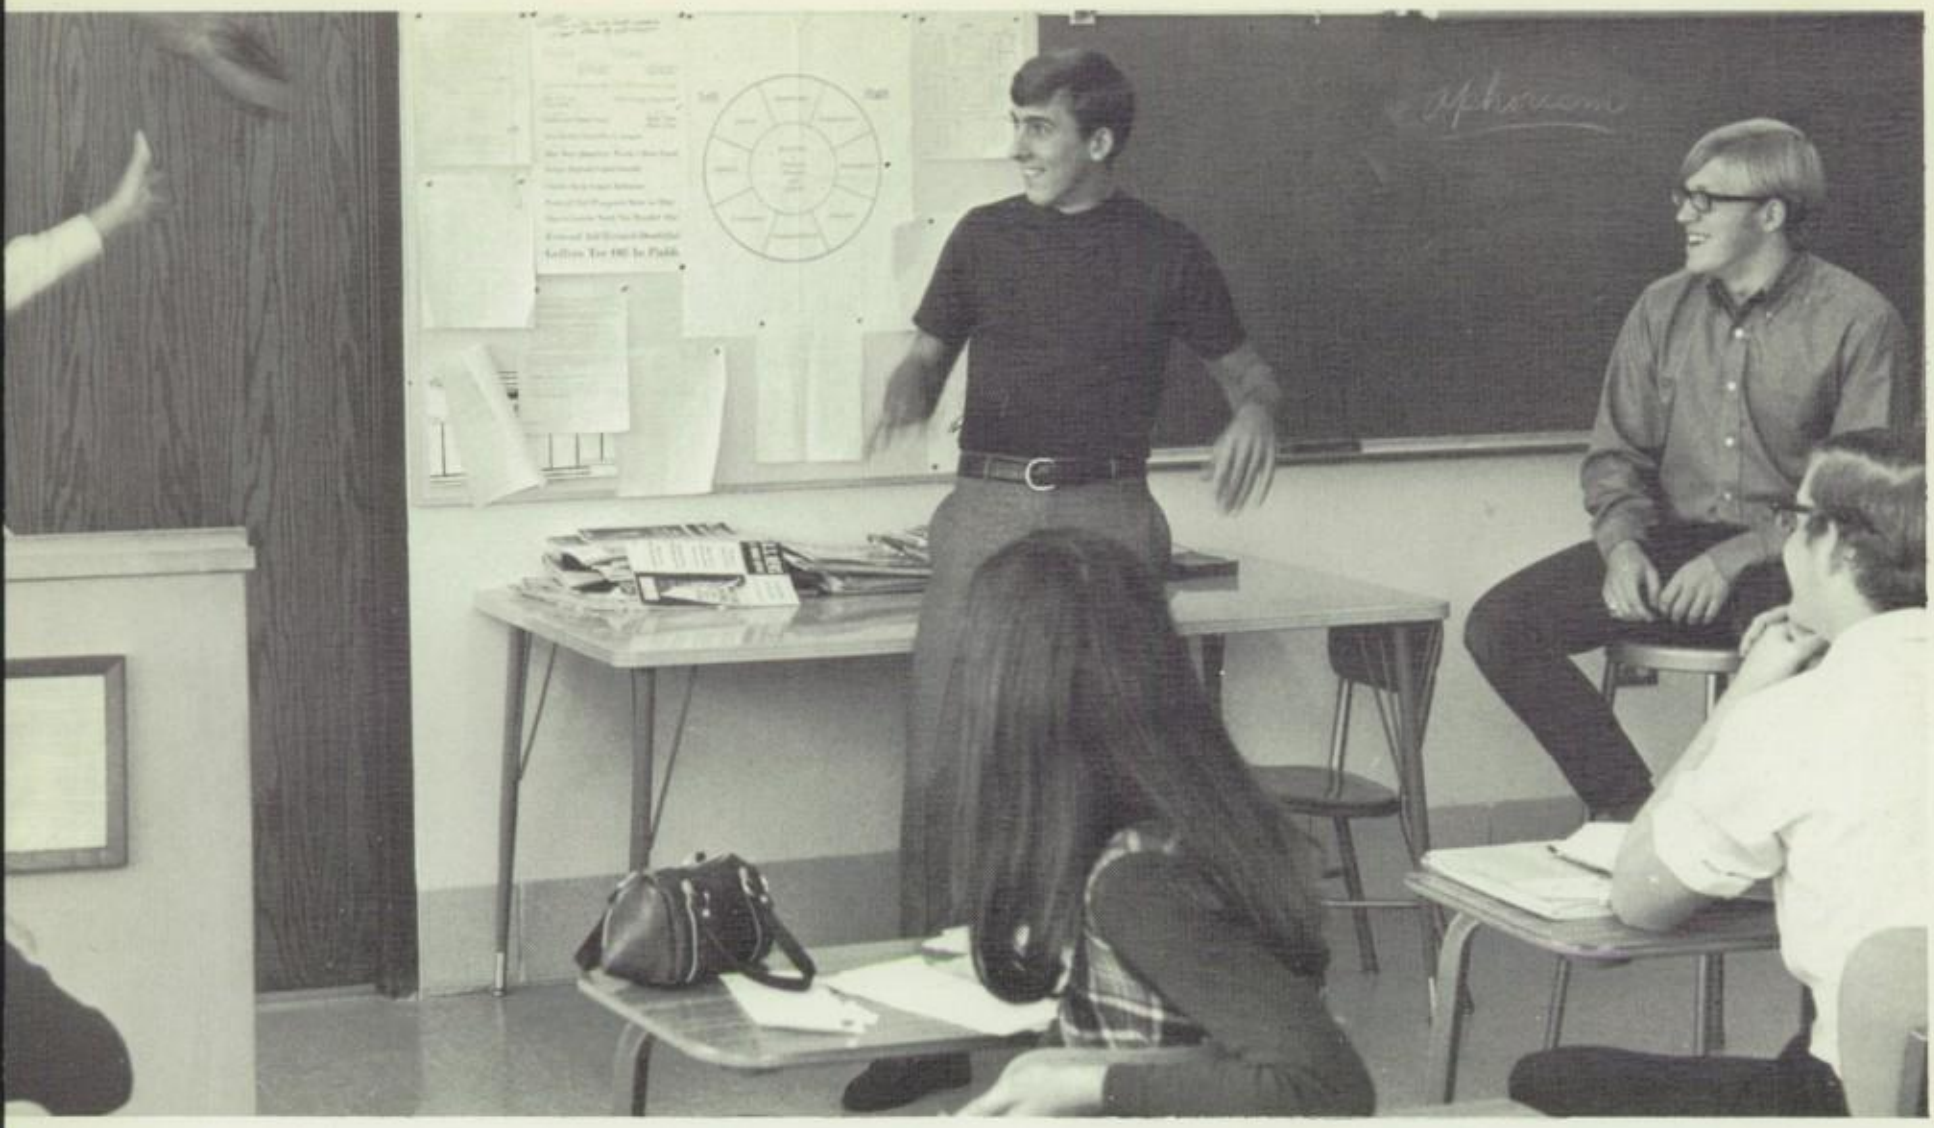
Plans were started for revision of the curriculum. Twelve one-semester elective courses in specialized fields were tentatively planned for seniors in the near future. The department was also interested in increasing the number of students on Independent Study in topics related to English. A student-faculty committee was formed to involve students in the revision of curriculum and the planning of courses.

Teachers continued the use of visual material. Attempts were made to develop videotape and closed-circuit TV to play a somewhat greater role in the English classroom. The interest on the part of the department in team teaching and differentiated class sizes showed the originality, forethought, and enthusiasm of this department for its work.

Jack Fricano glanced through a novel studied in the contemporary fiction course.

Second-hour drama students enjoyed performing original skits.





Senior students participated in play cuttings from George Bernard Shaw's Pygmalion.

Mr. Robert Stelk's English III class casually awaited test results.

Mrs. Walter Bachir questioned Lyle Green about the Russian way of life.

First-year German students responded eagerly to questions asked by Mr. Peter Cordt.

Foreign Language Improved Learning Methods

Tape recorders brought different dialects to the student.

Foreign language students benefited from the initiation of new learning techniques this year. Under the direction of Mr. James Jacobs, the foreign language teachers presented students with a revised curriculum which included the use of new Harcourt, Brace, & World materials.

Many French, Spanish, German, and Russian students had the opportunity to perfect their understanding and pronunciation through the use of a language master, a device which records and repeats a specific sentence which may be difficult for a student.

Advanced students, because of their enrollment in the independent study program, spent much time in the new resource center which was specially equipped with tape recorders and reading materials.

Lab booths were a familiar place to the first-year student.

Karen Young absorbed new vocabulary words in French IV/V.

Home Economics Department Stressed Skill and Creativity

Forest View's Home Economics Department adapted its courses to fit a changing pattern of home life. A variety of subjects, such as Homemaking I, Clothing I, Dressmaking, Family Meals, Creative Cooking, Child Development and Guidance, and Home Decoration, were available. Independent Study allowed individual students to learn about their own choice in home economic fields.

Designed to give every student a knowledge of nutritional food values and balanced meal planning, food courses such as Family Meals and Creative Cooking stressed skill and creativity in meal preparation.

TESSIE, or Techniques Essential to Successful Sewing Education, was a new course incorporated into the existing clothing and dressmaking courses throughout the school district. Each girl learned the techniques and basics of proper sewing construction and then applied them in making a variety of clothing.

Home Economics Related Occupations (HERO), a cooperative work program, allowed interested persons an opportunity to obtain training and practical experience in home economics related fields. This program, along with the others, enabled the student to recognize the relevance of home economics in modern living.

Carefully pinning right sides of the material together, Angele Serino prepared her project for stitching.

Sharon Pierson added the final touches to her crescent rolls.

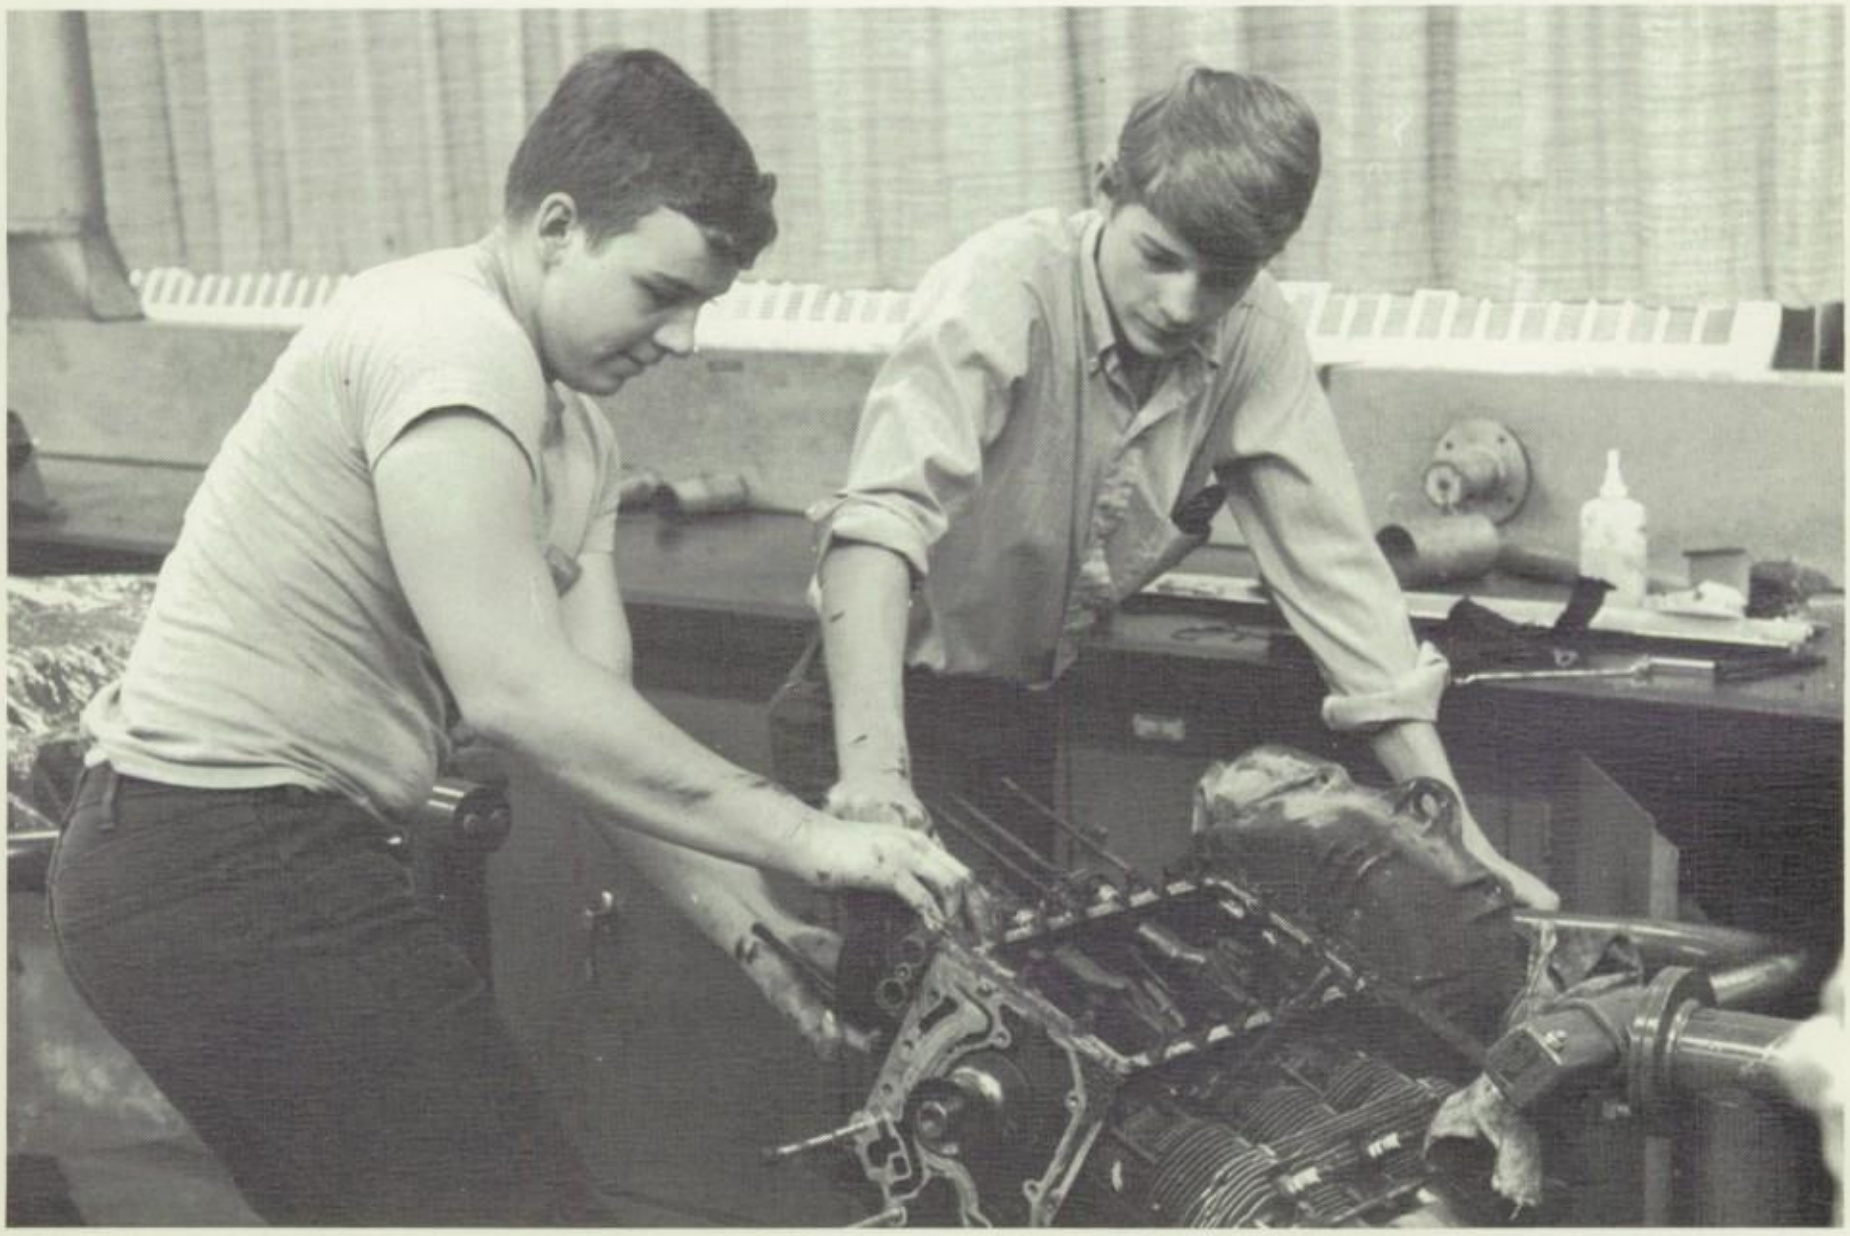
Industrial Education Integrated Skill, Safety

Welding experiences taught safety procedures and metalworking techniques.

The students enrolled in the Industrial Education courses developed an appreciation of workmanship and design through techniques used in the shop program. The department offered such courses as Machine and Architectural Drawing, Power Mechanics, Electronics, Woodworking, and Metals. These classes introduced students to various skills necessary to industrial trades.

An increased enrollment resulted in the addition of new equipment which included a chalkboard drafting machine for Drawing, a TV alignment set and a TV analyst for Electronics, an engine lathe in Metals, an engine analyzer for Power Mechanics, and a spindle sander and a lathe duplicator for the Woods Shop. Through the combined efforts of students and teachers alike, the participants in the shop program acquired great skill in the handling of tools and a beneficial understanding of good shop procedures.

Ralph Fockler and Dave Spoeth learned about the workings of a motor.



Mr. Rusty Dowell explained the workings of a slide rule before the class experimented with various problems.

Math Department Improved Courses; Added New Computer

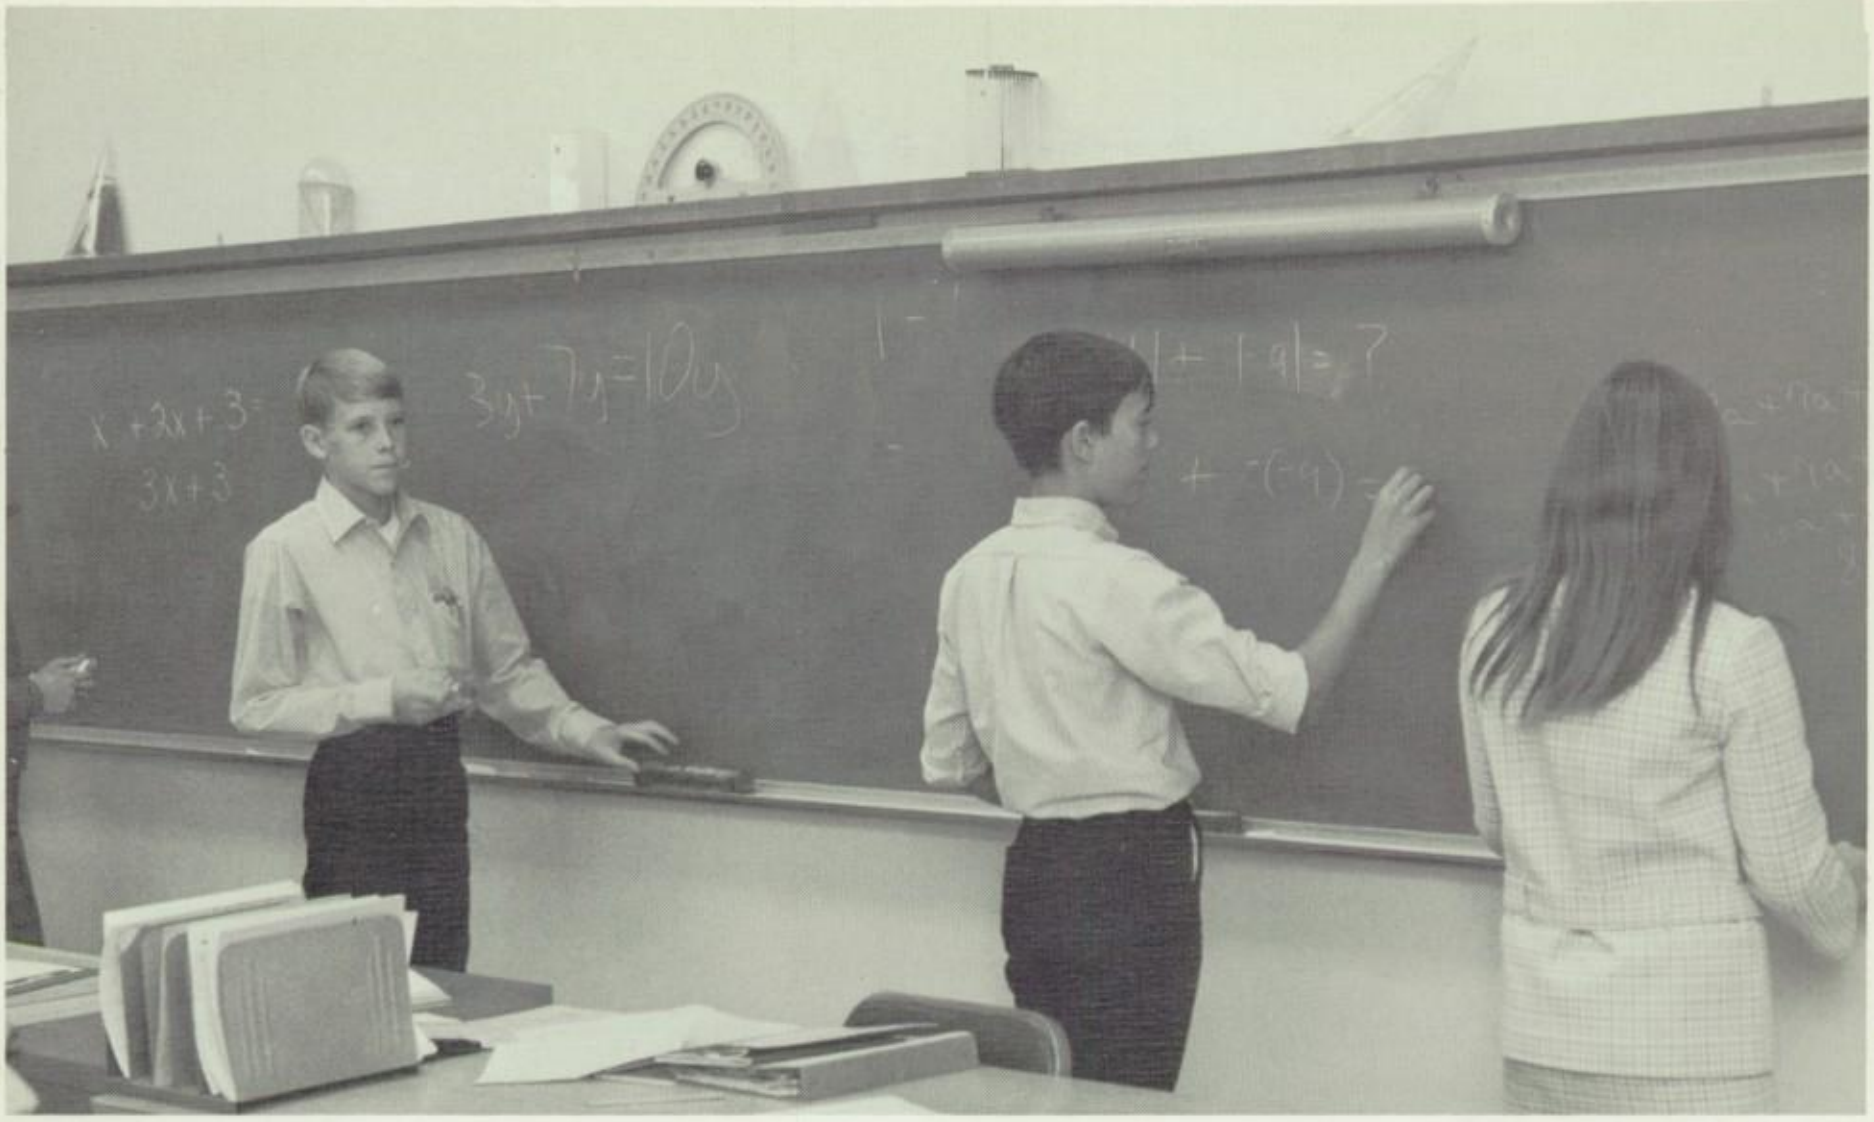
An increase in enrollment in mathematics courses provided the newly enlarged Math Department with an opportunity to improve and expand the number of courses offered.

In an effort to appeal to all students, the department developed two new subjects, Matrix Algebra and an experimental Math-Algebra class. The entirely new Math-Algebra class allowed the student one and three-quarter years to complete Algebra. In that way he could receive a General Math credit for the first year and an Algebra credit for the second year.

Independent Study offered each student a chance to pursue that aspect of mathematics most interesting to him. Many students took advantage of this offer; most chose probability, advanced computer math, and advanced calculus as their Independent Study courses.

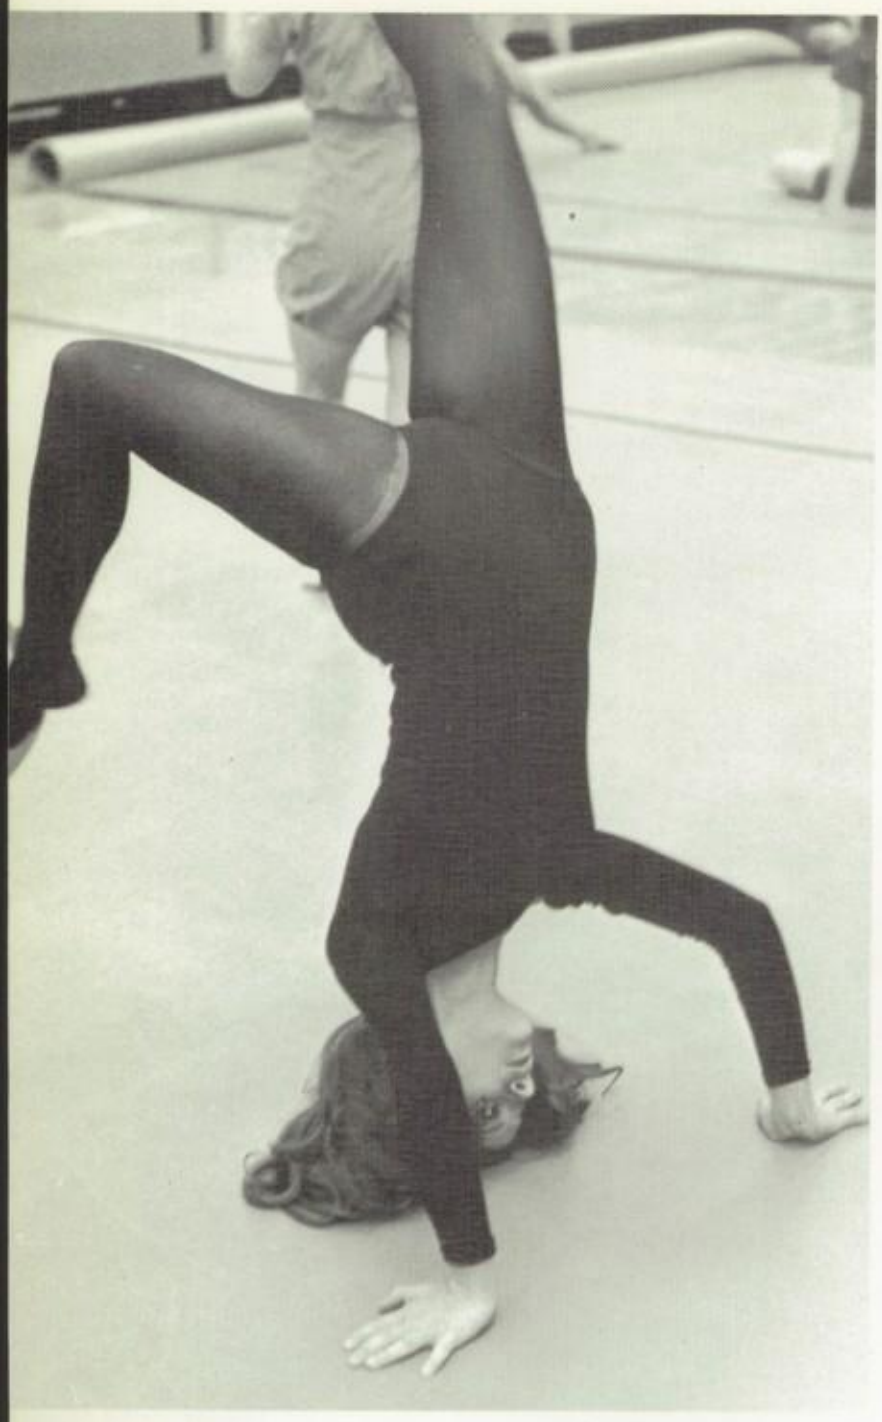
The installation of a computer proved to be of great help to math students. Geometry classes were introduced to the field of computers through a short unit in their regular math course.

The all-new Math lab provided information on every related topic through the use of books, tape recorders, and filmstrip and film-loop projectors.

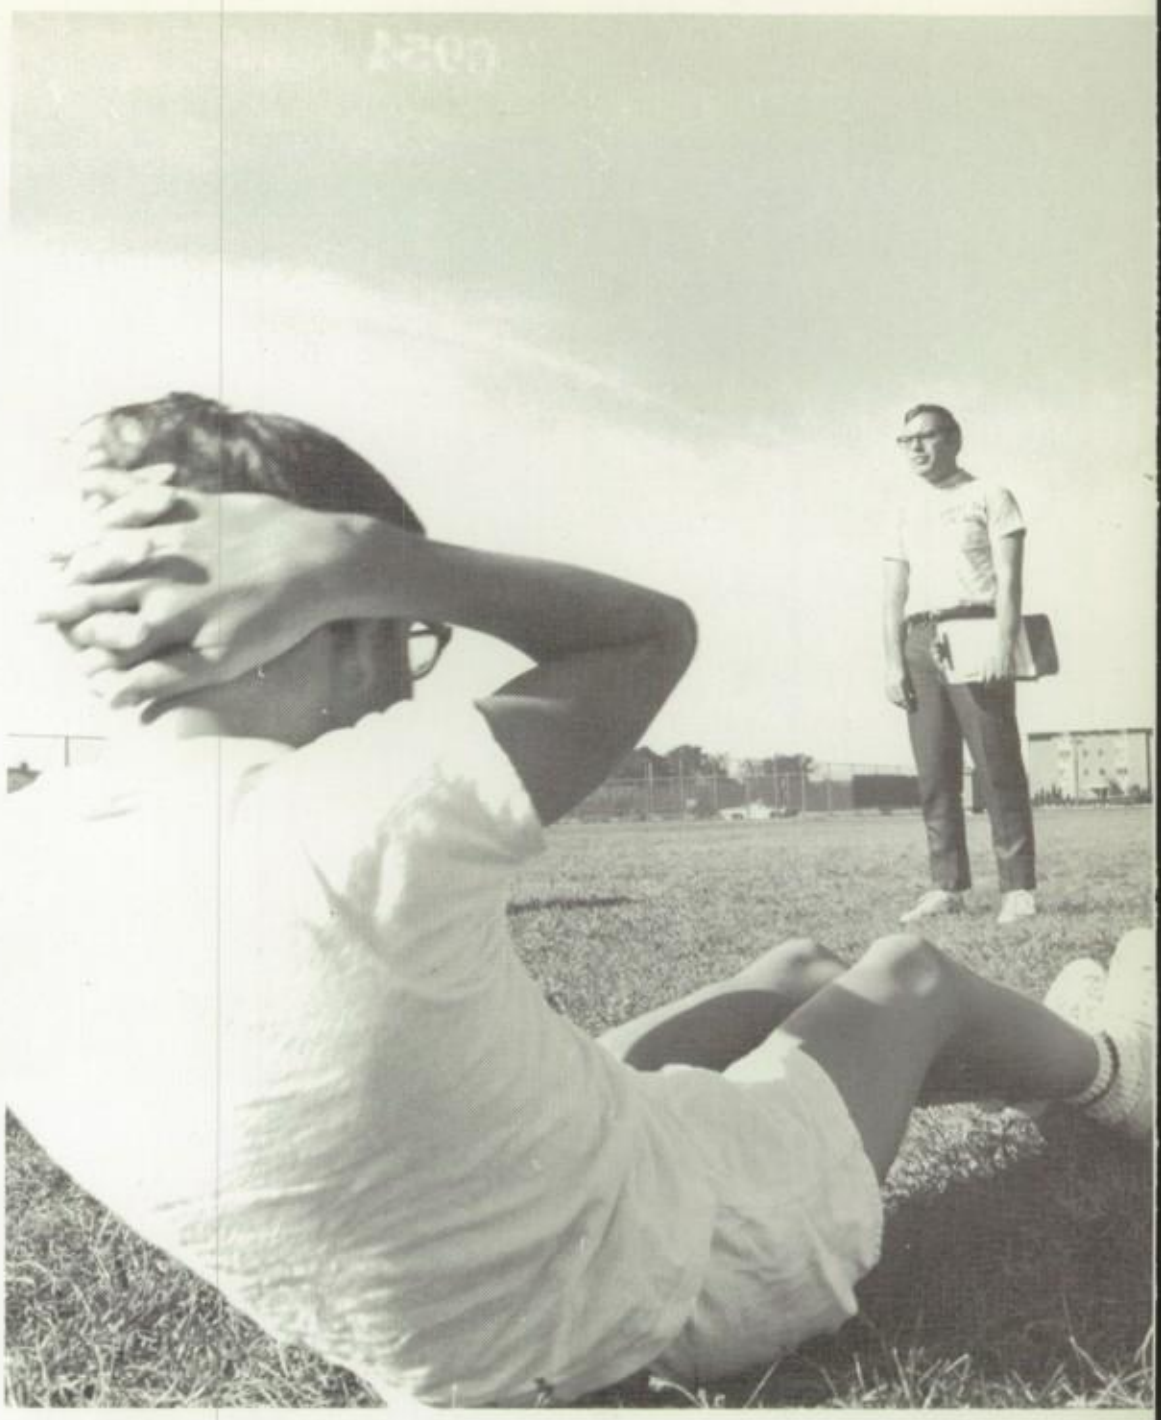


Algebra I students studied basic algebraic equations.

Mr. John Heenan explained the proper way of placing IBM cards into the computer.



Girls' P.E. classes developed balance and coordination.



P.E. classes started with a few minutes of warm-up exercises.

Driver Education students could not always judge distance when backing up.

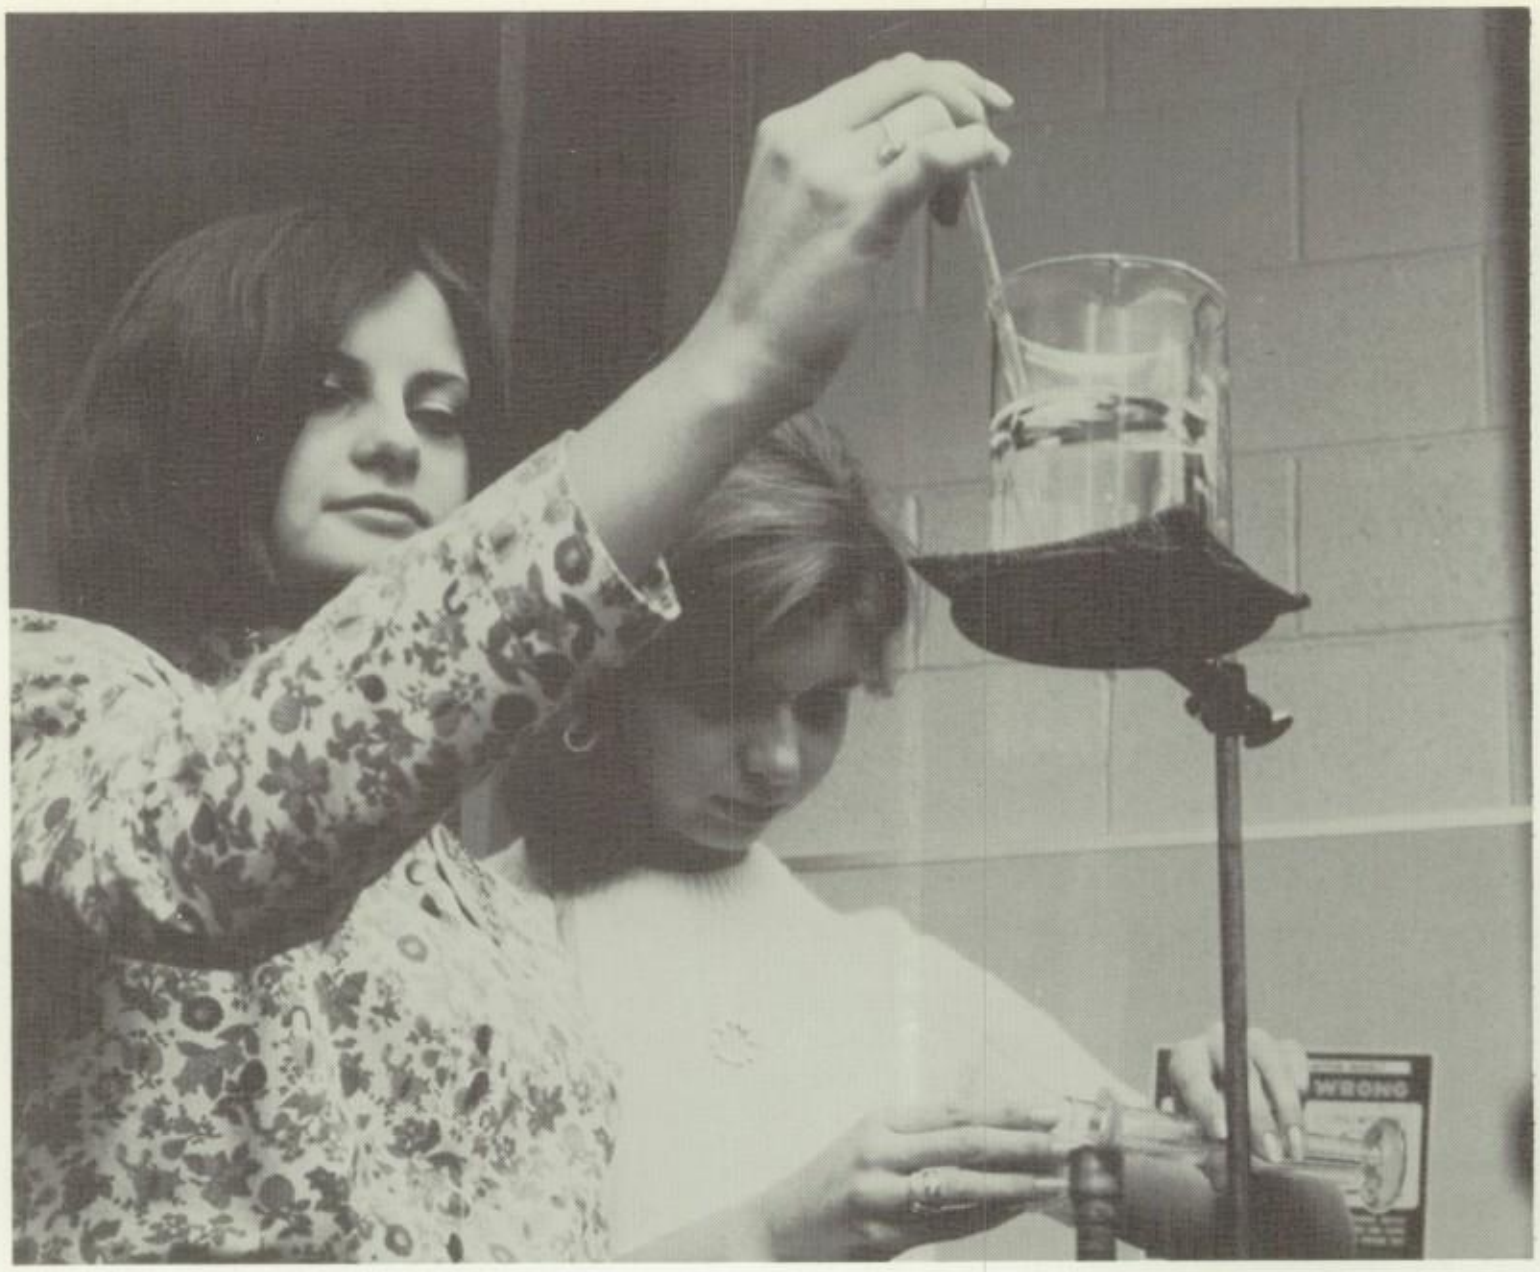
Diversification in P.E. Courses Stressed Individual Interests

The Girls' Physical Education Department not only completed its second year of Freshman Special classes but also added a Sophomore Cadet Class and a Senior Elective Class to the current courses.

The Freshman Special Class was an asset to the department. The participating girls were recommended by their junior high school teachers, who based decisions not only on the student's interest in physical education but also on initiative and ability. The classes participated in the regular curriculum and, with time permitting, experienced other sports as well. Other freshman girls were active in track and field events, modern dance, social dance, volleyball, field hockey, and gymnastics. The Cadet Class, aimed towards sophomore interests, was initiated for the girls with above-average ability. It was partially a preparation class for leaders, although participation did not necessarily mean those girls would become Junior Leaders. Other sophomores had tennis, tumbling, square dancing, volleyball, softball, and field hockey to keep them busy. Junior girls participated in driver education, tumbling, volleyball, first aid, and archery. Seniors were given an elective course which met second hour. A combination of two classes elected sports which they wished to enjoy during the course of the year. Other senior girls participated in badminton, tennis, square dancing, volleyball, free exercise, softball, and golf.

Though each class of the Boys' Physical Education Department concentrated on different curricular offerings, each was mainly concerned with improving the physical condition of the boys. Freshman boys had cross country, speed ball, soccer, wrestling, gymnastics, and social dance. Sophomore classes participated in cross country, soccer, gymnastics, square dancing, wrestling, badminton, track, and softball. Juniors had driver education, calisthenics, gymnastics, badminton, table tennis, wrestling, and tennis. Seniors were active in volleyball, archery, cross country, square dancing, wrestling, gymnastics, and softball. All classes experienced weight training.

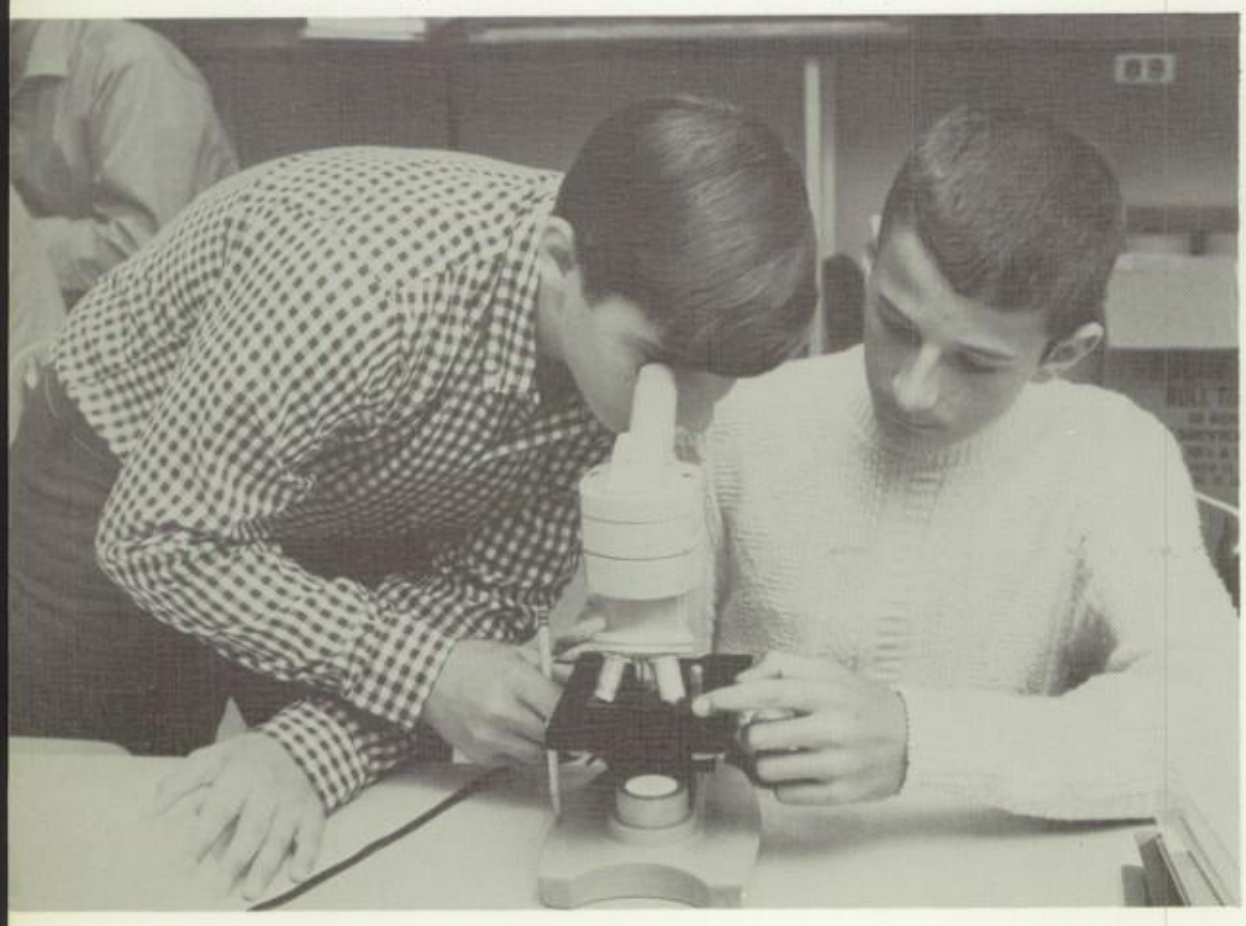
Cage ball was a favorite sport of freshmen.



Lynn Tolle and Sue Yakes added the proper balance of chemicals to the solution.

Science Courses Provided Lab Experience

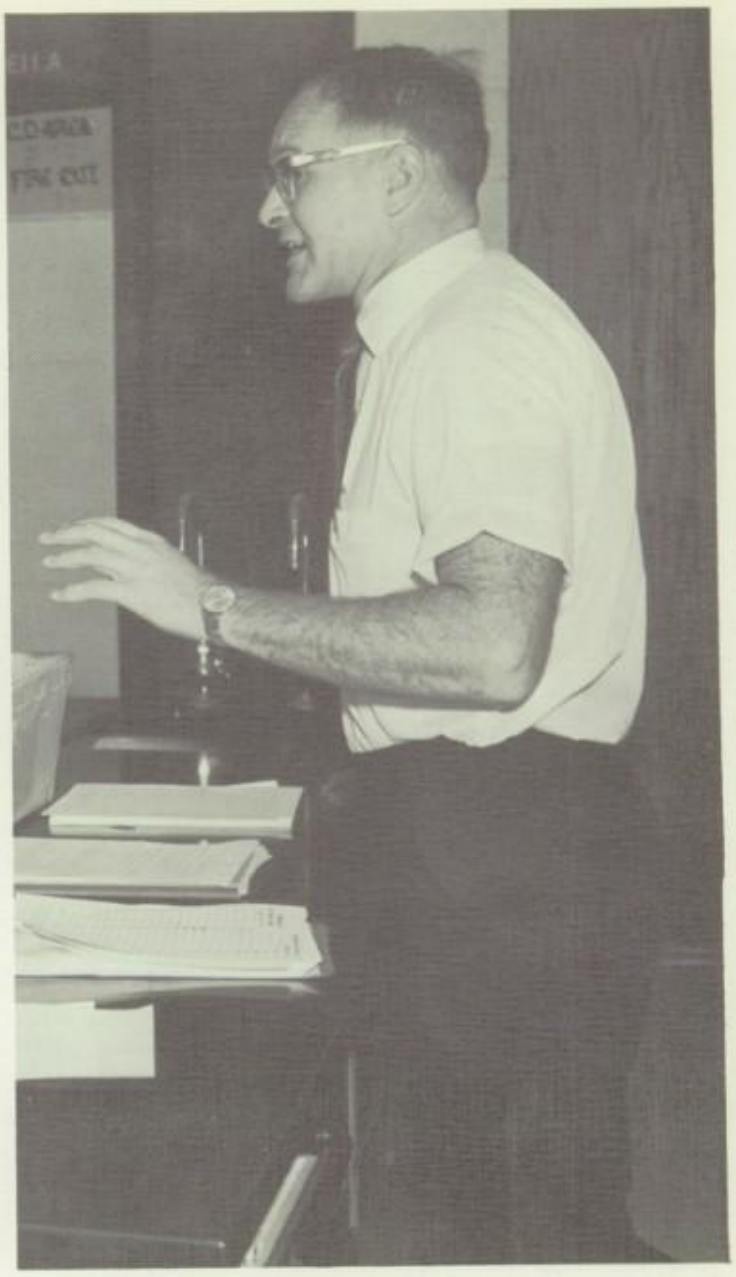
Freshmen biology students studied one-celled organisms under the microscope.



Independent study and new equipment enabled the Science Department to expand its curriculum and to extend a wide range of opportunities in the field of science.

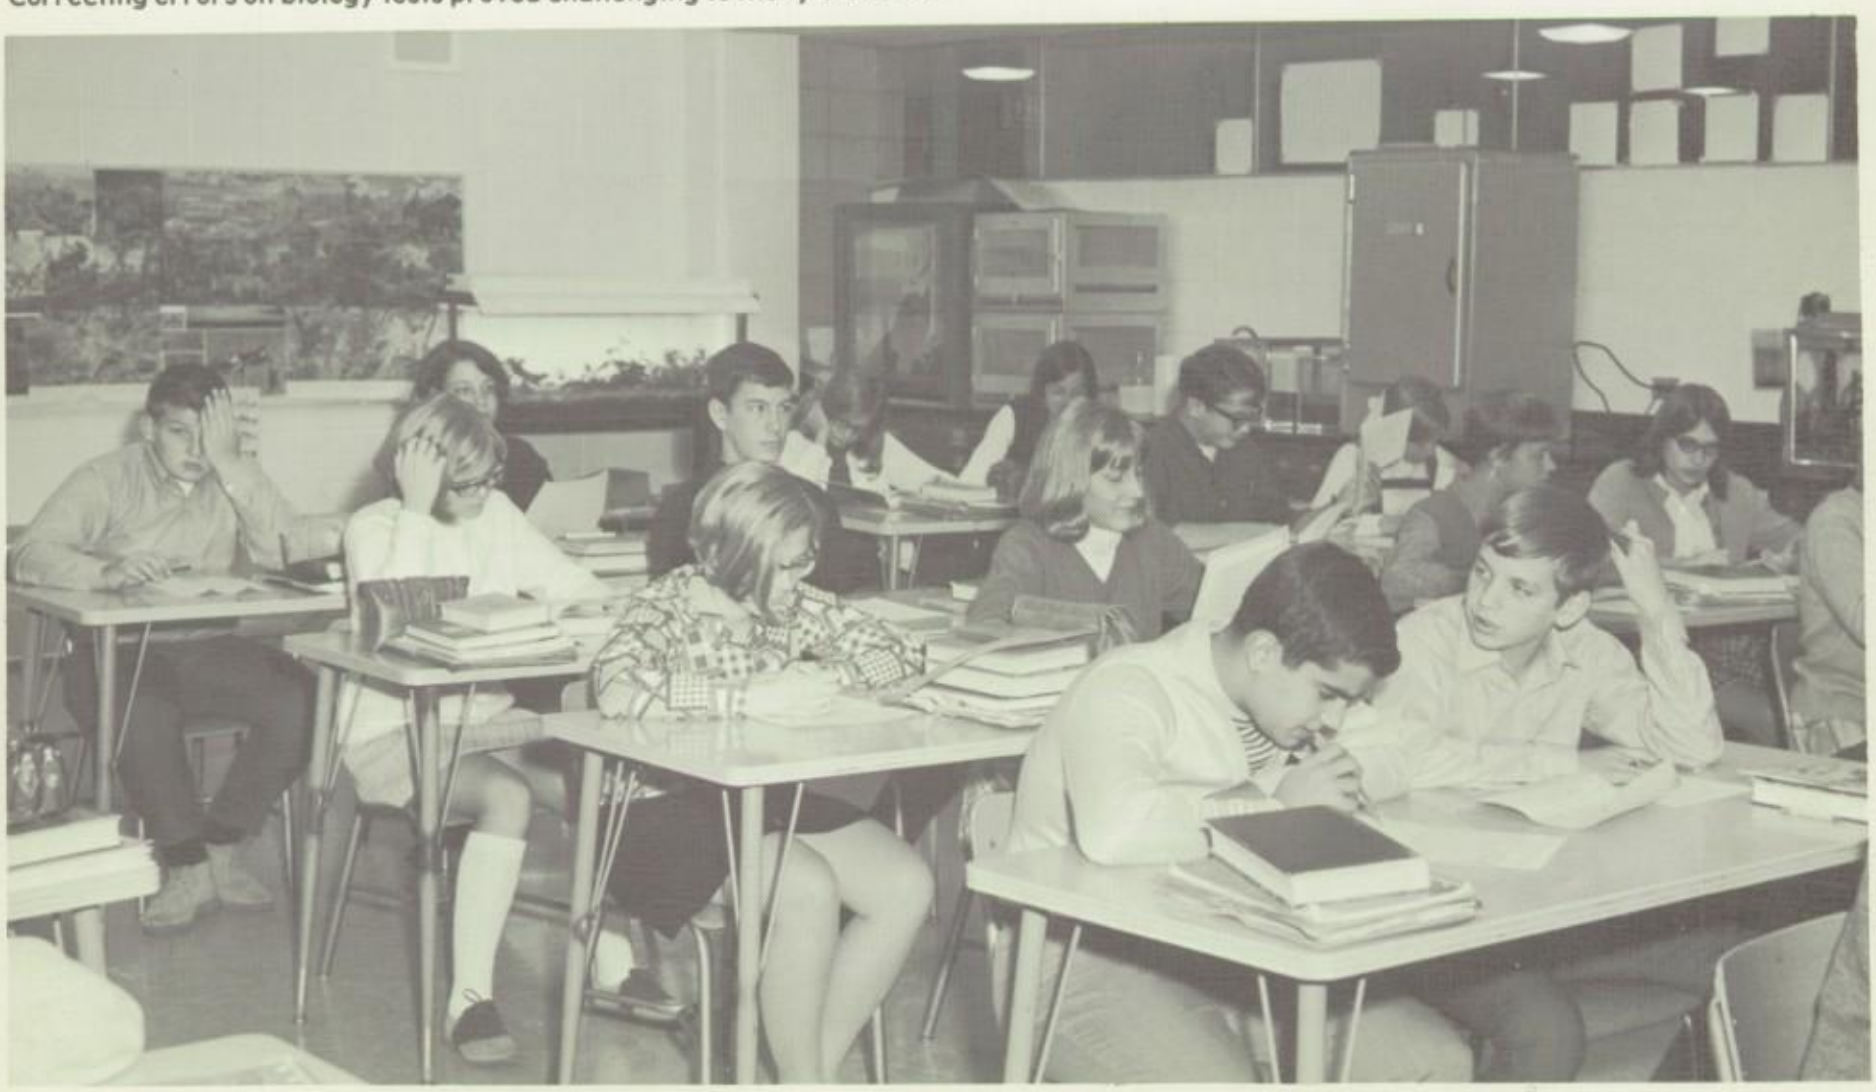
Space science and conservation were one-semester seminar offerings. A new science-math seminar, a full-year course, allowed students to select an industry or institution in which they voluntarily worked side-by-side with a professional scientist. This experience provided each student with a chance to explore the area of his own scientific interest. The most popular independent study area, almost of seminar size, was genetics. The space science class made valuable use of the gas-laser; a new calculator aided physics students in evaluating their experiments; and the new ice machine permitted other students to undertake experiments which were impossible previously. The new additions and aids in the Science Department produced a year of achievement by Forest View students.

Mr. Art Klein demonstrated the Tyndall Effect.



Mr. John Ellis lectured on the evolutionary process.

Correcting errors on biology tests proved challenging to many students.



Student Interest Expanded Social Sciences

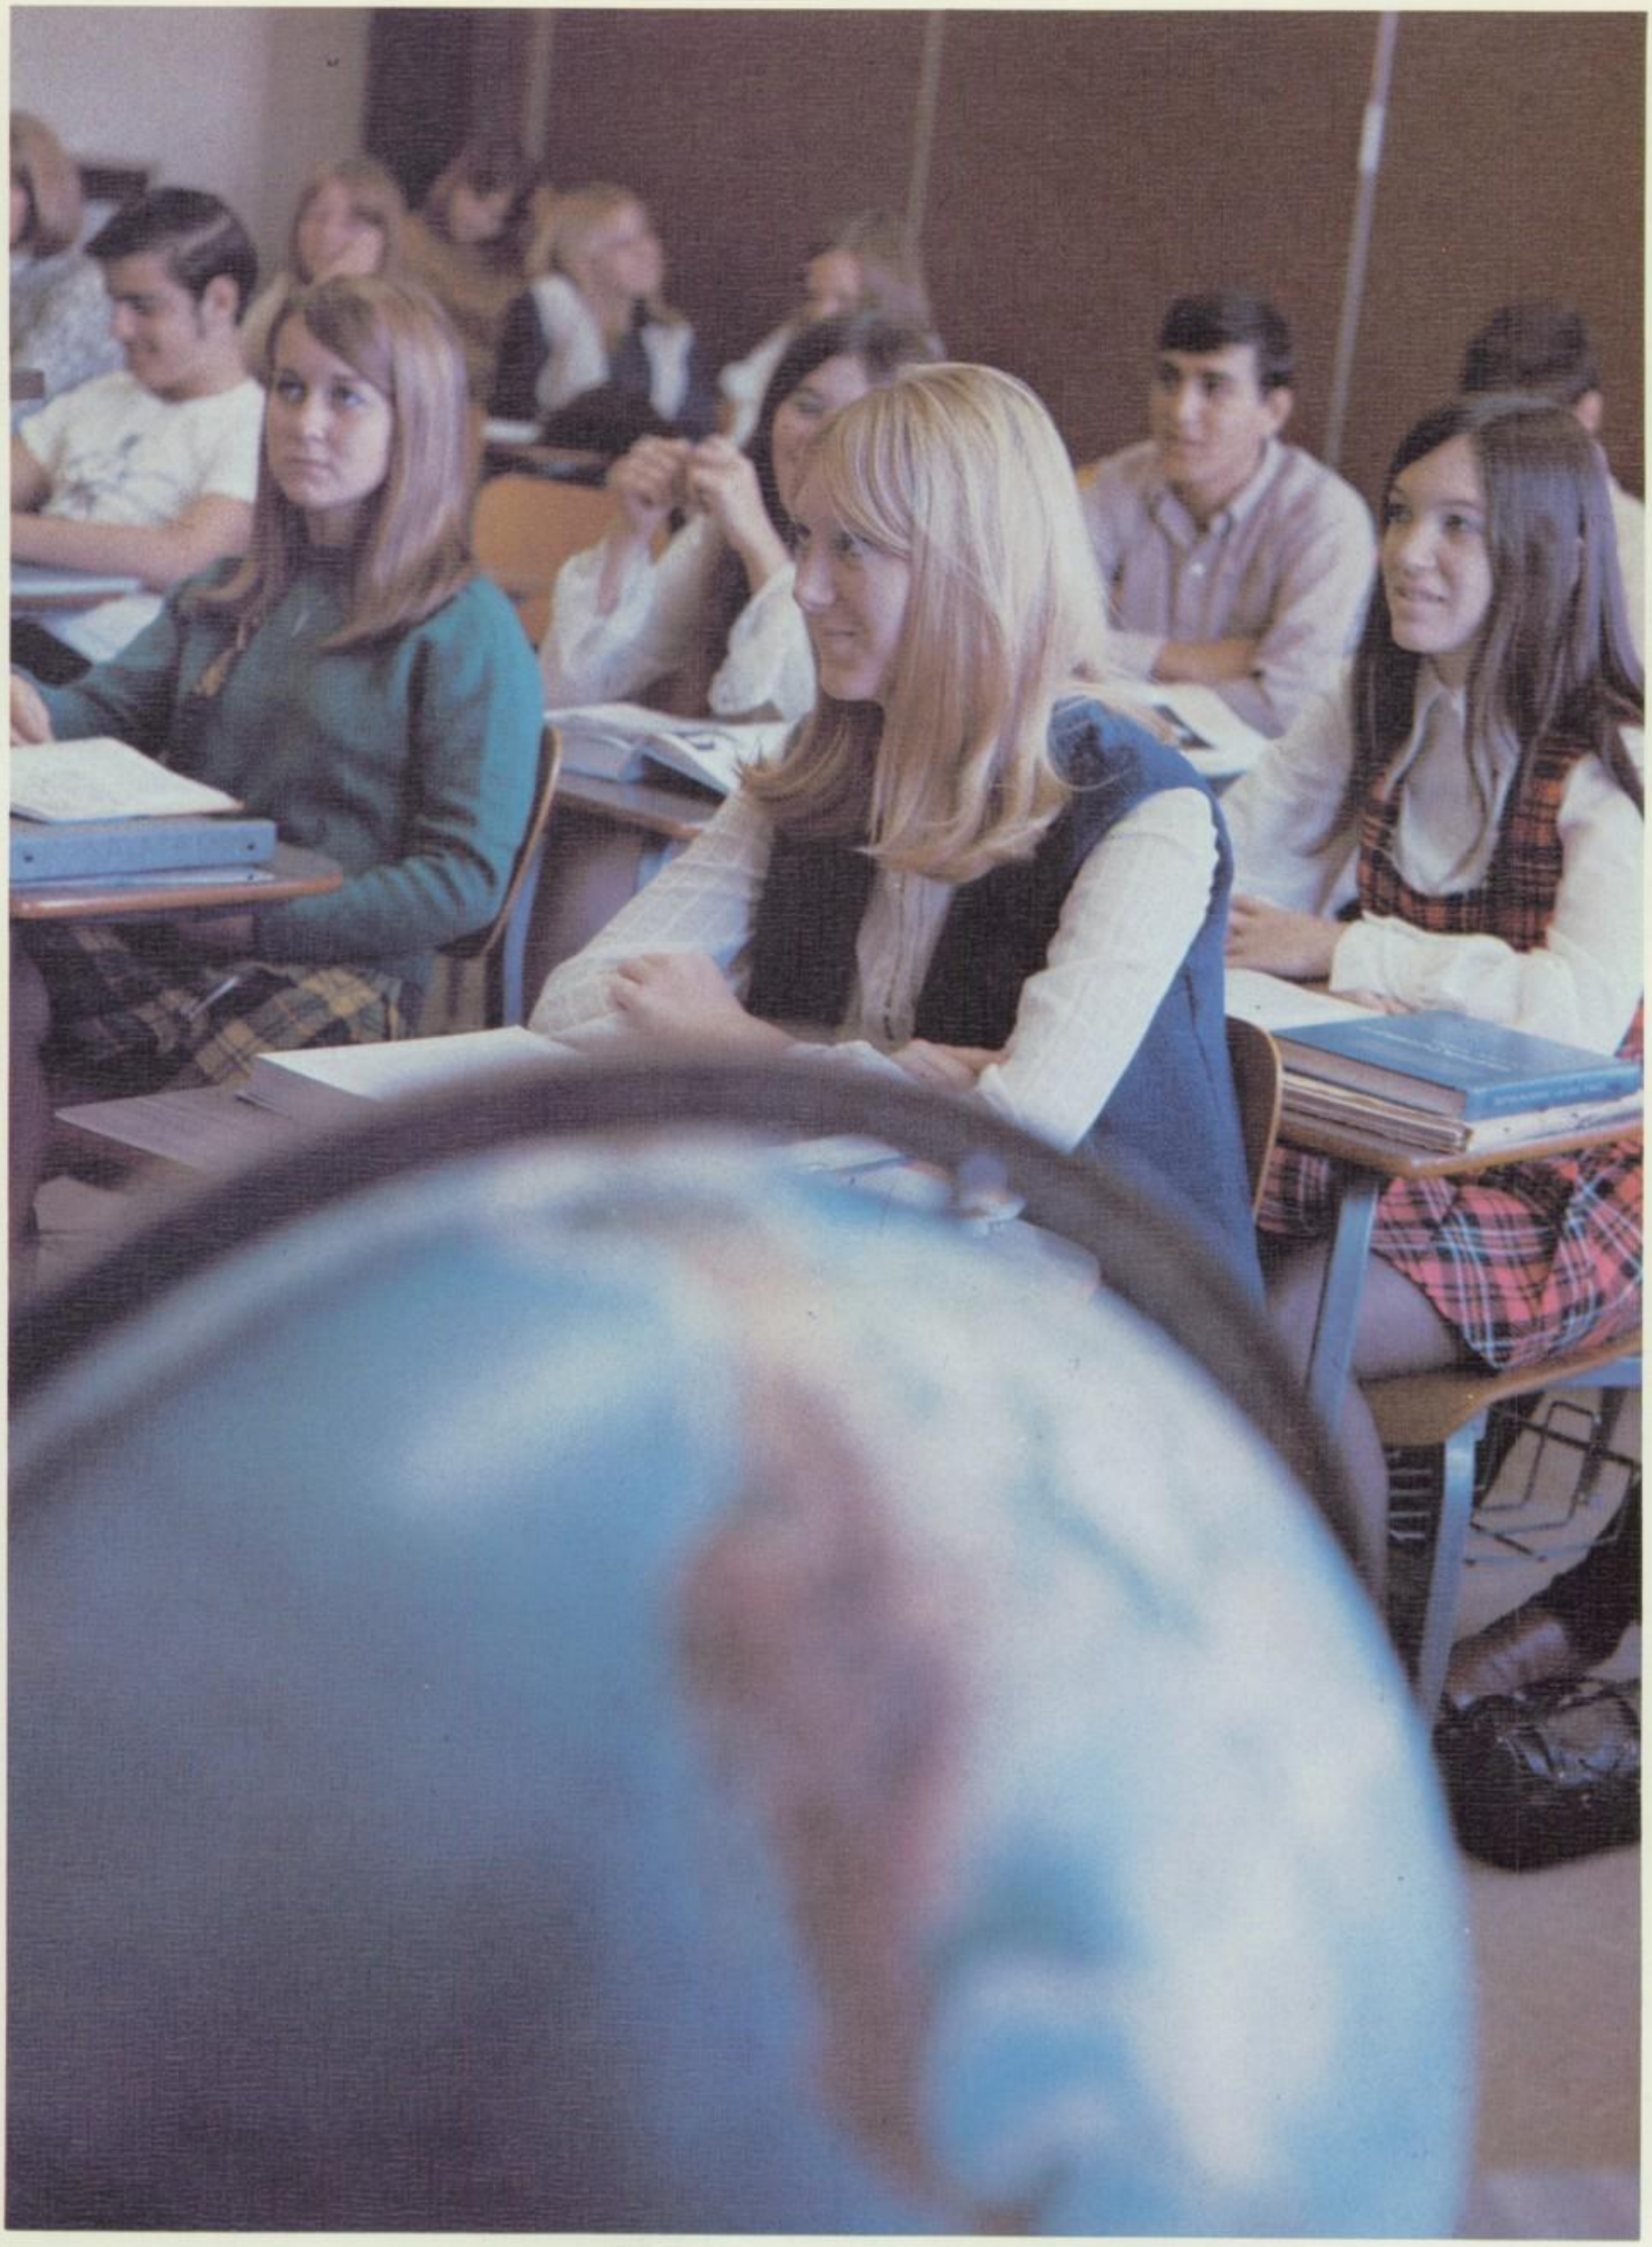
As a result of student interest, the Social Science Department expanded its independent study curriculum to include political science, anthropology, and Russian History seminars. In each seminar, the students averaged two days of class per week, leaving the remaining days free for research work. Reference material was available in the Social Science Resource Room. This library contained books covering portions of both U.S. and world history. In an effort to aid the students, the Current History division was increased by 150 books on Afro-American history.

Other classes continued the practice of having no standardized textbooks. Contrasting ideas were presented in various resource materials and films for the purpose of broadening the student's viewpoints. Students interested in a particular topic not covered in a regular class session or seminar were able to take that subject on complete independent study and receive full credit.

Ray Bowersox expressed his opinion in Current History.

History classes brought the world into closer perspective.

Mr. Burton Showers conducted a seminar in Russian History.



Fine Arts Promoted Spirit through Music

Mr. Fred Schimmelman led girls in preparatory voice exercises.

Falcon spirit was both promoted and displayed by the members of the instrumental and vocal groups at Forest View. The ninety-member band began its year of activity by performing at the Northwestern Band Day. Having practiced rigorously, the marching band entertained during halftime at home football games. The pep band stirred the basketball team into action and roused student enthusiasm at pep assemblies. With the aid of the Band Booster Club and profits from candy sales, the band was able to take a spring-vacation tour. The year was concluded by the band's participation in the Memorial Day parade. An album recorded by the band commemorated the year's activities and accomplishments.

The choral department presented a Christmas Concert on December 14, a Winter Concert on March 25, and a Spring Concert on May 28. They also participated in a Choral Festival hosted by Arlington High School on February 9. The Vocales, a female singing group, combined with seven male singers and accompanied by guitars, a piano, and a drum, formed the Towne Criers. Many of the students involved in choral work, especially the Towne Criers, represented Forest View in community programs, and all choral students strove to display their best efforts in school programs. The Music Department proved that hard work plus school spirit could produce a year of success.

Band students used their free time to practice.

AV Supplied Necessary Educational Tools

A relatively small number of students formed the Audio-Visual Department this year. They were seen in various capacities from setting up microphones for class meetings to photographing the numerous aspects of school life. By utilizing study halls, lunches, and after-school hours, the volunteers were able to supply teachers with necessary equipment.

Besides serving the school, the A-V Department also worked to improve its own educational program. Students learned to make transparencies and ditto masters. Though their equipment was limited, they were able to explore many facets of television production as well as to work with sound systems. Mr. Donald Stansfield, the Department Head, worked with the students to teach them new techniques in photography and dark-room processing.

Guidance Department Scheduled, Tested, and Advised FV Students

Hundreds of schedule changes, ITED tests, information on job opportunities, and lists of college requirements all had their origin in the Guidance Office. Two new personnel workers helped the counselors in many of these areas and assisted students who wished to make appointments to see their counselors. Not only did the counselors help students plan their courses in high school, but they also aided them in choosing future vocations. To measure the student's ability, they used the results of several tests taken over a period of four years. The testing program began with the placement tests taken upon entrance to high school and ended with vocational aptitude and college entrance examinations. The Vocational Department sponsored guest speakers and field trips to various businesses and work programs in order to train the student for his future job. For those interested in college, the Guidance Department provided information from hundreds of catalogs and the college representative visitation program.

In addition to the individual services offered to the students, the counselors initiated a program of group counseling. They visited the various freshman classes and acquainted them with Forest View. In the sophomore and junior classes, they explained college requirements and helped prepare schedules, while in the senior classes they presented information about specific areas of job opportunities. Other groups gathered in the new conference room to discuss subjects pertinent to high school life.

Mrs. Jean Shelton advised a student on college choices in the Illinois area.

Mrs. Ivah Hufnagel updated her files.

Services Helped Students Cope with Problems

Forest View's nurse, Mrs. Ivah Hufnagel, performed many services. Among them were conducting vision and hearing tests, administering first aid, and compiling a dental and medical health record for every student. Mrs. Annette Binger, the speech therapist, helped students to correct undesirable speech habits. She used such techniques as tongue placement, tape recordings, and breath control to assist these students in overcoming their difficulty. Forest View also continued to utilize the services of a police counselor. Officer Moist was not only a help to the staff, but also a counselor available to answer student questions involving the law. The new social worker, Miss Terry Koretsky, concentrated on student tensions evolving from within the family. By rendering special services, these people helped students to cope with the problems of everyday life.

The speech therapist, Mrs. Annette Binger, helped students correct speech difficulties.

Activities:
Achievement through Expression

Every great and commanding moment . . . is the triumph of some enthusiasm.

Emerson

Pat Fontana, Linda Vogel, and Bob Berglund danced together before the "Slaughter on 10th Avenue."

Mary Whitchurch posed in "The Dream."

After the "slaughter," the hussies went on their way, unmindful of what had happened.

Kaleidoscope: Looking Glass of the Mind

Disdainful hussies, with their group of friends, ignored two dancing-school girls.

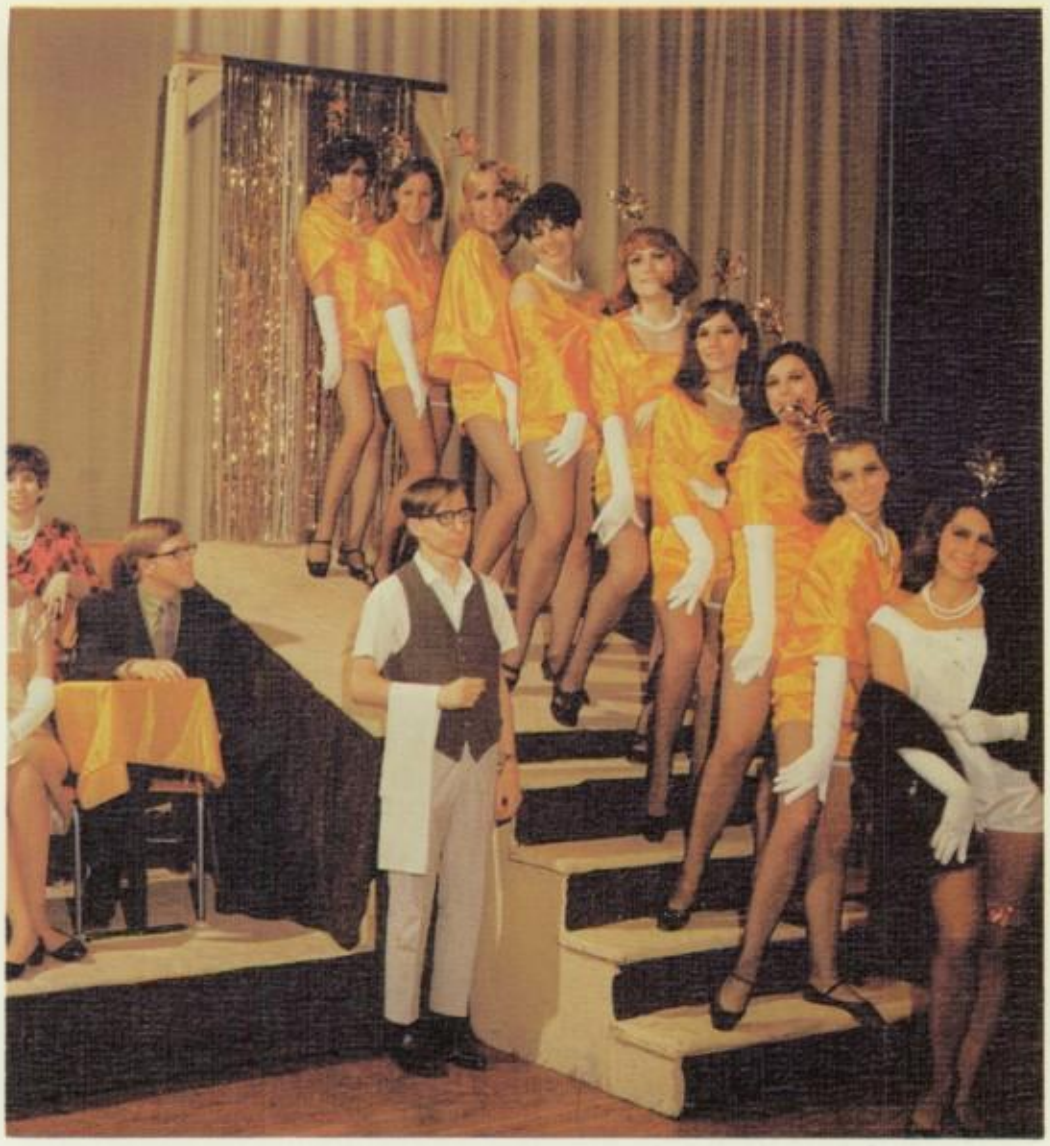
Unusual choreography and interesting musical selections were the catalysts used to stimulate the emotions of awe-filled audiences on the evenings of March 19 and 20. Aided by the club sponsor, Mrs. Amy Teufert, the '68-'69 Orchesis members presented a spring show which was, according to the audience, a success. A variation in the show included male dancing and live musical accompaniment, a completely new approach for Orchesis. More colorful and imaginative scenery was introduced along with special lights. Under the direction of Mr. Charles Wilde, the girls were able to use more effective lighting to express an explicit mood. A clever balance of heavy and light moods made each nightly performance truly an exercise of the mind.

Marcia Halvorsen and Pat Fontana turned to the live music of Chris Hill and Nancy Gedman in "Detinu."

Nathan's future depended on the roll of the dice.

Sky tried to win Sarah's favor by promising to reform.

Miss Adelaide smirked as Nathan professed his love for her.



Miss Adelaide and her Debutantes entertained at the Hot Box.

The Frustrations of Love Troubled the Guys and Dolls

A standing ovation was the display of approval given the cast and crews at the conclusion of the final performance of "Guys and Dolls" on May 11, 1969.

The action of the play revolves around the frustration of romance. Nathan Detroit and Miss Adelaide, portrayed by Steve Firszt and Cheryl Jorgensen, have been engaged for fourteen years. However, as a result of Nathan's gambling escapades, their marriage has been continually postponed. The night hawk Sky Masterson, played by Brian Gillespie, reluctantly falls in love with Sarah Brown, a salavation army doll, played by Madeline Palmisano. Their romance is the result of a bet, something Sky can never resist. The action concerns the gamblers, their girls, and their problems, the biggest being the difficult decision between the rolling of the dice and the beating of the heart.

Though performed by a cast consisting mainly of underclassmen, the spring musical drew large crowds to each performance. The audiences seemed to indicate by their resounding applause a great appreciation for a lively paced and well-performed production.

The musical was directed by Miss Judee Fine, assisted by the following: choral director, Mr. Fred Schimmelman; orchestra director, Mr. Fred Elliot; technical director, Mr. Robert Stelk; and lighting director, Mr. Charles Wilde.

Arlene Dul Reigned Over 1969 Prom

Queen Arlene led off the first dance after the coronation.

Members of the Junior Class, directed by General Chairman Eileen O'Brien, spent many months in preparation for the Junior-Senior Prom held on May 23, 1969.

Couples began to arrive at the Arlington Carousel at 9:00. Charms, which served in place of the traditional bids, were given to each girl as a momento of the evening. Simple but elegant decorations of fragrant rosebuds adorned the tables throughout the ballroom, while the music of Iver Burek and his orchestra, along with that of the Four Naturals, provided a continuous dancing atmosphere.

The coronation of Arlene Dul, followed by the Queen's Dance led by Arlene and her escort, Gary Ferguson, was the climax of the night. The theme music of the song "Cherish" provided a sentimental mood not only for the coronation but also for the whole evening.

1969 PROM COURT: Jackie Davis, Cathy Sundblad, Queen Arlene Dul, Leslie Traub, Dodie Virta.

Class President Lyle Green officially crowned Arlene Dul queen.

Couples danced to music by the Four Naturals.

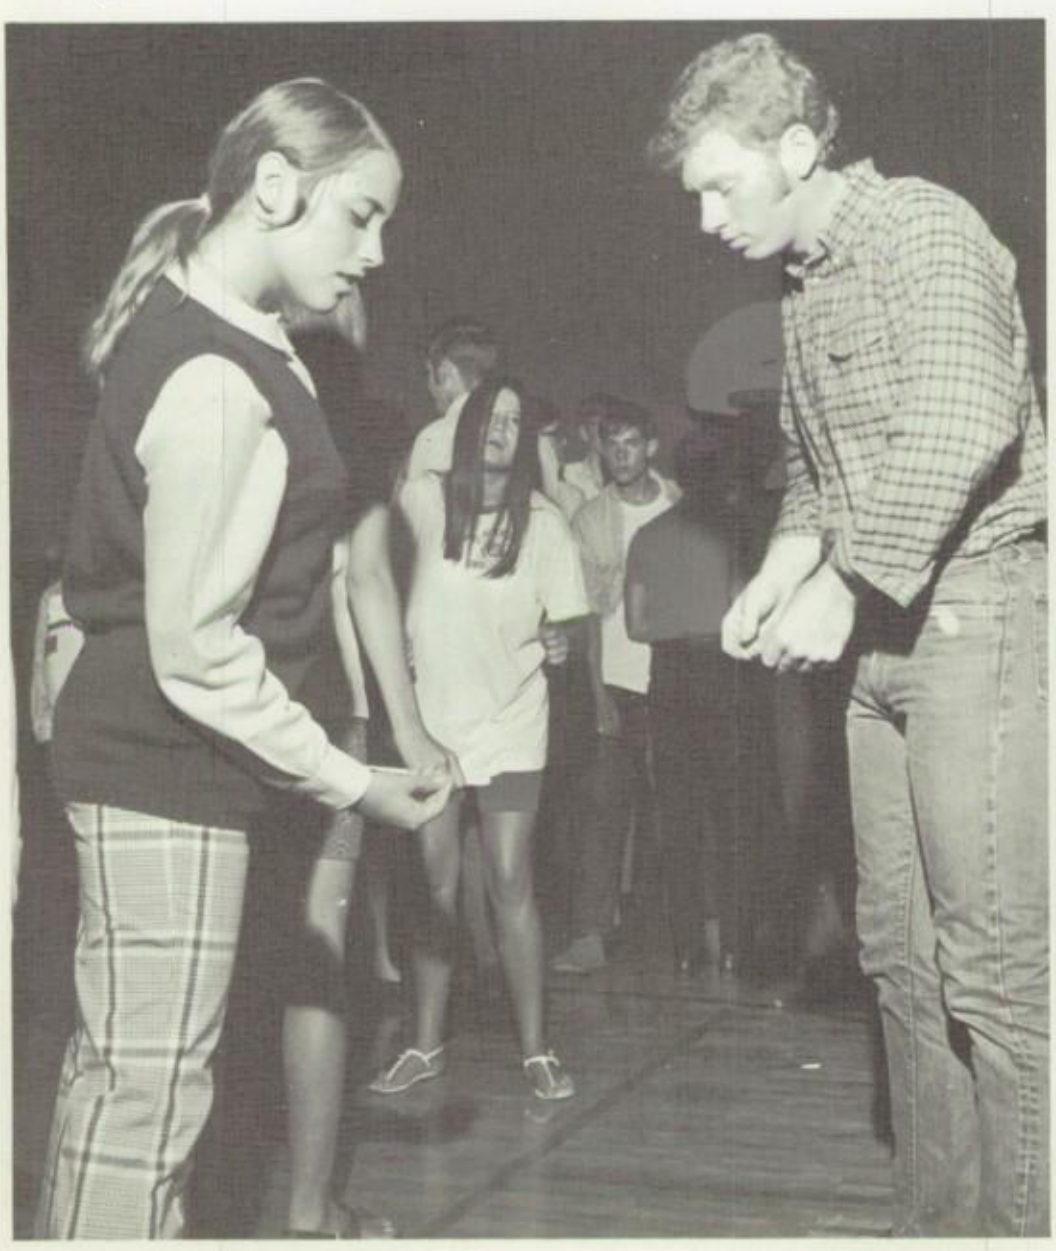
Eileen O'Brien received a charm instead of the traditional bid as she entered the Carousel.

Kick-Off Dance Generated Excitement

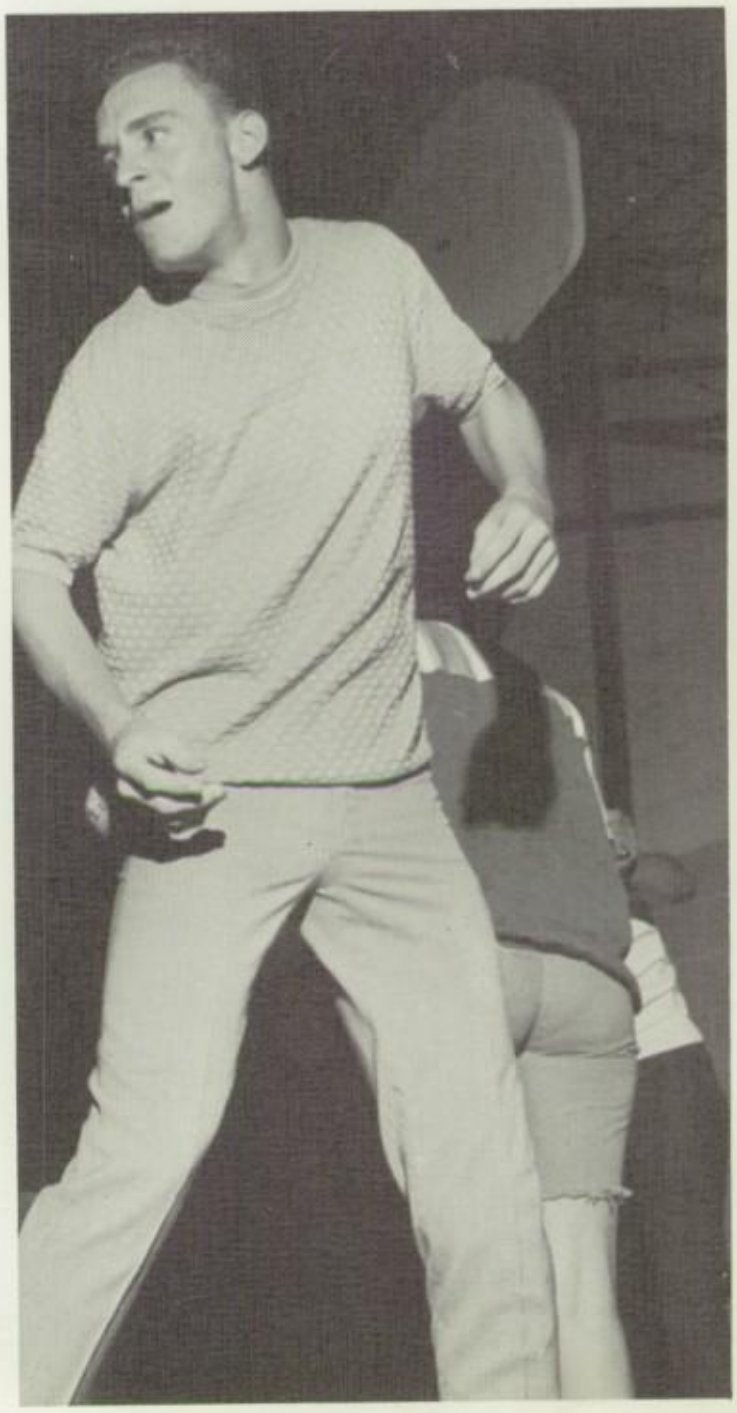
Electrifying music penetrated the air as members of all four classes congregated in the girls' gym September 5. The Falcons, eager to make new friends and become reacquainted with those missed during the summer, flocked together at the first social gathering of the year. The throbbing beat of the Commodore Blues, along with an atmosphere of anticipation and excitement, created a night of enjoyment for all.

A sing-along was instigated by Liz Murken and Terry Corbett during a respite by the Commodore Blues.

Jill Wybest and Todd Gibbons grooved to an unusual beat at the first mixer of the year.



Senior Tom Lange experimented with the latest dance.



The marriage booth became the favorite spot for the many romantic Falcons.

Falcons Moved to Chicago for Carnival

The junior olympics tested the talents of Karen Urban.

Forest View changed its location (in spirit) from Arlington Heights to Chicago for Fun Nite, November 7, 1969. Main attractions ranged from old-fashioned candy sold at an original Flea Market to a mixer which featured Ralph & the Pickle. The cafeteria became the grounds for a carnival where students progressed from a date to a kiss to a marriage to a divorce. Junior olympics, held in the boys' gym, once again showed the agility of the victorious seniors. The theater was the home of Laurel & Hardy and the rapid Road-Runner.

Students found the girls' gym equipped with volley ball and basketball nets and proceeded to display their abilities. Slot-car races took place in the dance room, which also was the site of the Flea Market for the night. The evening closed with a mixer in the girls' gym. At the stroke of midnight, Forest View returned to Arlington Heights, and the carnival closed for another year.

Daughters and Dads Played Volley Ball

On Wednesday, January 7, sixty Dads escorted their daughters to G.R.A.'s annual Dad-Daughter Volley Ball Night. For the price of 75¢ per couple, the pairs spent a tiring, but fun-filled, evening of volleyball. The games, held in the Girls' gym, involved a round-robin tournament with each team receiving a bye. After the champions, runners-up, and the last place team had accepted their awards, all teams relaxed and enjoyed the refreshments served by the girls.

Dads showed their daughters how to play the game.

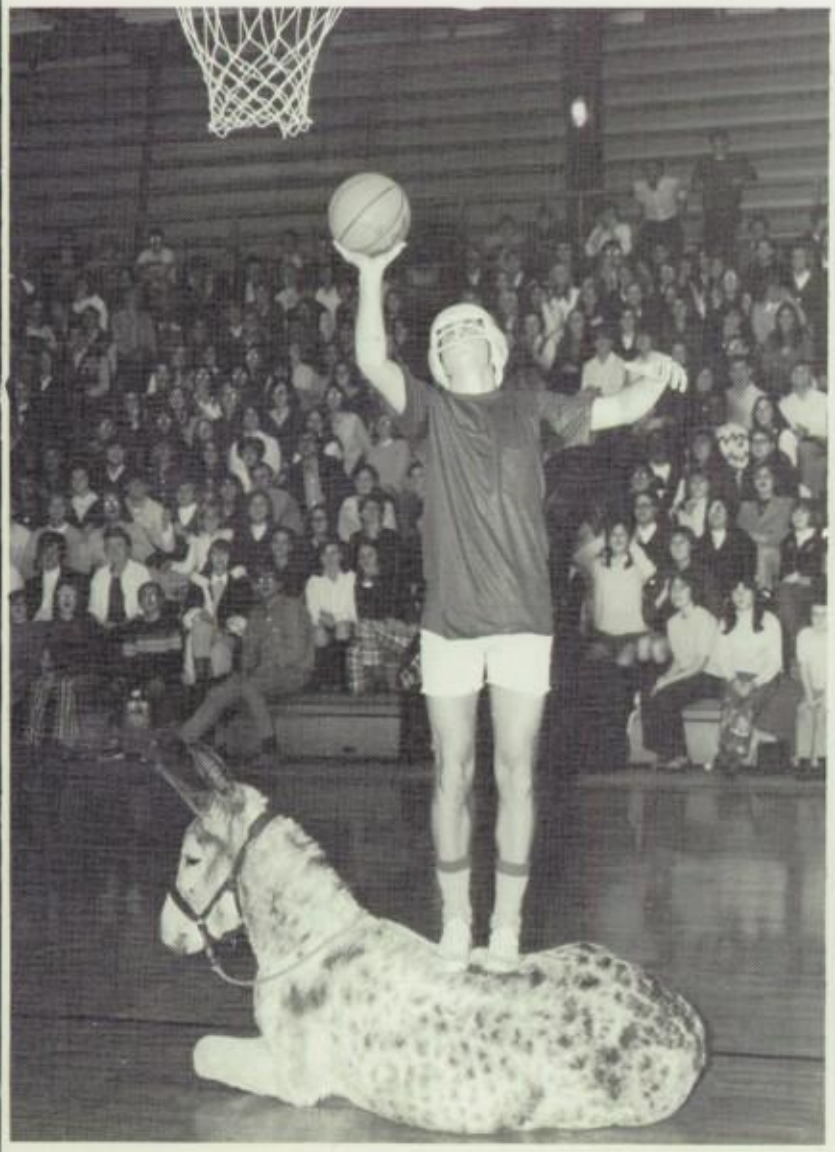
Although not always showing perfect form, the Dads were right in the midst of the action.

Lettermen Sponsored Donkey Invasion

The sanitation crew frequently interrupted the game for quick clean-ups.

The most stubborn donkey of the team, Rigor Mortis, along with seven of his friends, played donkey basketball in two games sponsored by the Lettermen's Club Friday, November 14. The casualties were few although the fancy foot-work of Rigor's teammates threatened life, limb, and good humor of both faculty and lettermen. When Rigor Mortis finally understood both the rules and his rider, the lettermen battled each other without success. The score was 14-14. Between games, the lettermen, impersonating cheerleaders, led the crowd in some pep cheers to create an atmosphere of spirit and suspense for the second game. The faculty-all star competition resulted in the downfall of the faculty as the all-stars trotted over them with a score of 18-2.

A little extra height aided Gary Abramson in scoring.



The lettermen demonstrated their control of the ball.

October 13 Ignited a Week of Excitement

Carolyn reacted to her announcement as queen.

Fall Festival 1969 was a week of excitement for all Forest View Falcons. Each class decorated a designated area of the school with the colors black and gold to add to the spirit of enthusiasm. Every day of the week Falcons searched unceasingly for the secret student. Students honored freshman and sophomore athletes on Monday. On Tuesday, the presidents dressed in cheerleader uniforms, and each directed his own class in a before-school pep assembly. They also participated in a skate race for the prize of a gold skate key. After the pep band had lured students into the boys' gym for a pep session Wednesday morning, Tom Moore presented the coaches and queen candidates at the presentation assembly. Transfer students became acquainted at the tea sponsored after school by the Student Council. Skits, cheering, and fireworks at the pep rally Thursday night set the mood for a Falcon victory. Steve Firszt announced the queen at the Coronation Assembly Friday afternoon. Queen Carolyn Costello and her court, as well as Ferdie in his antique car, paraded around the field before the varsity game against Glenbard North. The Lettermen's dance, decorated with parachutes and balloons and entitled "Up, Up, and Away" was the conclusion to the Fall Festival Week.

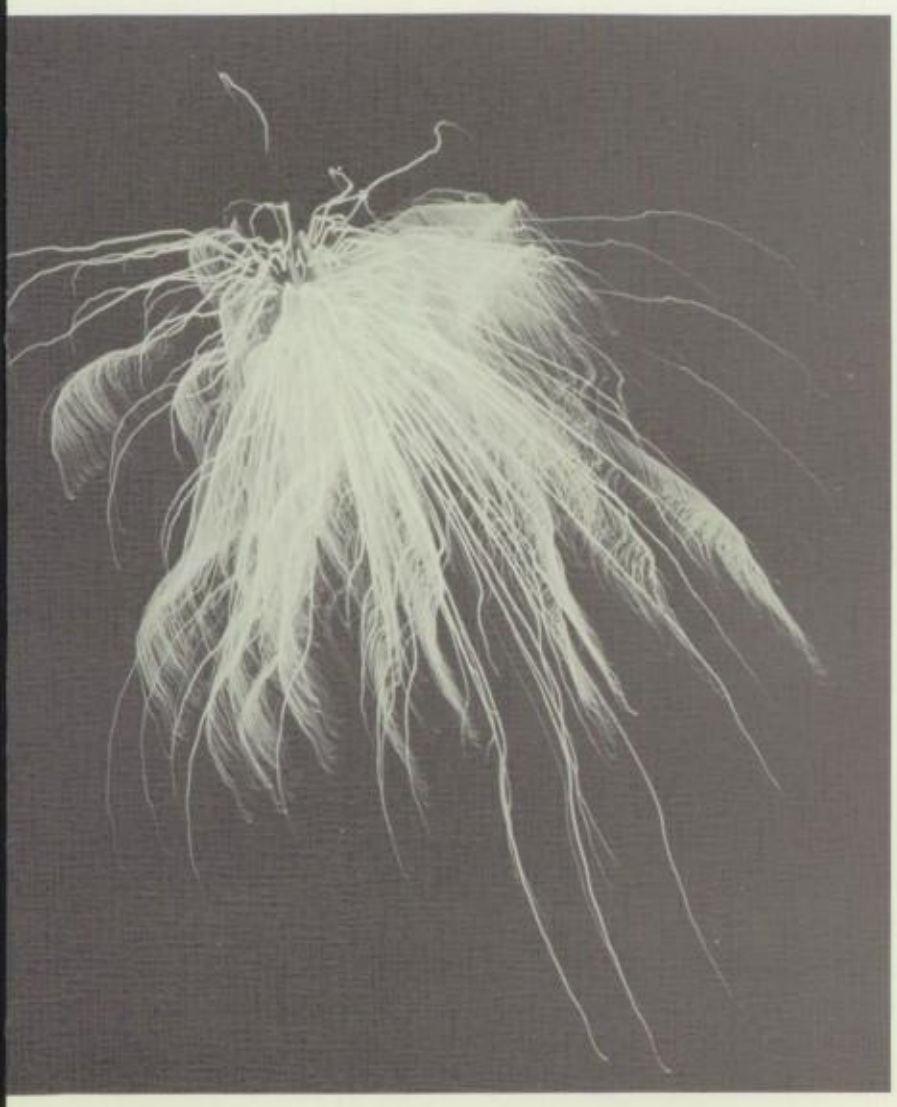
"Up, Up, and Away" was the perfect end to the Fall Festival week activities.

Ferdie found it difficult to keep warm with only feathers to cover him.

Fireworks erupted on a crisp October night.



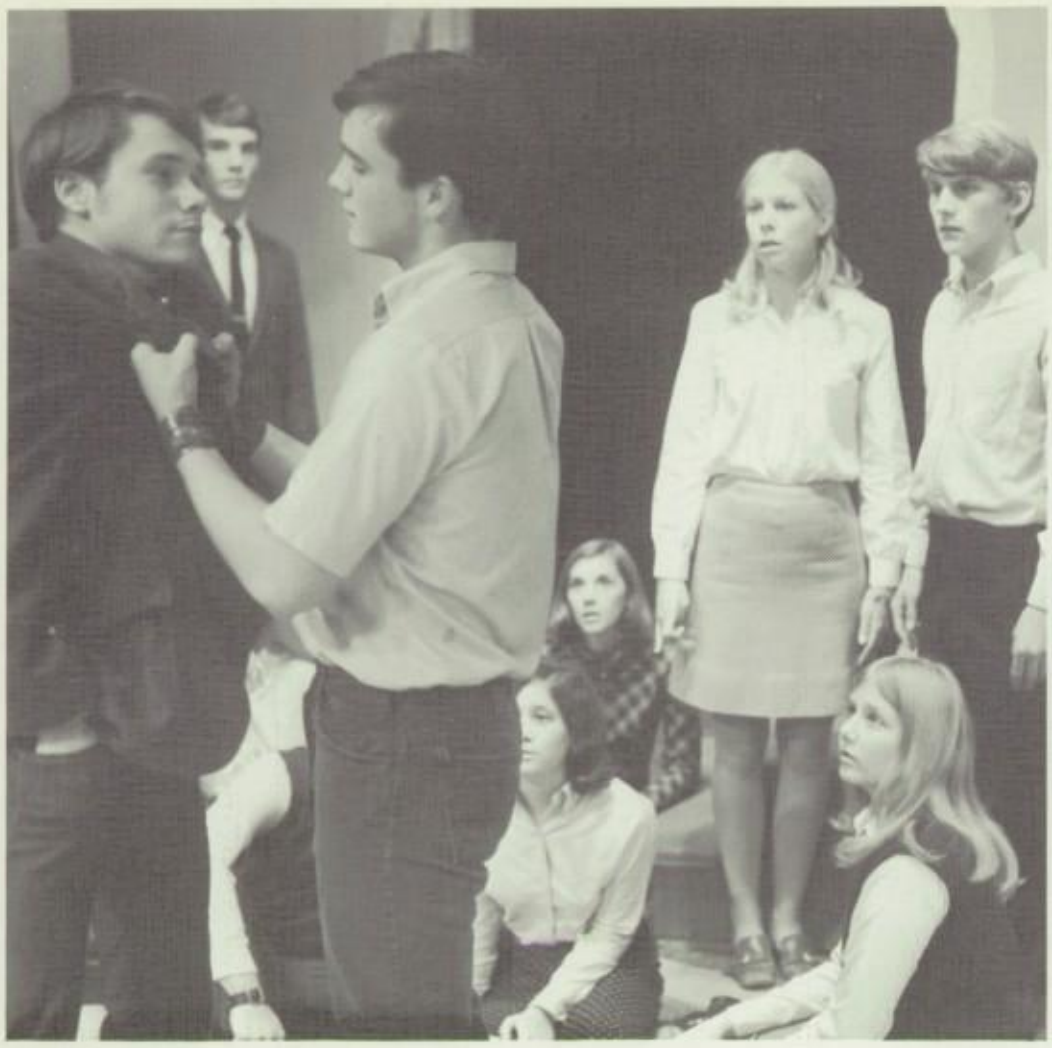
Queen Carolyn reigned over the Fall Festival game and dance.

A seething Centurion upbraided Spintho in the presence of the Christians.

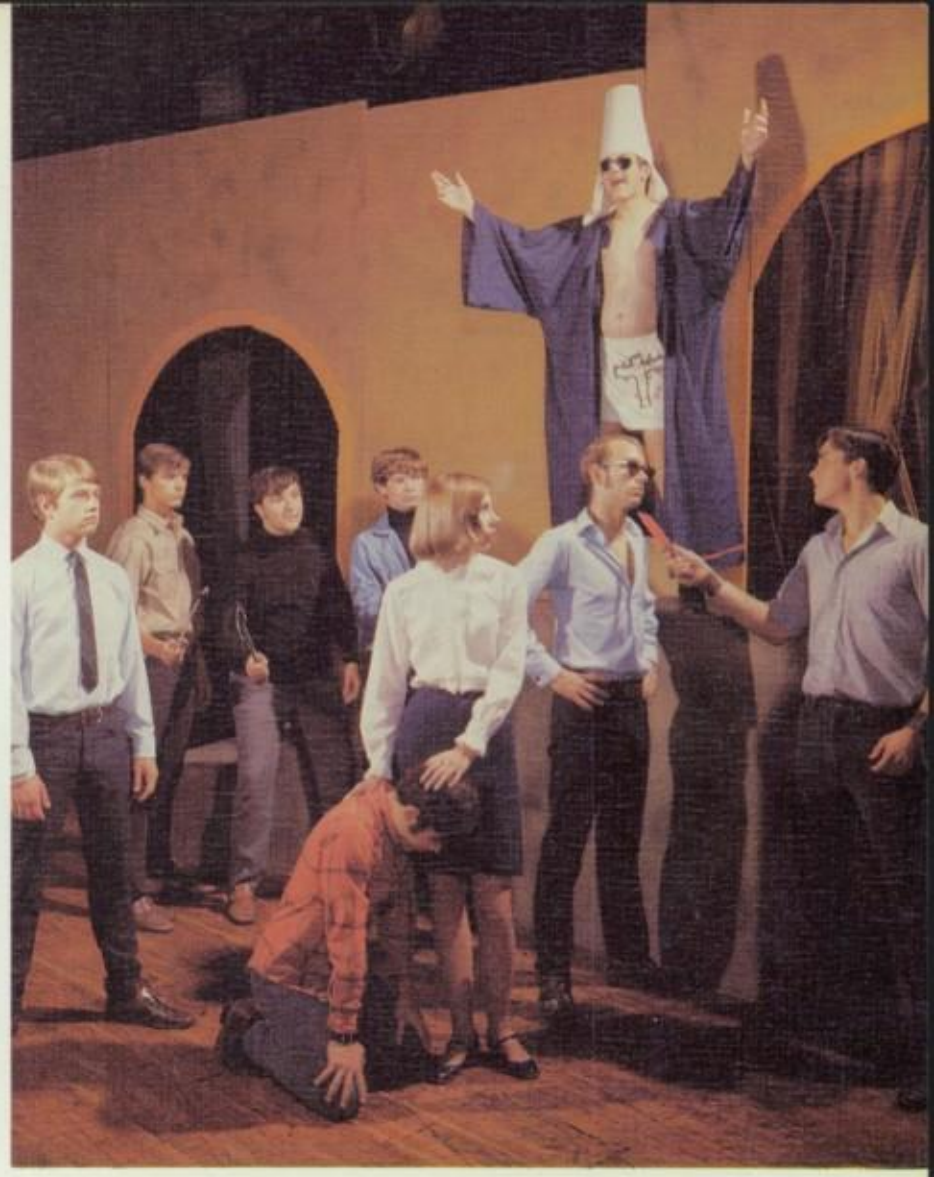
Androcles and the Lion
Challenged Audiences to Think

The first drama production of the year, Androcles and the Lion, both entertained and challenged its audiences. Imagination replaced much of the usual scenery and costuming. The original play, based on a fable, depicted the Christian persecution under the Romans. It focused on a motley group of Christians awaiting their death in a Roman jail after they had refused to burn incense to the emperor. Among the captives was Androcles, the meekest of the Christians, who befriended every order of animals including a lion that eventually saved his life. Lavinia was the spokesman for the Christians and spiritually strengthened them in their weaknesses. The Roman captain sympathized with her, but had no authority to free her. Finally, Caesar, pleased with the Christian Ferrovius' show of strength in the gladiator pit, revoked the death sentence facing all of the Christians.

In addition to the original version on October 8, two adaptations were performed on October 9 and 11. The first variation achieved the emotion of fear within the audience. Caesar changed to Hitler, and the Christians became the persecuted Jews. The third performance was staged in the South. The accusers were members of the Ku-Klux-Klan, rather than Romans, and Negroes played the role of the Christians. Although the scenes were modified and different casts performed throughout the three nights, the lines and theme remained basically the same.



Ferrovius reacted to Lentulus' mockeries.

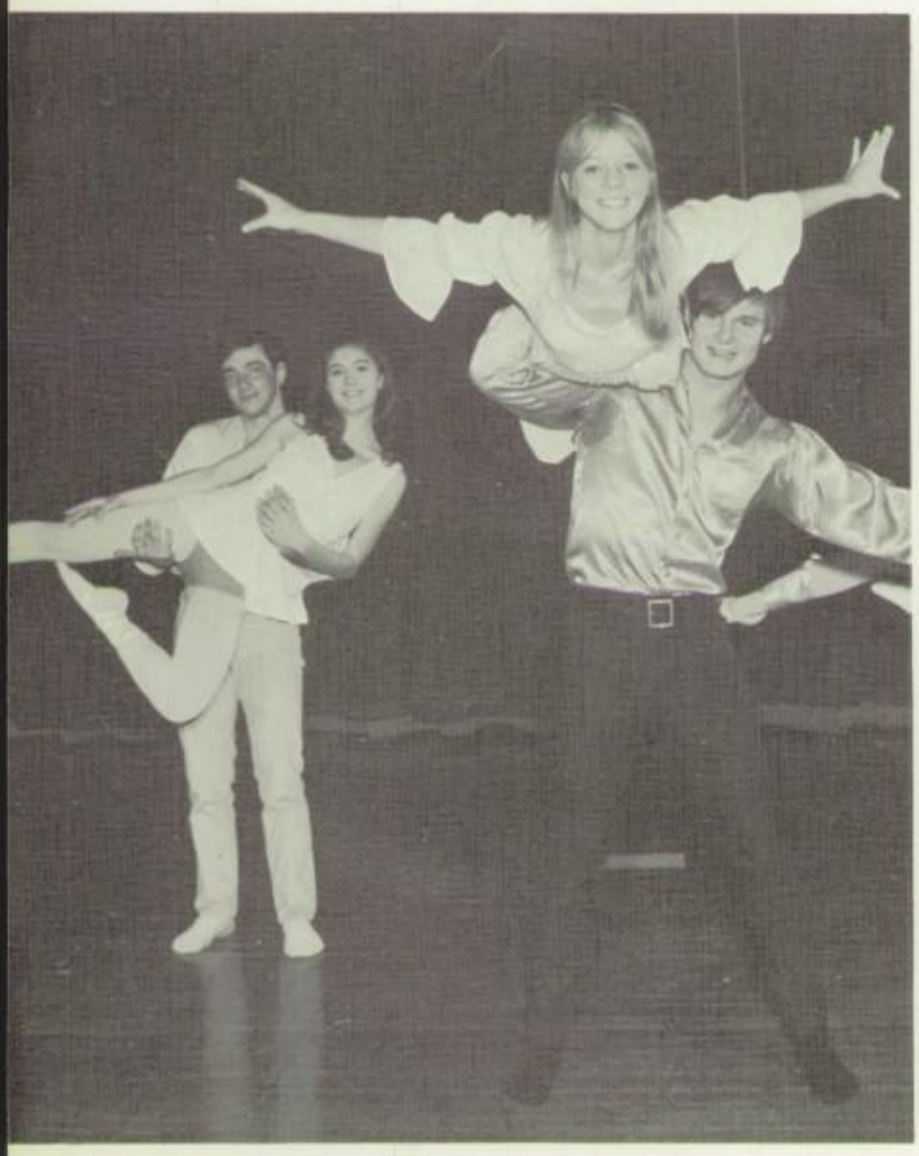


An exuberant emperor congratulated Ferrovius for his courageous slaying of six men.

Magaera showed her amazement upon seeing her dauntless husband, Androcles, dancing with a lion.

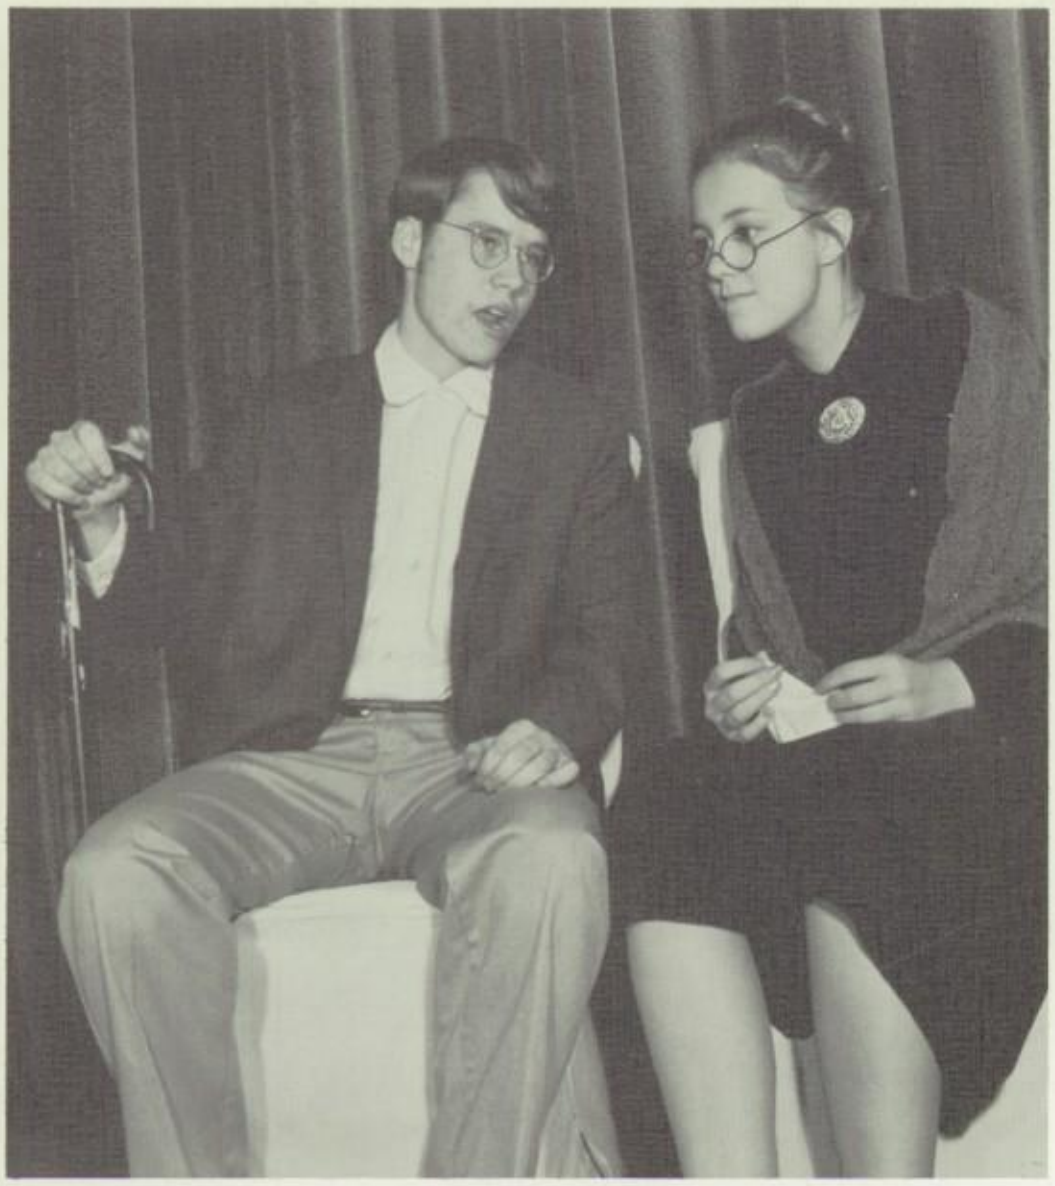
Ain't She Sweet: Kris Hawks, Sally Stevens, Terri Cahill, Sue Conway, Karen Young, Bette Neuruer, and Jill Wybest.

Diane DeBerry, Bill Michalek, and company danced to "A Time for Us."



Laurie Hysell, Mary Lynn Cotten, and Kim Inners were Forest View's first women in space.

V-Show Received Standing Ovations



The theme of "Mondo Uh-Oh," somewhat different from last year's Variety Show, set a pattern for the world-wide outlook in this year's show. Original skits and blackouts written by Rich Bouchez and Jack Fricano provided much of the content of this year's script. Also helping with the organization of the show were Gary Douglas, choral director, and Diane DeBerry, choreographer.

Numerous musical numbers ranged from a now-popular hit, "Spinning Wheel," to a classic, "Bach's Prelude in D Minor." Dances featured numbers from "Romeo and Juliet," "Hello, Dolly," and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." Skits and blackouts focused on world affairs, love, school, and other entertaining aspects of life. "Mondo" started appropriately with the skit "In the Beginning" and concluded with an original composition by Gary Douglas, "This is Our World." The standing ovations displayed at the close of each of the three performances demonstrated the show's apparent success to the student director, Steve Firszt, and the faculty adviser, Mr. Robert Stelk.

An original skit written by Mark Denney and Karen Krien provided the background for their performance.

The front line agreed that the coach is a man's best friend.

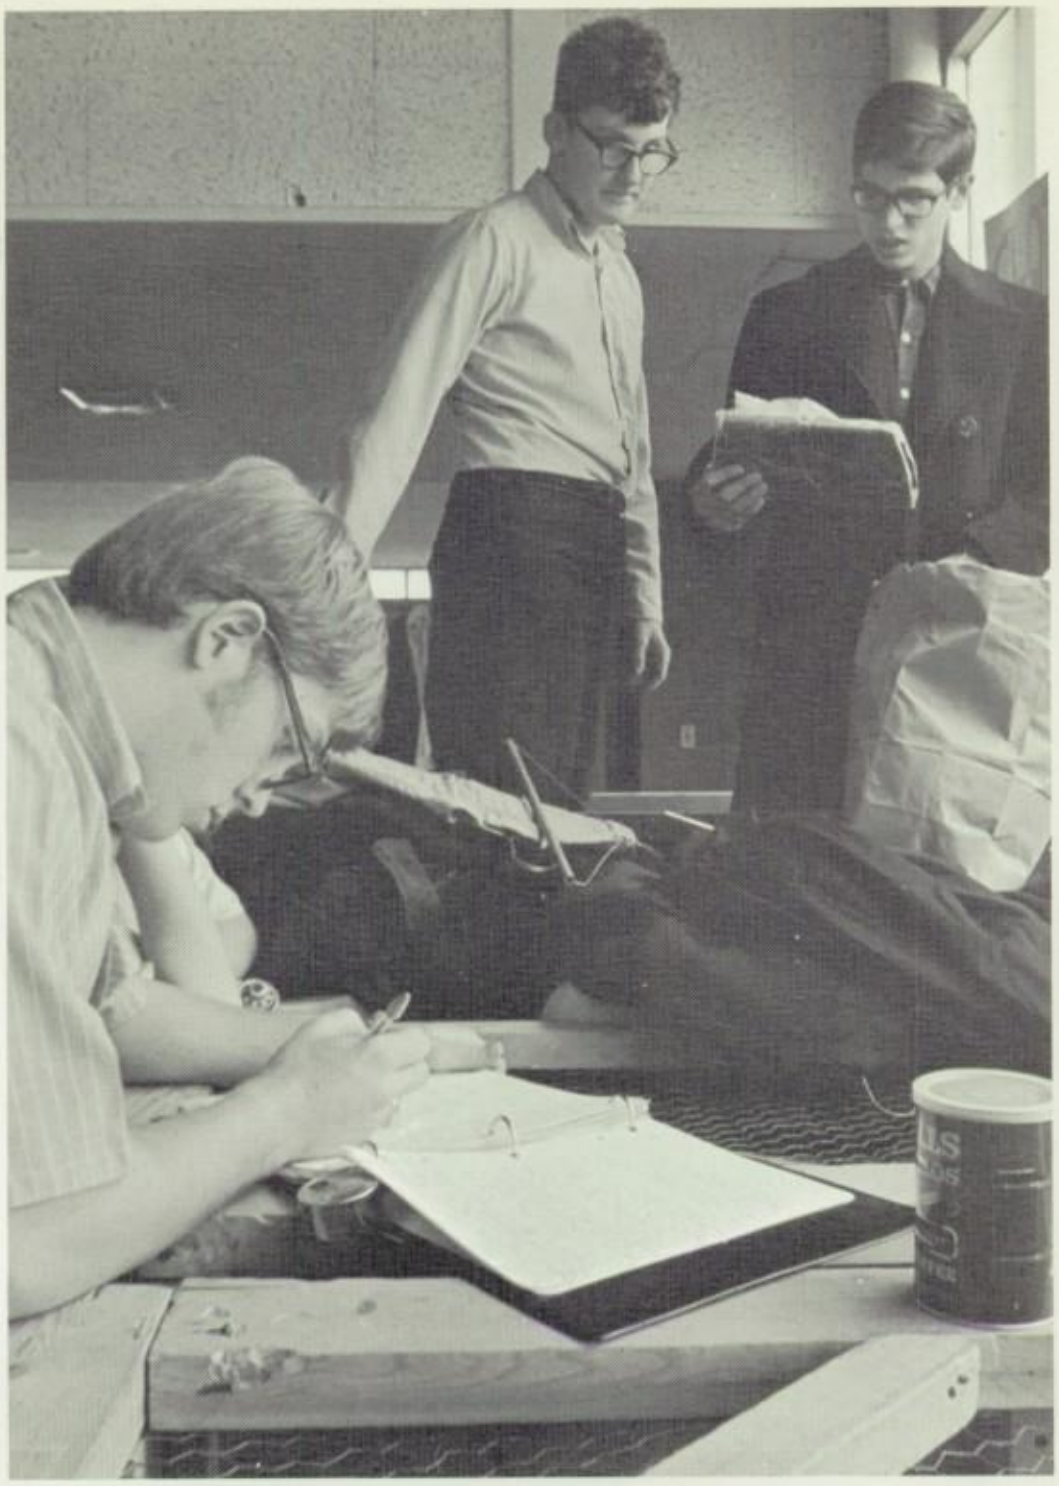
Decoration, Food Drive Highlighted Christmas Week

The annual Canned Food Drive, with the purpose of giving the less fortunate a happier holiday season, occurred during the week before Christmas vacation, December 15-19. This year's general chairman, Allen Young, organized the drive on a class-competition basis as was done previously, and, in addition, he provided a fifth bin for clothing, which was not included in the contest. The Falcons collected and sent clothing and 16,733 pounds of canned food to residents of Cairo, Illinois. The sophomores won the drive by gathering a total of 6,050 pounds (9.1 pounds per person) by the end of the week.



Mike Dorosh and Jean Koran checked clothing to be sent to Cairo, Illinois.

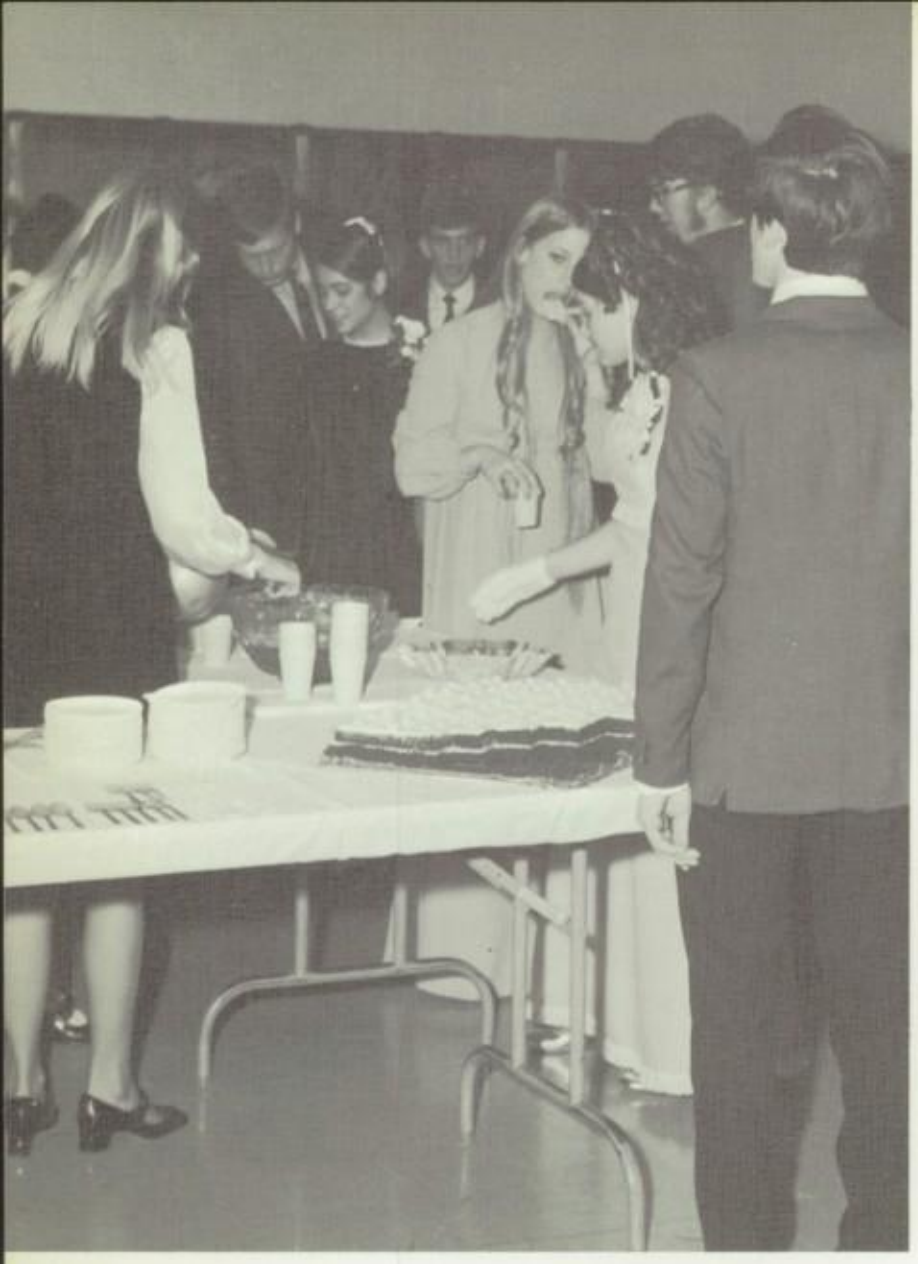
Decorations added to the Christmas spirit.



Refreshments gave attendants the opportunity to relax and visit with each other.

Continuous music was enjoyed by all couples.

Couples relaxed during a band break.

The throne awaited a thrilled Carol Jespersen.

Holidays Glistened in Crystal

Delicate snowflakes gently fell to set the mood for Forest View's 1969 Christmas Ball on Saturday evening, December 20. The annual ball, entitled "Christmas in Crystal" this year and held in the boy's gym for the first time, opened the holiday season for many students.

Couples danced to the beat of the Sixth Column, a renowned group from El Paso, Texas. A radiant Carol Jespersen was elected to reign as queen. Her court included a representative from each of the four classes. Selected as attendants were Senior Barb Conway, Junior Kathy Dolan, Sophomore Joy Agger, and Freshman Melinda Gallagher. As the strains of music from the final song penetrated the air, couples lingered to reflect upon their Christmas in crystal.

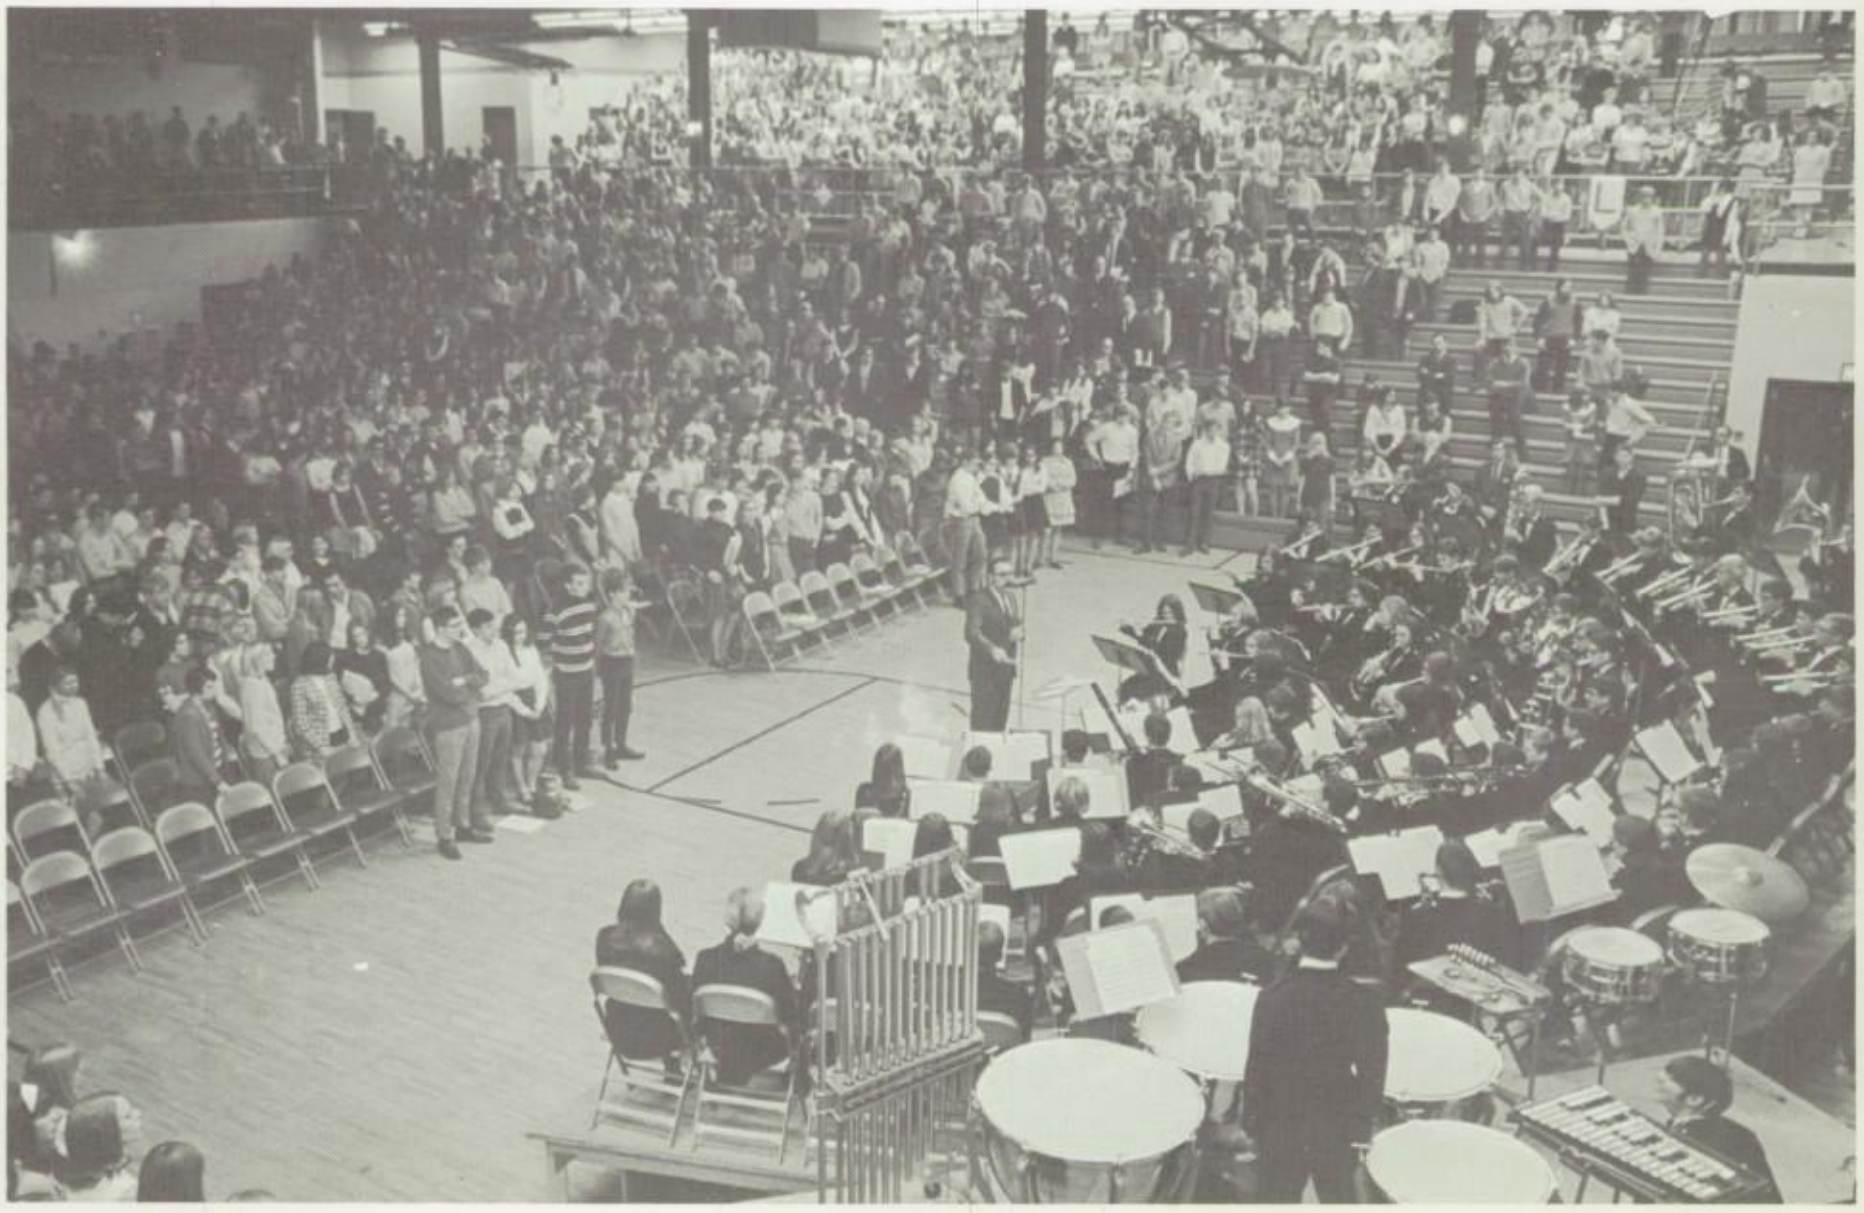
A joint welcoming and farewell party provided the opportunity for Juan and Pat to compare their impressions of American living.

Juan Benevides, foreign exchange student from a wealthy Peruvian family, learned characteristics of middle-class society.

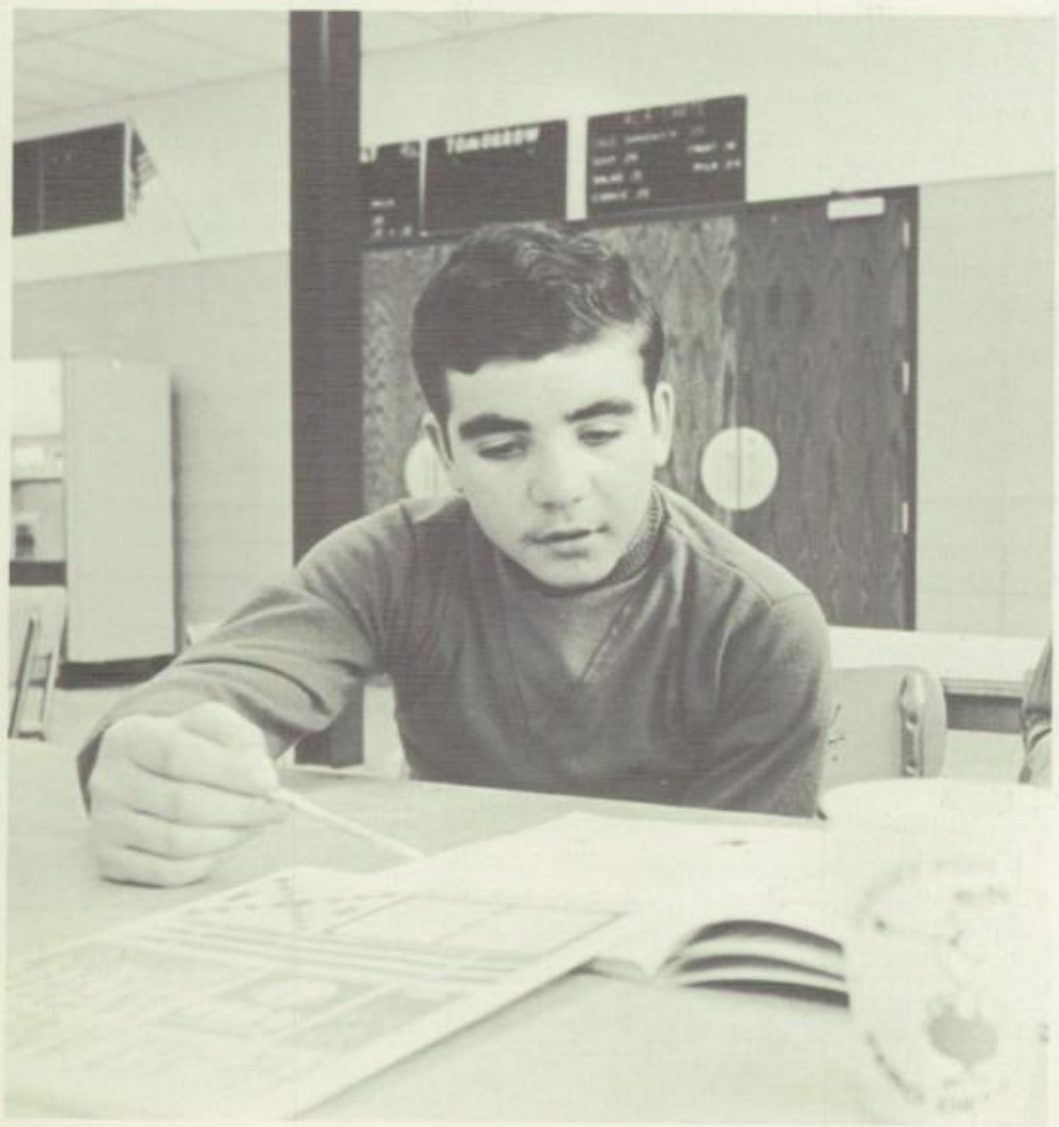
The audience traditionally rose as the band played the opening notes of Handel's "Messiah."



FVHS Welcomed Speakers and Students

Downtown Christmas windows and decorations presented a new insight into American customs for Mayda Sanchez.

Learning English was a major concern for Gus Tzouanopoulos.



Assemblies welcomed guest speakers, recognized student achievements, and illustrated athletic strategy. Dr. Ross, a professional hypnotist and entertainer, captivated the student-faculty audience through the antics of his student volunteers. The band, choir, Vocales, and Towne Criers accented the traditional Christmas Assembly and performed again in the Fine Arts Assembly in the spring. The Honor Pin Assembly identified the 56 seven-semester and 91 four-semester honor roll students. The General and Senior Awards Assemblies acknowledged other students with outstanding academic talents. The Winter Sports Assembly and the shorter pep sessions focused on the athletic teams, ranging from basketball to gymnastics and swimming. Informative or amusing, the assemblies constituted another aspect of student life.

Forest View welcomed four foreign students to the United States this year. Patricia Fabian from Guatemala and Juan Benevides from Peru each came for short visits in America. Patricia came through the International Fellowship Exchange Program, and she lived at the home of Junior Sally Stevens. During her three-month stay in America, Patricia toured the East for one week. Chicago's skyscrapers impressed her only slightly more than the operation of Forest View's Representative Assembly. Juan found coeducation at Forest View a pleasant change from the private boys' school he was accustomed to in Peru. Our Representative Assembly was totally unique for Juan, because he had never before experienced any degree of decision-making by students.

Mayda Sanchez came with her family from Cuba to America to make her new home. Although at first she experienced difficulty with the language barrier, Mayda found both students and teachers very eager to help her. The only aspect of Cuban life that she missed was the warm weather.

Gustav Tzouanopoulos arrived in the United States from Greece. A very outgoing and eager person, Gustav steadily made advances in learning English. The considerable permissiveness of the teachers at Forest View as compared to the teachers in Greece impressed him the most as he considered the differences in the two countries. Gus would like to graduate from high school and then return to Greece where he wishes to continue his education.

"I'm sick and tired of your constant nagging," howled Tom Wingfield, Junior Joe Hammond, to his domineering mother, Amanda, Patti Murray.

Conflict and Illusion Highlighted Performances of Glass Menagerie

Forest View's Drama Department presented The Glass Menagerie, Tennessee Williams' renowned classic, on February 26, 27, and 28. This play, a poignant story of an overly protective mother's futile search for a gentleman caller for her shy, young, crippled daughter, saw Junior Patti Murray and Senior Laurie Hysell share the role of Amanda, the domineering mother. On alternate evenings, Laurie and Senior Pam Geudtner performed the part of Laura, the shy daughter. Senior Steve Firszt also played dual roles, that of Tom, Laura's brother, and that of Jim O'Connor, the long-awaited gentleman caller. Besides Steve, Joe Hammond and John Wegner, both juniors, appeared in the roles of Tom and Jim, respectively.

The Glass Menagerie is a study of conflict and its unavoidable destructive force. A definite conflict existed between Amanda, who lived in a world of illusion and attempted to see things as she wished them to be, and Tom, who tried to escape from his prison at home but succeeded only in moving himself to a larger prison, the world. Mr. Wingfield, the children's father, appeared only in a portrait on the wall, for he, too, had fallen victim to Amanda's intensity and later fled from its presence. Conflict also separated Amanda and her only daughter, Laura, the peacemaker of the family, who, like her glass collection, was too exquisitely fragile to move from her protective home and thus tragically existed in a world of her own.

Because the Junior English classes studied The Glass Menagerie in great depth during the school year, the cast presented a special matinee performance for them on Friday. Although it was an exhausting weekend for the cast and crews, they forgot the long hours of rehearsal and memorization after the final burst of applause at the close of this year's winter play.

The long-awaited gentleman caller, John Wegner, complimented Laura, Senior Pam Geudtner, on her exquisite beauty and frailty.

Huddled upon the sofa, Laura listened to a toast to Southern hospitality.

Wearing her yellow frock and carrying her jonquils, Amanda recalled to Laura her years as a young, carefree Southern belle.

Representative Assembly Increased Its Responsibility in School Life

A new constitution and a new name changed the image of Student Council at Forest View during the '69-'70 school year. The Representative Assembly consisted of eighty delegates (twenty from each class) and four all-school officers. The representatives also served on their respective class councils, planning class activities. Every Monday the Representative Assembly Executive Board met to solve problems and to coordinate class and Assembly activities.

The Assembly endeavored to represent each student more fully by continuing and improving the homeroom reporting. Reporters presented information concerning activities and asked for ideas and suggestions from the students. With the new lunch hour freedom, approximately one-half of the student body had an opportunity to attend the Representative Assembly meetings, held during A lunch, to gain a better understanding of their representative body.

Lyle Green addressed the student body at an assembly.

With eighty-four members, the Assembly was able to expand and increase its responsibility in many facets of school life. The Assembly Committee, newly formed to plan assemblies that would be both educational and enjoyable, featured Dr. Irwin Ross, a renowned hypnotist, in a January assembly. Also new, the Curriculum Committee worked for changes in the educational system of Forest View. One of their projects was the creation of mini-courses.

The Kick-Off Mixer at the beginning of the year, Fall Festival Week, fun-nites, the Variety Show, and the annual Canned Food Drive in December were among the activities sponsored by the Representative Assembly. Through projects and increased involvement in student life, the Representative Assembly proved to be a vital organization within Forest View.

SICC Promoted Interest in Current Events

The Student Involvement Coordinating Committee probed the controversial issues of today, challenging student apathy and indifference. On October 15, the SICC welcomed students to attend a Moratorium Rally, held in the boys' gym. Mrs. Dotti Sandburg, from the Midwest Committee for Draft Counseling, addressed the assembly. Later in the year, the twenty members bought Christmas presents for a black family in Louisiana. The SICC, working with its sponsor Mr. James Allen, also provided the school with guest speakers and films, exemplified in The Detached American, concerning the apathy of Americans, and Berkeley's People Park, regarding the confrontation of students and police. Through its efforts, the club hoped to promote student interest in current events.

Russ Sinkler spoke at the SICC Moratorium Rally.

New Interest Characterized Honor Societies

Students of the upper three classes qualified for membership in the National Honor Society on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service. The society promoted scholarship by purchasing an additional showcase for B building which would allow the display of the Junior Honor Roll as well as the Senior Honor Roll. Students rendered service and encouraged the development of mind and character by sponsoring the paperback bookstore, which was open all lunches for the convenience of the Falcons. Elected by the organization to represent Forest View, Seniors Tom Moore and Gail Miller competed in a nation-wide contest for college scholarships offered by NHS on the basis of leadership and other achievements. In addition to the traditional pennant sales during Fall Festival Week and the initiation ceremony in March, the officers planned such social events as volleyball tournaments and square dancing with NHS members from other district schools in an attempt to vary the range of activities throughout the year.

Mu Alpha Theta, the club intended for the math student and his interests, promoted high school mathematics by introducing various fields of the subject which were not taught in the curriculum. Biweekly meetings provided opportunities for numerous speakers to present information concerning math skills, games, and future occupations. Some results of these presentations were a study of the slot machine and a discussion of the interrelation of science and math. Members also benefited from a field trip taken in the spring.

An honorary society for high school journalists, Quill and Scroll formally initiated eligible students at a ceremony in March. The club accepted members of the newspaper and yearbook staffs on the basis of their class rank, the recommendation of their journalism adviser, and the contribution of superior work in a phase of journalism. Several professional speakers at such meetings as the annual Publications Banquet provided members with ideas for new techniques in production of their respective publications.

Thirty-five active participants in debate and individual speech events comprised this year's National Forensics League. With the help of their sponsor, Mrs. Joyce Lindmark, the members produced the annual school calendar. Among other activities, NFL sponsored a Chanukah party and an awards banquet at the end of the year. Students involved in this honorary society received recognition for donating their time and abilities for interscholastic competition as well as for club projects within Forest View.

Students interested in music were selectively chosen for Tri-M membership on the basis of musical auditions, test results on the Tri-M constitution, and grades received on both academic subjects and music courses. Club sponsor Mr. Fred Schimmelman worked with the officers to provide new and exciting social activities, such as a picnic, hayride, and trip to see the movie "Oliver." The Modern Music Masters attempted to spread an interest and understanding of music throughout the school and community by supporting and initiating music-related programs.

A Larger Editorial Board Facilitated Talon Production

A summer workshop program at the University of Wisconsin introduced many new ideas to Becky Swinford, Editor-in-Chief of the 1970 Talon. A larger editorial board, created to make the yearbook a more completely student publication, was a result of the workshop. The new editors took over many of the duties formerly handled by the adviser, Mr. Robert Staley. Copy Editor Gail Miller was in charge of assigning and editing copy, the written portion of the book, while Photo Editor Lynn Grosch scheduled all pictures and delegated the responsibility of meeting the photographer to staff members. Special photographic effects, also presented at the university, provided a new look. Appeal factors, such as the use of boldface type to identify club photos, were an aid to the reader. A larger staff, including Student Photographer Marty Broeske, facilitated production details. Coordination of the theme, Achievement through Enthusiasm, the cover design, and the avocado green color throughout the endsheets, opening pages, division pages, and closing pages more than ever before unifed the book.

With the aid of a larger staff, special photographic effects, and the added reader-appeal factors, the 1970 Talon staff hopes that as each student looks through these pages, he will recapture the enthusiasm of the 1969-1970 school year at Forest View High School.

Viewer Added New Reader Appeal Factors

New style and content highlighted Forest View's '69-'70 Viewer. The use of more white space, larger print, and wider columns led to easier reading in this year's bigger issues. The content included a wider variety of subjects ranging from traffic and health reports to political analyzations. The unified editorial staff of eleven members headed by Russ Sinkler, along with a record fifty reporters, contributed towards the Viewer's goal of professionalism. The first-class honor rating, awarded to the staff by the National Scholastic Press Association, was evidence of the attainment of their goal.

Band and Twirlers Choreographed Routines

The Forest View Band participated in numerous contests and concerts throughout the year. Among these were the Northwestern Band Day, the Chicagoland Marching Parade, the Wheeling Marching Band Contest, the State Band Contest, and the District Music Festival on February 28. The Jazz Band competed in the Oak Lawn Contest. The Concert Band presented a Christmas Concert and a Winter Concert, in which Clark Terry, a jazz trumpeter on the Tonight Show, starred. Two pep bands, one for the pep sessions and one for basketball games, were helpful in promoting spirit. Mr. Fred Elliot, director of the band, also selected pit bands for the Variety Show and the spring musical at Forest View.

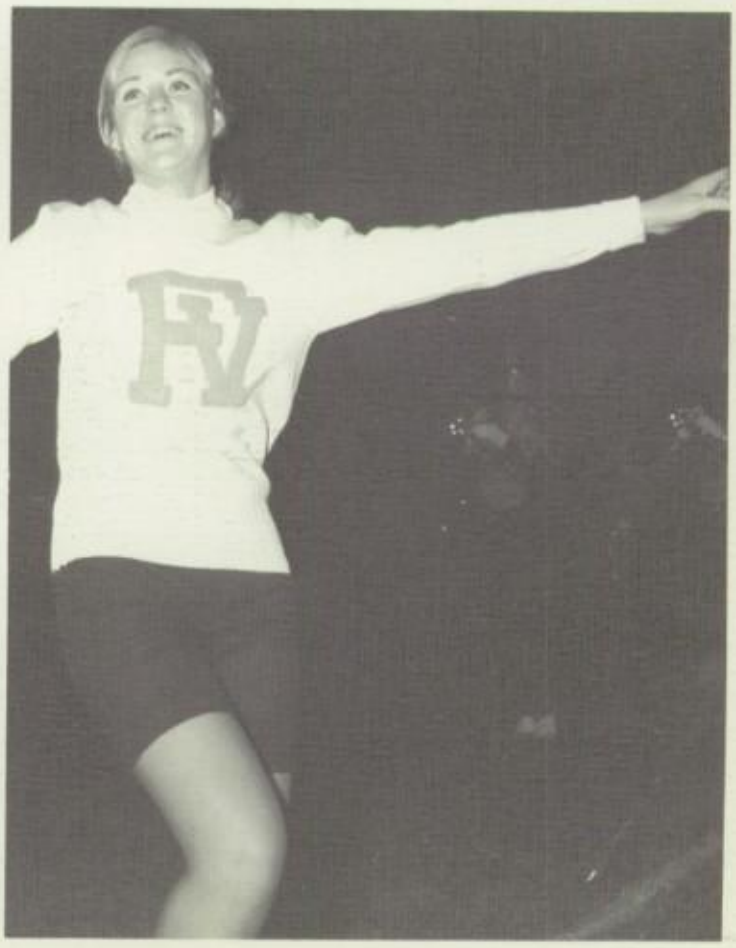
Along with the Marching Band, the Twirlers performed at football games. Four girls, chosen for their skill in handling batons, choreographed their own routines to accompany the musical selections played by the band. The night football games also afforded the twirlers the chance to use fire batons, an interesting highlight to the halftime shows. Falcon band members and twirlers devoted much time and effort to the entertainment of Forest View students and the community.

CONCERT BAND: Front Row: Julie Jacobsen, Debbie MacIsaac, Carolyn Munn, Delores Dahlquist, Bonnie Timm, Rick Rinner, Rick Karcher, Steve Hansen, Mary Evans. Row 2: Bev Brinkman, Pat Frankowski, Audrey Kirsten, Mike Ksiazek, Linda Krol, Peggy Russo, Cindy Hansen, Sallie Shellhorn, Jon Dahl, Dan Pirron, Glen Thiel, George Volkommer, Kathy Ledding, Don Germano. Row 3: Francis Carroll, Nancy Reardon, Carolanne Haase, Rosemary Haase, Gary Line, Don Friske, Mike Seidlitz, Jim Hertz, Mike Werling, Paul Germano, Greg Jenkins, Tom Plemich, Greg Padovani, Gary Brankin, Dave Opsahl, Paul Wangles, Larry Nagle, Lisa Baugh, Debbie Houdek, Diane Key, Lois McElwain. Row 4: Mr. Fred Elliot, Rick Johnson, Laurie Cox, Bob Rud, Rick Hitzman, Dave Sorenson, Dave Abbot, Gordon Moore, Tom Allen, Tom Moore, Joe Hammond, Gary Lindsay, Matt Cotten, Brian Olsen, Danny Rhodes, Corrine Van Schaick, Diane Janssen, Steve Allen, Jackie Nitz, Barb Pingel, Jeff Heck, Gary Nelson, Donna Desch, Kim Turner, Mark Masny, Scott Meyer, Jane Polanowski. Back Row: Dave Maschinski, Al Patano, Christy Zarat, Dave Christine, Don Maschinski, Larry Johnson, Leo Modica.

Drum major Jeff Heck led Forest View's marching band.

The Falcettes performed with the marching band during halftime.

Patsy Olsen helped choreograph the twirlers' routines.



Choral Groups Performed in Concerts

The two hundred students involved in Forest View's various choral groups enjoyed an exciting and rewarding year. Mr. Fredrick Schimmelman directed the Vocales, the Towne Criers, the Choir, and the Girls' Glee Club in the presentation of programs reflecting both enthusiasm and competence. In addition to their contribution to the District Choral Festival at Arlington High School, the combined efforts of all choral groups helped produce the Christmas, Winter, and Spring Concerts. Throughout the year, the Choir performed at school assemblies, the Randhurst Shopping Center, and Forest View Elementary School, while the Towne Criers and the Vocales presented programs for various church and civic groups. After the Choral Department of the 1968-1969 year earned thirteen superior and three excellent ratings in the Illinois State Solo and Ensemble Contest, all choral students anxiously awaited the 1970 contest in anticipation of further success.

Orchesis, Falcettes Performed at Half-time

Meredith Johnson and Karen Pazdro, Orchesis cowboys, shot "guns" in the air.

Orchesis became more like a physical education class and less like a club this year. Instead of electing officers as the group had done previously, it chose a chairman to direct the spring concert, "Love is a Five Letter Word—Dance." Performances for two basketball half-time shows and several elementary schools provided various opportunities for the twenty-nine girls to display their talents. To finance these numerous performances, orchesis members sold Valentine corsages of red or white carnations.

In addition to performing at four football half-times, three basketball half-times, and all pep assemblies, the Falcettes also marched in the Christmas and Memorial Day parades through nearby suburbs. The Falcettes drill team itself consisted of two smaller units. The A team included twenty-five girls who performed the majority of the time. The B team, comprised of twenty-six freshmen, learned and practiced the numerous techniques and commands used in performances. They also appeared with the A team during a basketball half-time. Seven members and one substitute formed the Color Guard. The girls dressed in coordinated gold and black pleated skirts and sweaters when they presented the colors at all home basketball and football games.

An interest in skiing, a desire to learn or to improve that skill, and an insurance policy were this year's requirements for membership in Forest View's Ski Club. A total enrollment of 150 students made it one of the largest organizations in the school and exemplified the growing popularity of the sport among today's young people.

The Ski Club encouraged athletic-minded students to develop their skills on the slopes. Students headed to Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, for their first major trip of the year. Christmas vacation was the highlight of the season for the members who spent an eventful week in Vail, Colorado. Students also enjoyed shorter, weekend trips to both Rib Mountain and Indianhead, Wisconsin. Throughout the winter, students made frequent evening excursions to the Alpine Valley and Wilmot ski areas.

Basic instructions in the fundamentals of skiing offered at the regular club meetings, as well as on the slopes, proved beneficial for most beginning skiers. Students and faculty members alike enjoyed the adventures, endured the bruises, and sighed disappointedly when spring arrived.

One of the school's smaller organizations, the Chess Club held regular meetings weekly. By opening membership to all, its officers encouraged attendance by those who had an interest in the game of chess and wanted to develop their skills. Informal meetings created a casual atmosphere which promoted friendly competition and fun within the club.

The Dee Cee's, formed this year to promote interest in dance, was Forest View's new dance club. Members of the club had the opportunity to learn a number of dance forms ranging from ballet to modern dance. The officers and sponsor held clinics throughout the year to demonstrate the correct techniques of dance and provided individual assistance for those who requested it.

FTA Continued Traditions; Stamp and Coin, Biology Encouraged Participation

The Fall Festival Balloon Blast and the spring Daffydil Sale provided the Future Teachers of America Club with necessary funds as well as followed the traditions established several years earlier. The teachers of Forest View, along with many elementary school teachers in the area, found their FTA student aides to be of great assistance in many ways. Biweekly trips to Maryville Academy gave the members a chance to know young children in an educational environment. They also chatted with young children at the Christmas party held for the teachers' children. Several delegates attended the statewide FTA convention in April, and in May the election and installation of new officers ended the year's activities.

This year the FTA operated on a point system, and the members received their FTA pins and year guards based on total points accumulated. Members received points for attending meetings, working on committees, and taking part in workshops and field trips. This system helped to stimulate enthusiasm in the club members and gave recognition to active members.

A series of planaria regeneration experiments and a field trip to the zoo to study natural habitats supplemented the regular meetings of the Biology Club. Through these and other activities, the members worked with their sponsor, Mr. Michael Stevens, to promote interest in biological fields and to encourage participation in the Junior Academy of Science.

The members of the Stamp and Coin Club occasionally met to trade and compare ideas, stamps, and coins. Under the guidance of Mr. Thaddeus Porowski, the students learned the skills and the precision required of adult philatelists and coin collectors.

Language Clubs Participated in Pan-Language Banquet

A tobogganing party was only one of a variety of new activities organized by the Spanish Club this year. Though a relatively small club, the twelve members and four officers were able to plan and execute numerous projects. A trip to Chicago allowed the students to collect travel posters and to display them in a Spanish classroom. A tour of the "Christmas in Mexico" exhibit at the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago and dinner at a Mexican restaurant also helped to foster interest in the customs of Spanish-speaking countries. Perhaps the most educational of the field trips was the one to the Federal Building where students learned about requirements for foreign travel, which included information on passports, visas, and inoculations. An excursion to the Spanish Offices for Tourism presented insight into travel aspects peculiar to Spain. Participation in the Pan-Language Banquet in the spring was the conclusion to the year's activities.

French Club illustrated the relationship between fun and learning as the members, along with their sponsor, Mrs. Darlene Washington, enjoyed several activities. "Crepe Suzette Day," the traditional start of the club's activities, preceded studies in French literature, a trip to Canada in the spring, and participation in the Pan-Language Banquet. Although open for membership to any student interested in French culture and customs, the club consisted mainly of students enrolled in French who wanted to further their understanding of the foreign country.

A field trip to German Town and participation in the Pan-Language Banquet accented the outline of activities of the fifteen members of German Club. Assisted by their sponsor, Mr. Peter Cordt, the officers planned and coordinated projects throughout the year. The club also sponsored a tutoring program whch aided students in their study of the language and helped them to become better acquainted with the unique culture and customs of Germany.

This year "involvement" became a synonym for the Russian Culture Club. Under the supervision of the new sponsor, Mrs. Bachir, membership and participation soared to an all-time high. Outstanding among the club's activities were two field trips. The first was a visit to a Russian Orthodox Church, which included a discussion of religious customs with the Father. The second, a unique meal at a Russian restaurant, concluded with a tour of the Christmas exhibit at the Museum of Science and Industry. Also important in the list of activities was participation in Christmas decoration of the school and the spring's Pan-Language Banquet.

C.B. Radio, Debate, and IE Furthered Useful Communication

A varsity, a junior-varsity, and a novice group comprised the Debate Team. The debaters, coached by Mrs. Joyce Lindmark and Mr. Maurice Champagne, devoted their time to critically analyzing the current events concerning the U.S. foreign policy. A typical tournament consisted of a pair of two-member teams, each debating both for and against the issue in different rounds. Every participant delivered two speeches, a constructive eight-minute speech and a four-minute rebuttal. The judges evaluated the presentations in terms of analysis, reasoning, evidence, organization, and delivery. In Debate, students not only learned facts, but they also learned how to communicate their ideas to others.

The Speech Team, boasting 35 members, participated in ten contests before attending the IHSA tournament, which later led to state contests. Individual team members competed in comedy and serious play reading, prose and verse reading, after-dinner and radio speaking, original monologue, extemporaneous speaking, oratorical declamation, and original oration. Co-captains Ken Eaken and Tom Maze worked with the team coach, Mrs. Margaret Cadle, in auditioning students' presentations. Through this speech program, the participants learned to speak and read more effectively.

The C.B. Radio Club supplemented the electronics classes, enlarging the amount of available information on the subject of communications. With their sponsor, Mr. LeRoy Thomson, the twenty members reviewed Morse code and theory and the fundamentals required for a radio license. A Field Day, including an over-night camping trip, culminated the efforts of the club. The members took with them both C.B. radios, which receive frequencies within a radius of 150 miles, and an amateur radio, which can transmit around the world. Through club discussions and actual experience, the club endeavored to further the understanding of radio communications among its members.

Human Relations Gained Insight; Art, Folk Singing Showed Creativity

The Human Relations Club strove to learn and understand the problems of others and tried to improve human relations within Forest View and the community. The seventy members and Mr. George Sully, the club sponsor, broadened their program by arranging for more field trips to a greater variety of places. In the fall, the club visited the Black Trade Fair, and in February they spent a day at South Shore High School. Students also visited the Kenwood-Oakland Community Center located at the Mennonite Church and toured the city on a bus. Forest View students who took part in club activities gained much insight into the way others work and live and learned what was being done as well as what could be done to better all human relations.

A new and different endeavor for the '69 -'70 Art Club highlighted this year's activities. An animated film, the main project attempted by the group, allowed the members to experiment in an unfamiliar field of art. Club members also designed and sold unique Christmas cards during the holiday season. Though it was a small group comprised of only a few "artists," the club was able to accomplish its goal of giving art students additional experience in creative work.

To keep abreast of the times, students organized, under the direction of Mr. Juan Sullivan, to form Forest View's newest organization, the Folk Singing Club. Requirements for membership were simple: students merely needed a love for or an interest in folk music and a desire to share this interest with others.

Members held meetings both at school and at a local coffee house operated by Mr. Sullivan. Participants played music, attempted to express their individual interpretations of it, and traded new arrangements for comment and criticism among themselves.

Early in the school year, the Folk Singing Club staged a folk fest at Forest View during which many well-liked personalities appeared. Dan Zahn, Bonnie Yates, and Ray Herr were just a few of the local talents present. Interested members planned outings to the various shows given by national folk singers. It was clearly seen by the end of the school year that the developmental stages of the new club were over, and it is likely to become a popular club next year.

Volunteers Assisted as Office Guides

A number of Forest View's students offered to work in the Attendance, Counseling, or Health Office as office guides. These volunteers were extremely helpful to the people in charge.

The Attendance Office guides collected the IBM cards and attendance records from all the classrooms. They also delivered passes from Mr. Gary Tjarks and Mr. Norman Patberg and helped at the attendance counter.

Students helping in the Counseling Office delivered messages and passes, filed papers, checked out college catalogs to students, and answered some of the incoming phone calls. They helped counselors with projects and aided students in any way possible, which included taking transfer students on tours of the building.

Health Office guides were an important part of the health service. Directed by Mrs. Ivah Hugnagel, they helped with much of the general clerical work, delivered passes, answered phone calls, and helped ill or injured students.

All office guides were volunteers who chose to assist in one of the offices instead of having a regular study hall. Their willing service was important in helping Forest View to function.

Job Opportunities Gave Students Valuable Experience

The work programs this year provided students with valuable first-hand experience in areas of possible future employment. Two programs specifically geared to girls' interests were the Home Economics and Related Occupations (HERO) Program, which developed both housekeeping and childcare techniques, and the Office Occupations (00) Program, which acquainted girls with the business world.

Juniors and seniors interested in merchandising, retailing, and marketing gained on-the-job experience by participating in the Distributive Education (DE) Division. Diversified Occupations (DO) offered training to those students interested in a specific vocation or trade including auto body repair, hairstyling, drafting, and printing.

The Cooperative Work Agreement (CWA) Program allowed underclassmen to remain in the building to gain practical work experience before going out on the job, while the Cooperative Work Training (CWT) Phase arranged for students to gain knowledge in the field of retailing.

Experience in these programs prepared many students for a particular vocation and excellent employment possibilities after graduation.

Sports Activities Involved GRA and Pep Club Members

Athletic-minded girls kept physically fit this year through membership and participation in the Girls' Recreation Association. Provided with the opportunity to compete against one another in such sports as basketball, tennis, volleyball, badminton, gymnastics, and bowling, girls learned to improve old and develop new skills. Members received athletic points for participating in these activities.

Girls earned service points by working on committees which planned the social events for the year. GRA-sponsored activities included a Christmas cookie sale, a coke dance, and two evening socials, a Dad-Daughter Nite which allowed dads to challenge daughters to an invigorating game of volleyball, and a Mother-Daughter Nite, during which girls and their moms enjoyed the skillful game of miniature golf. Forest View, as well as other district schools, took part in volleyball playdays. Girls met together for some friendly competition, followed by lunch and awards.

Outstanding GRA members received awards for their exceptional point totals, and senior officers announced the new officers for next year at a banquet held at the end of the school year.

Forest View's Pep Club, consisting of both GRA members and non-members, promoted school support and crowd enthusiasm at the various sports events. In addition to attending the contests, Pep Club members performed various tasks for their respective sports. Girls decorated display cases, publicized meets, and kept accurate scores. One of the pep squads represented Forest View at each contest and helped to cheer on the athletes to victory.

Seniors Aided P.E. Teachers; Junior Leaders Learned Skills

The junior leader classes of Forest View, directed by Miss Doral Rose and Mr. Fred Lussow, consisted of junior girls and boys who had an interest in physical education. The girls applied for the class in their sophomore year. The Women's P.E. Department than selected the girls, basing their choices on grades, potential leadership, and their ability in and attitude toward P.E. Sophomore P.E. instructors screened all the boys in their classes, and they also qualified for junior leaders by their grades and leadership qualities, along with their ability to get along with others and their enthusiasm and interest in P.E.

The junior leaders course included all physical education activities taught in high school, with an emphasis placed on analyzing skills and learning the technique of coaching and officiating.

In the spring the girls experienced a trial lead in a general girls' P.E. class, and the teacher of that class evaluated them as potential senior leaders.

This evaluation, plus their performance in the junior leader class, provided the basis for becoming a senior leader. The boys also had a chance to trial lead, but they did this within their own classes.

As a senior leader, a girl had her choice of level to work with, and after being assigned to that class, she was expected to perform well or be relieved of her responsibility. The chairman of the Boys' P.E. Department and the teacher determined the class level with which each boy would work.

Though many senior leaders go on to major in physical education, such a career is not the main purpose of the program. The course was designed not only as a service to the school, but also to develop leadership qualities, to present knowledge of activities, to teach students how to get along with others, and to prepare them for the adult responsibilities.

Junior girl leaders practiced their version of "Roll Out the Barrel."

Achievement through Competition

Winning isn't everything — but wanting to win is.

Vince Lombardi

Dear Chris,

I want you to know that knowing you and talking to you has been one of the best things that have happened to me. You are truly an understanding an honest friend and I'm glad I know you. Always remember the funny times and the serious times there's been. Keep up your art. We both have to think positively. You know you're good. Don't catch the ~~ART~~ DISEASE anymore. Good luck in your future and with Mike (He is really cool) and I'll see you this summer.

Your friend,

Sharon

Varsity Gridders Concluded Second-Best Season in FV History

Forest View's varsity gridders finished the season with a 5-3 over-all record and an impressive 5-2 mark in the Midsuburban Conference. Not only was that record good enough for a third-place finish in the conference, but it was the second-best finish in Forest View football history.

The offense, led by All-Conference Quarterback Rich Olson and All-Conference End Wayne Meier, seemed weak at first, but by the close of the season had learned to execute well.

Coach Art Klein's defense, led by conference standouts Bill Michalek, Greg Swanson, John Ingo, and Rich Posinger, proved to be the second-best defense in the league and was generally thought to be the hardest-hitting squad the school had ever produced.

Falcons Jeff Brown and Rick Weaver also received recognition by being named to the honorable mention All-Conference Team on offense and defense respectively.

Key games in the 1969 season were a 7-0 win over Conant, eventually Mid-Suburban League champion, and a 26-6 mauling of arch-rival Elk Grove in the final game of the season. However, the biggest win this year, and the biggest in Forest View history, was a 6-0 whitewashing of Arlington, the first time the Falcons had ever beaten the Cardinals. The unified team, backed by spirited support from the Falcon crowds, completed an exciting football season.

Underclass Football Displayed Skill and Enthusiasm; Frosh B Finished 7-0

The members of Coach Fred Lussow's JV squad finished the season with a 3-3 mark, which tied them for fourth place in the league. Led by Juniors Jack Reitz and Larry Molinari, the JV squad put forth its strongest effort against a tough Wheeling team, only to have a touchdown called back and to finally lose 8-0. However, a few weeks later they put everything together against Elk Grove and swamped the Grenadiers 20-0. They showed an industrious attitude and hustle all season and appear to be a promising squad for next year.

The sophomores completed a disappointing season by gaining only one win against seven losses. The coaches, Mr. Dave Theesfeld and Mr. Bud Bornman, felt they were somewhat handicapped as a result of the loss of ten sophomores who played on the JV squad. The team was able to maintain a fighting spirit throughout the season and is looking forward to next year with high hopes.

The freshman A team, led by Coaches Darryl Phillips and Tom Seidel, compiled a 2-3-2 record this year. The B team, headed by Coaches Mike Frase and Ed Cheatham, proved to be Forest View's lone football champion with a perfect 7-0 record. Both frosh squads displayed the skill and enthusiasm necessary to gain victories in the future.

Harriers Had Disappointing Season in '69

Placing eighth in the conference, the Varsity Cross Country team, headed by Coach John Heenan, had a disappointing season. Although winning only four of thirteen meets, the ten-member team boasted several outstanding lettermen. The Co-captains, Bob Bell and Ryan Maly, were two of the top runners on the team. Bob Bell set the best time for the season with a 14:58 on a 2-mile course at Busse Woods. The VFW voted Craig Henderson the Most Valuable Player of 1969.

The Frosh-Soph team, led by Captain Scott McGovney and coached by Mr. William Mohrman, was undefeated in all but two of seventeen meets. Brian McHugh and Rich Sales contributed significantly to the success of the team.

Varsity Cagers Finished Season with 12-11 Record

Coach Ken Arneson's varsity cagers finished the 1969-70 season with a 12-11 overall record and a 6-8 league mark.

Inconsistency seemed to tell the story of this year's season. Led by Dave Long, Rich Olson, Wayne Meier, and Greg Shevell, the Falcons opened the season by knocking off two strong teams, Maine West and Elgin. Then came a disappointing one-point loss to Arlington. An easy victory with a score of 85-38 over Stevenson surpassed the previous school record of 82 points in a single game and gave the Falcons encouragement for the future.

However, after taking second place in the Batavia Christmas Tournament, Forest View opened regional tournament play by beating Glenbrook South. The Falcons then had to face Maine South, the eleventh-ranked team in the state. Forest View dropped the game 81-69, but played what the fans considered to be the best game of the year.

Frosh, Sophs Learned Basic Skills; JV Gained Playing Experience

Though the purpose of the underclass squads is to teach the athletes both basic skills and valuable playing experience, competition is still important. The underclassmen worked for both victories and development of their skills.

The junior varsity team, headed by Coach Elmer Bornman, finished the season with a 5-11 overall record. Led by Bob Kasper, one of the league's top scorers, and Kent Koentopp, a two-year JV man, the squad picked up some valuable experience for next year.

A 2-12 conference record was the result of a disappointing season for Coach Fred Lussow's sophomores. The boys competed without the aid of several key players who had been moved to play at the junior varsity level.

The freshman A and B teams, headed by Coaches Paul Jordan and Mark Thorne, finished the season with 7-7 and 6-8 marks, respectively. The A-team record merited a fourth-place finish in the conference.

6-3 Wrestling Season Ended in Third-Place Tie

Forest View's varsity wrestlers, coached by Mr. David Theesfeld, tied for third place in the Mid-Suburban League with a 6-3 conference record in dual meets and an overall record of 6-4 this year. The season began with a loss to Deerfield and then alternated wins and losses against Glenbard North, Arlington, Conant, Prospect, Hersey, and Fremd. They finished the season with three decisive victories over Elk Grove, Wheeling, and Palatine. Our grapplers also placed sixth in the Prospect Tournament and second in the quadrangular meet which they hosted.

This year's team had several outstanding members. Captain Tom Moore, Mark Bowe, and John Walker were District champions and placed fourth, fourth, and third, respectively, in the Sectional competition. John Walker, wrestling in the 185-pound class, earned the honors of Most Valuable Player, based on his eight pins, and Outstanding Wrestler, based on his accumulation of the greatest number of match points during the season.

JV, Sophs, and Frosh Wrestled Commendably

Grapplers on the freshman, sophomore, and junior varsity levels also worked for commendable records this year. Mr. John Wollenburg's freshmen finished with a conference record of seven wins and three losses. The sophomores, under Mr. Darryl Phillips, finished with an even five wins and five losses, while the junior varsity team, coached by Mr. John Ellis, had an impressive 8-2 finish. Many outstanding wrestlers on their respective levels often had the opportunity to compete on the varsity level. Sophomore Gordon Moore wrestled several times on the varsity team and was often able to defeat his opponents.

FV Gymnasts Hosted Sectional Competition

All-around competitor, Bob Berglund, met the requirements for performance on the horse.

The Varsity Gymnastics team placed fifth in conference, winning nine of the fourteen meets. In addition, the team boasted several outstanding members. Bob Berglund, excelling in the high bar, parallel bars, and the side horse, placed seventh in the IHSA Sectional for all-around competition. Mike Conte ranked sixteenth in the state meet for his routine on the trampoline. Mike Sullivan worked the parallel bars. Jeff Brown specialized on the rings, and Norm Olsen concentrated on free-exercise. Through the talent of all members, the team received a fourth place in district competition.

The Frosh-Soph Gymnastics team won seven of its fourteen meets, reaching their highest score, 50.8, at West Leyden. The team placed seventh in conference. Denny Hardesty, side horse; Mark Catlin, rings; and Larry Martin, all-around, highlighted the team effort. Five freshmen also competed on the sophomore level, strengthening the team performance.

Mike Sullivan demonstrated the strength necessary to execute the L-hold.

Varsity Swim Team Captured Conference Crown with 11-3 Record

Forest View's varsity swim team consisted mainly of underclassmen. Coached by Mr. Gordon Aukerman, it achieved the best record in the school's history. This 11-3 dual record allowed the squad to place first in the conference and become the Mid-Suburban League champion. Scott Patience and Fred Westdale led the team with 178 points each for the season. The team also broke previous records in nine out of eleven events.

Forest View won the conference meet with a total of 88 points. Scott Patience won conference championships in both the 200 and the 400-yard freestyle; Fred Westdale took the title in the 200-yard individual medley; and Mark Bailey placed first in the 100-yard freestyle. These three boys, along with John Mate, also took the championship in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

On the frosh-soph level, Mr. John C. Hillary coached a squad composed mainly of freshmen to a 3-11 dual record. Although it was a disappointing season, the boys were able to break records in all of the eleven events on their level.

Experience Helped Varsity Track; Underclassmen Showed Promise

This year's track team, coached by Mr. Bill Mohrmann, worked hard to achieve new goals. Mike Keen, a sprinter and hurdler, and Bob Bell, a half and quarter-miler, led the team in its attempt to complete a successful season. These co-captains, along with shot-putter Tom Dendor, sprinter and pole-vaulter Howard Mock, and sprinter Terry Shankon, were the team's returning lettermen. According to Coach Mohrmann, the 1970 Varsity squad had the experience, desire, and ability to reach the goals he had set for them.

The underclassmen showed much promise and eagerness to learn the basic fundamentals necessary for future varsity competition. Coaches Darryl Phillips, David Brown, and John Heenan assisted Mr. Mohrmann in teaching those skills.

Falcon Baseball Teams Marked by Capable Leadership

The Varsity Baseball Team, under the guidance of Head Coach Tom Seidel, went into the 1970 season as definite contenders for the league crown. The number of returning players from previous seasons boosted the squad's ability and experience. A number of players were strong candidates for the infield: Rich Olson, Pete Cavalarro, Roger Norman, Ed Bansfield, Bob Kasper, Ryan Maly, and George Schmidt. The Falcons had three capable catchers in Bruce Kratky, Roger Cardinell, and Val Valentino, while Kent Koentopp and Gabino Galindo were the leading outfield prospects. On the mound for Forest View were Barney Bonnem, Ed Johnson, Les McIntyre, Bob Novak, Guy Ekblad, and Denny O'Keefe. The Falcons fielded a solid ball club which was capable of bringing home a championship.

Coach Mike Frase's Sophomore Team began to develop the skills this season which will enable them to play Varsity ball next year. Led by Bob Sobieski, pitcher, and Randy Jesperson, infielder, the sophomores showed great potential and worked to obtain the smoothness and confidence needed for next year's Varsity squad.

The Freshmen, led by Coaches Mark Thorne and Ray Cipriano, concentrated on basic baseball skills. The Frosh began learning the essential strategies and techniques required to play winning interscholastic baseball. They became acquainted with the styles of the boys with whom they will be playing during their next three years at Forest View.

To return the ball, Don Martin utilized a strategic stroke.

Previous Years' Experience Aided Varsity Tennis

This year's Varsity Tennis team represented one of Forest View's strongest squads in terms of experience and potential. The boys' primary goal was to surpass their previous year's record of eight wins and one loss, which had earned them second place in the Mid-Suburban League Conference in the 1969 season. Seven returning lettermen from that winning squad provided an able team for Coach Douglas Tolman to work with.

An unusually large number of freshmen comprised the Frosh-Soph Tennis team this year, insuring experienced squads for future seasons. With Mr. Warren Myers as their coach, the younger Falcon netmen competed in fifteen meets.

Senior Fred Melone stroked the ball during a pre-season practice session.

'69 Golf Shared Conference Championship

Forest View's 1969 varsity golf team, under the direction of Mr. Art Klein, shared the title of Conference Champions with Prospect High School. Their conference record was 8 wins and 1 loss, the single loss to Conant.

In the first meet of the season, a record-breaking score of 150 was shot against West Leyden to give the Falcons a first-place position in the overall team standings. This position, held throughout the season, allowed the Falcons to finish the year with a 10-1 record.

Seniors Ben Kopriva and Steve Brown were commended for their outstanding performances. Junior Mike Morgan tied for third place in the District Meet, while Wayne Meier placed third in the Conference Meet. Phil Hausman, the only freshman on the varsity team, also showed exceptional ability throughout the season. The frosh-soph team finished the season in second place with a 9-3 record. Sophomore Tom Schmidt was recognized as the most outstanding member of the team.

Girls' Sports Encouraged Competition

The 1969 Forest View girls' tennis team posted its most impressive record to date with three wins and three losses. Miss Ellen Witherspoon, the girls' coach, had hoped for a higher standing when the season began. She felt that if the team had defeated Arlington and Palatine, its final standing would have been much higher. Practice resumed in the spring and continued throughout the summer to ready the girls for competition in the fall of 1970.

Miss Witherspoon also coached the girls' badminton team. Three different squads, comprised of twenty-one girls, represented Forest View in the North Suburban Badminton League competition. The girls acquired new sweaters in school colors to wear on the days of their meets. Outstanding players received awards at the close of the season.

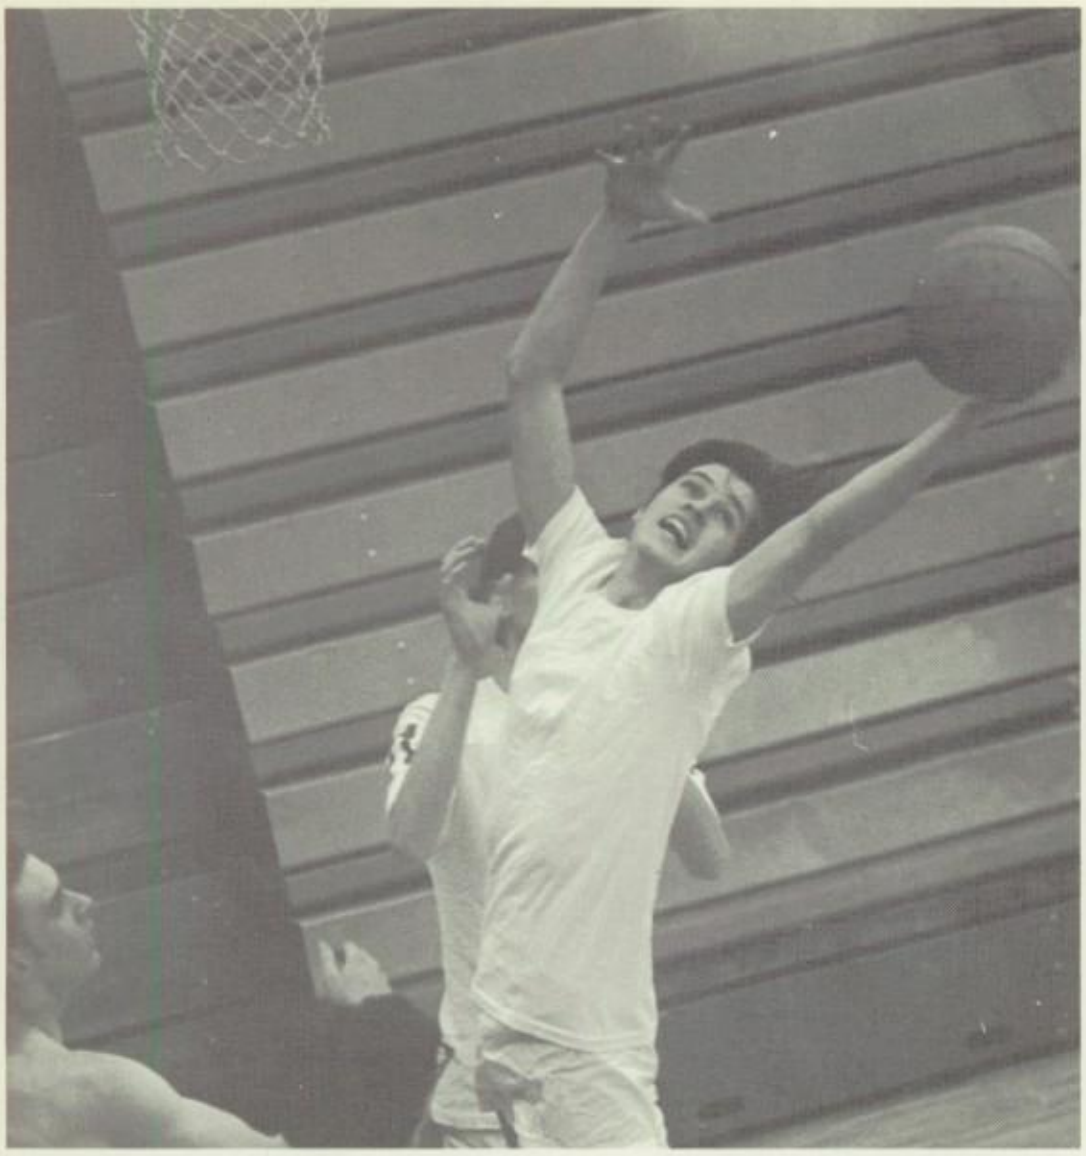
Boys Competed in Intramural Athletic Events

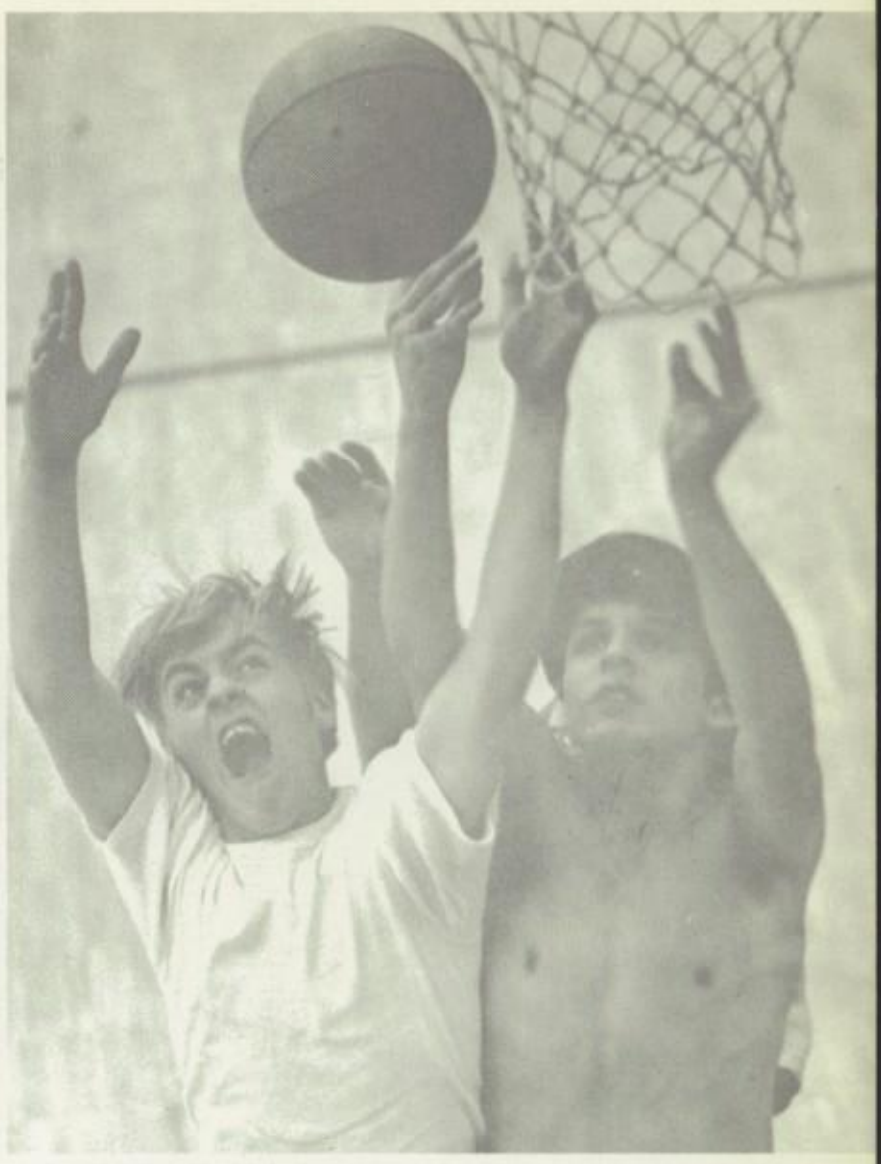
Those boys interested in competitive basketball, but who did not play on any interscholastic team, had the opportunity to display and practice their skill this year in the intramural program. Teams competed against one another throughout the regular basketball season. Availability of the boys' gym every Tuesday night from 7:00 until 9:00 allowed about one hundred boys to take advantage of the opportunity to play ball. Mr. William Henderson of Arlington High School supervised the program, and the Boys' Athletic Department sponsored the events with the purpose of furthering interest in the game and developing fair play on the court.

Bill Maffy assumed a defensive position.

Barney Bonnem tipped the ball to his teammates.



Rick Swetman recovered the rebound.



Members of opposing teams, Tom Dapper and Richard Griggs, struggled to gain control of the ball.

Boys gathered in the gym every Tuesday night for intramurals.

Cheerleaders Exemplified Falcon Enthusiasm

Jill Wybest led the crowd in a cheer.

At the cheerleading clinic held last spring, the graduating varsity seniors chose varsity and junior varsity cheerleading squads to represent Forest View in 1969-70. During the summer vacation the twelve girls practiced and perfected cheers for sports events and pep assemblies.

Soon after the school year began, the varsity cheerleaders worked with the freshman girls interested in cheerleading. Mrs. Barbara Farroh, the cheerleaders' sponsor, along with teachers, the varsity squad captain, and the co-captain selected six girls to represent the spirited freshman class.

The cheerleaders were responsible for planning and cheering at pep assemblies. The three squads cheered at football and basketball games, and the varsity squad accompanied the basketball team to the Christmas tournament at Fox Valley. During Fall Festival Week, the girls sold mums and ribbons and took charge of the Fall Festival coronation. Throughout the year they displayed the kind of spirit that helped to unify students at F.V.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS: Captain Linda Gallis, Pam Maszk, Karen Young, Co-captain Robin Mells, Sandi Tosch, Judy Palmer.

Judy Palmer shouted for the juniors during the victory cheer.

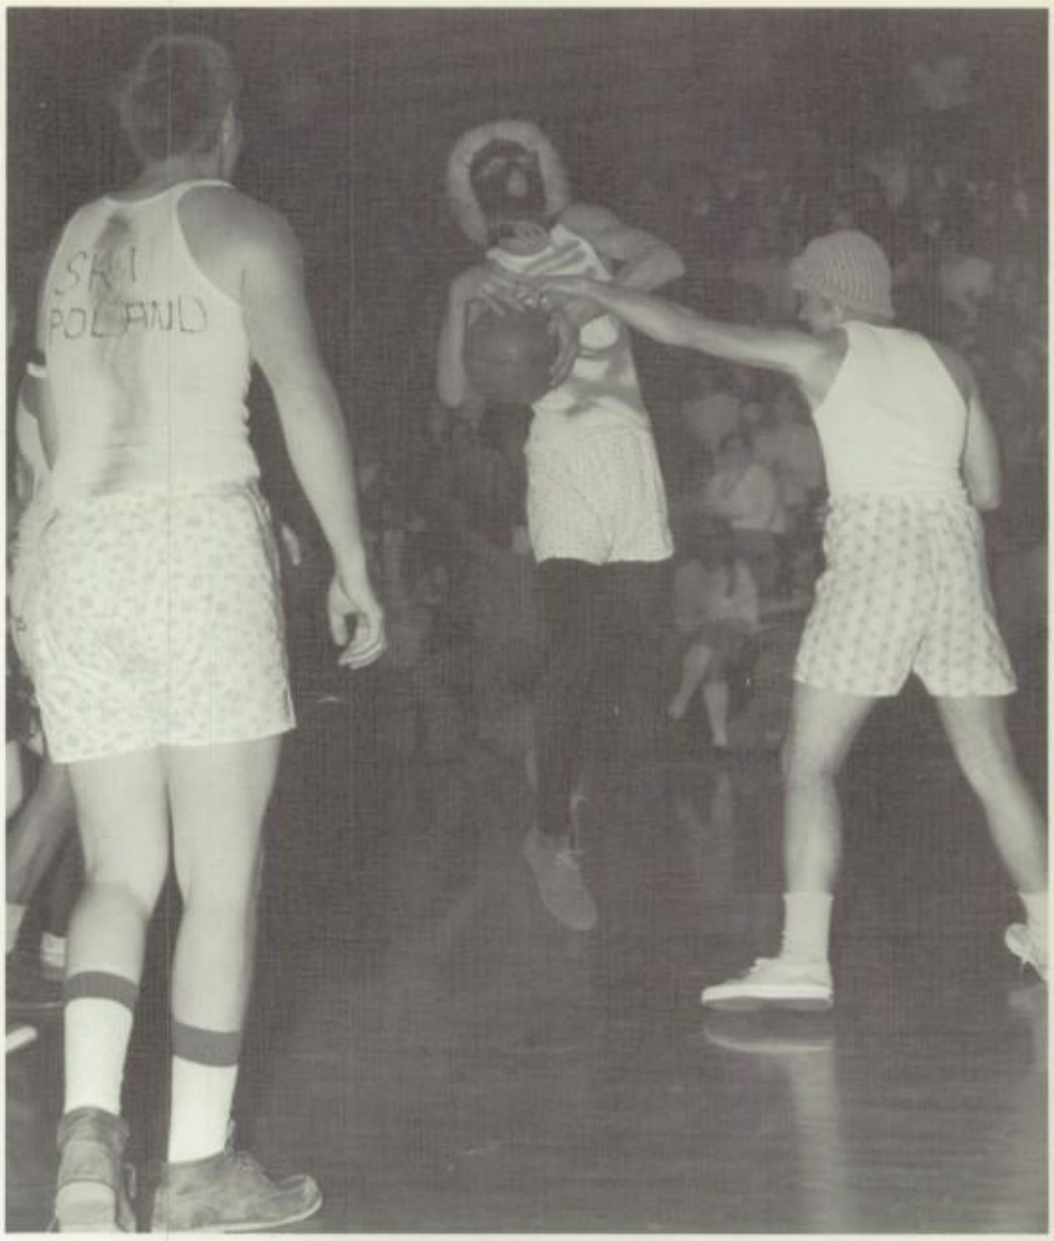
Lettermen Contributed to Lights, Dugouts

The Forest View Lettermen's Club boosted spirit and promoted better relations with other schools both on and off the athletic field. The club's fifty-five members have all earned varsity letters and undergone pledging in order to meet the membership requirements. In addition to donating funds for the Hercules weight machine, the baseball dugouts, and the lights for the football field, the lettermen sponsored the annual Fall Festival dance, this year's "Up, Up, and Away." Club members also participated in the Donkey Basketball Game. The enthusiastic spirit and sportsmanship displayed by lettermen increased the involvement of Forest View students in athletics and also proved representative of Falcons as athletes and spectators.



Lettermen, in the latest basketball attire, showed shooting prowess.

In Memoriam

In memory of Mr. Harold Sprehe . . . . He is missed by both his students and friends on the faculty. For seven years, Mr. Sprehe was a physical education instructor and the head baseball coach at Forest View. Building character and providing the training necessary for boys to face this world and its challenges meant more to him than winning, and thus Mr. Sprehe earned the respect and admiration of his students, his baseball team, and his coaching associates. Coach Sprehe's place here will never really be refilled, but his efforts to make Forest View a strong institution will never be forgotten, and Mr. Harold Sprehe will always have a place in Falcon history.

like the one at Dennis' house. That was really a blast - wasn't it? Can't wait 'til yours wedding - & I'll be more than proud to stand up for you. When I go to college - I want you to write a lot - O.K.? (& I will too) Let's keep this wonderful friendship from diminishing - Love always, Callie Muns

Well Chris —

Wive gone through quite a lot since last year haven't we? At this time last year - we were close friends. During the summer we slowly drifted away from each other. I don't know the real reason why & if I did, I'd tell you. When I say that I'm sorry about what happened, I truly mean it! Maybe that which happened last year, was meant to happen. I don't know. I'm only glad that we have come back to each other - to form friendship. I know that I've changed since last year and so have you. You've become a fabulous person who I truly respect. (not that I didn't ~~think~~ this last year - but you know what I'm trying to say - I hope) I really want our friendship to last & to be something firm and strong. I know that I can always come to you if I ever have any problems & I'll want you to do the same. We've got a certain understanding between us that I love! We've got honesty - & you helped me to be more honest with myself & to others - especially to you. Thanks so much Chris! I know that this summer is really going to be great! We'll have to double a lot - O.K.? We'll have more recording sessions

We Experienced Our Final Year at FVHS

The Senior Class Council boosted class spirit in September by sponsoring Spiffy Senior Spirit Week. Class of '70 members displayed spirit by participation in the peanut butter eating contest, tugs-of-war between the homerooms, and election of a spirited Mr. and Miss Spiff. Council members also sold "Spiffy Senior" buttons, which seniors proudly wore throughout the week and at all school sports events throughout the year.

One of the major goals of the senior class was to present a successful Christmas Ball. Chosen early in the fall, the theme "Christmas in Crystal" provided a challenging job of many hours of planning and work for the class council and volunteers.

The class, led by President Dick Cooper, Vice-president Karen McKenny, and Secretary-treasurer Carolyn Costello, challenged the rest of the school to a show of spirit in class-attendance competition at a basketball game in February.

Seniors completed their last year of high school by presenting their alma mater with a gift that would be both beneficial to the school and leave the mark of the Class of '70 forever in Forest View history.

In Memoriam

In memory of Rick Kollias of the class of 1970 . . . He is greatly missed by his family, friends, and associates. While at Forest View, he was active in the work programs and well known by many. Those he has left behind will always remember the warm and friendly person he was.

"Jolly" Juniors Held "Happiness '71" and Prom

"Jolly" juniors displayed class spirit throughout the "Happiness is '71" Spirit Week. Class council members encouraged other juniors to become involved in such activities as the lemon-eating contest, the newlystead game, Heart Day, and the after-school Junior Class party. They also spent the week searching for the jolliest juniors and crowned Chris Garcia and Rex Oreskovich at the class meeting the following Friday.

In addition to participation in the Canned Food Drive, class of '71 members, led by President Dave Ray, Vice-President Laurie Alm, and Secretary-Treasurer Diane Miskovetz, worked different concessions. Proceeds from such money-raising activities went towards financing what was probably the highlight of the year—the junior-senior prom at the O'Hare Inn.

Sophomores Won Annual Canned Food Drive

The Sophomore Class of Forest View showed both its Christmas and class spirit by working hard enough to win the Canned Food Drive. With such leaders as Mark Bullock, president; Wendy Neilsen, vice-president; and Leslie Green, secretary-treasurer, the class of '72 raised money by taking charge of a coat check, concessions, and a coke dance. The class council planned numerous activities during the Sophomore Spirit Week, February 16-20. Among these were a Fake Mustache and Freckle Day, Autograph Day, Bell Bottom Day, a decorate-the-shoe contest, Paint Hands '72, and Sock Day. The climax of the week was the announcement of "Irving," who was elected as the most spirited sophomore by members of his class.

Freshmen Anticipated High School Activities

The Class of '73, Forest View's largest freshman class to date, entered high school life in great anticipation of exciting activities. The first major project they faced was decorating for Fall Festival. Freshmen, led by their officers, Dick Glass, president; Barb Smith, vice-president; and Donna Prokop, secretary-treasurer, trimmed the E-Building corridor with traditional black and gold crepe paper. Christmas also allowed them to display artistic abilities as they participated in decorating the school to celebrate the holiday. The annual Turnabout, sponsored by the class and held in the spring, brought an end to the year's activities.

Administrators Acknowledged Student Voice and Gave Direction

A growing district, High School District 214, had a total enrollment for the '69-'70 school year which exceeded the anticipated number by about two hundred students. More than 14,900 high school students attended the six district schools. As a result of such growth, the school board members concluded plans and let contracts for the construction of the seventh district school in Rolling Meadows, which will be open in the fall of 1971.

Teens throughout the area took the opportunity to attend board meetings and voice their opinions. Policies about the moratorium, smoking, and the curriculum became important topics in school board discussions and decisions. Revisions in policies proved that the ultimate concern of the school board was to improve the quality of the educational program in this area.

Forest View's administrators provided direction and leadership for the staff as they attempted to improve the quality of education in a time of change. Curriculum, policies, and student-administration relationships underwent significant alterations. For example, the year showed the finalization of plans for change in the English curriculum, the revision of the lunch-study program, and the organization of many student-faculty committees. These committees included the Student-Faculty Discipline Committee, the Student-Faculty Lunch-Study Committee, the Student-Faculty Assembly Committee, and the Representative Assembly Curriculum Committee. The Administration continually displayed a willingness to listen to the student voice and to act in the interests of improving the educational environment here at Forest View.

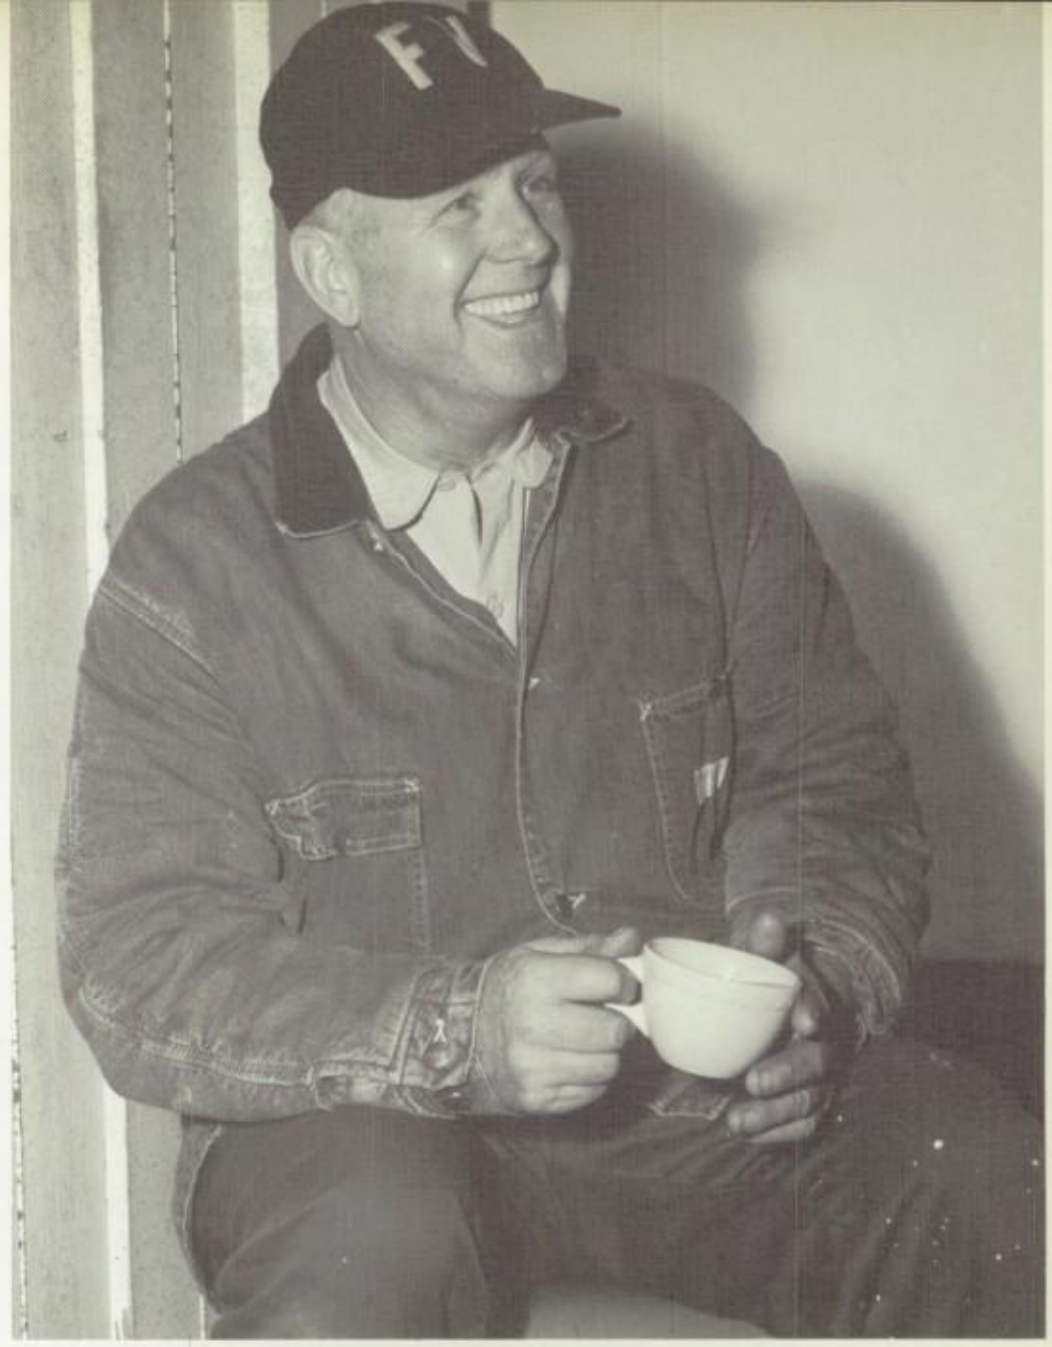
Cooks Served Food; Clerks Aided Students

With the initiation of a new breakfast program, in addition to the regular lunches, the cafeteria staff provided students with the nourishment needed for the school day. The staff served breakfast before school each morning and a choice of two nutritious meals in each lunch period. The ala carte line, open continuously during the lunch periods, supplied all hungry students with quick meal.

During the past year, Forest View's secretaries and clerks accomplished the huge task of running a school smoothly and efficiently. The secretaries took care of all school correspondence, kept accurate records of schedule changes and book rentals, typed stencils, and answered phone calls. By performing their many tasks, the secretaries and clerks aided both students and faculty.



Mr. Ernie Tagge relaxed for a moment during a hectic school day.

Mrs. Dorothy Martin wrote out an excused absence form for Sharon Buczek.

Another year of educational opportunities, school and individual successes, and personal experiences has ended. Forest View again offered the foundations of knowledge. Each student has the chance to build on this knowledge in order to achieve his own goals in life and to develop his own individuality.

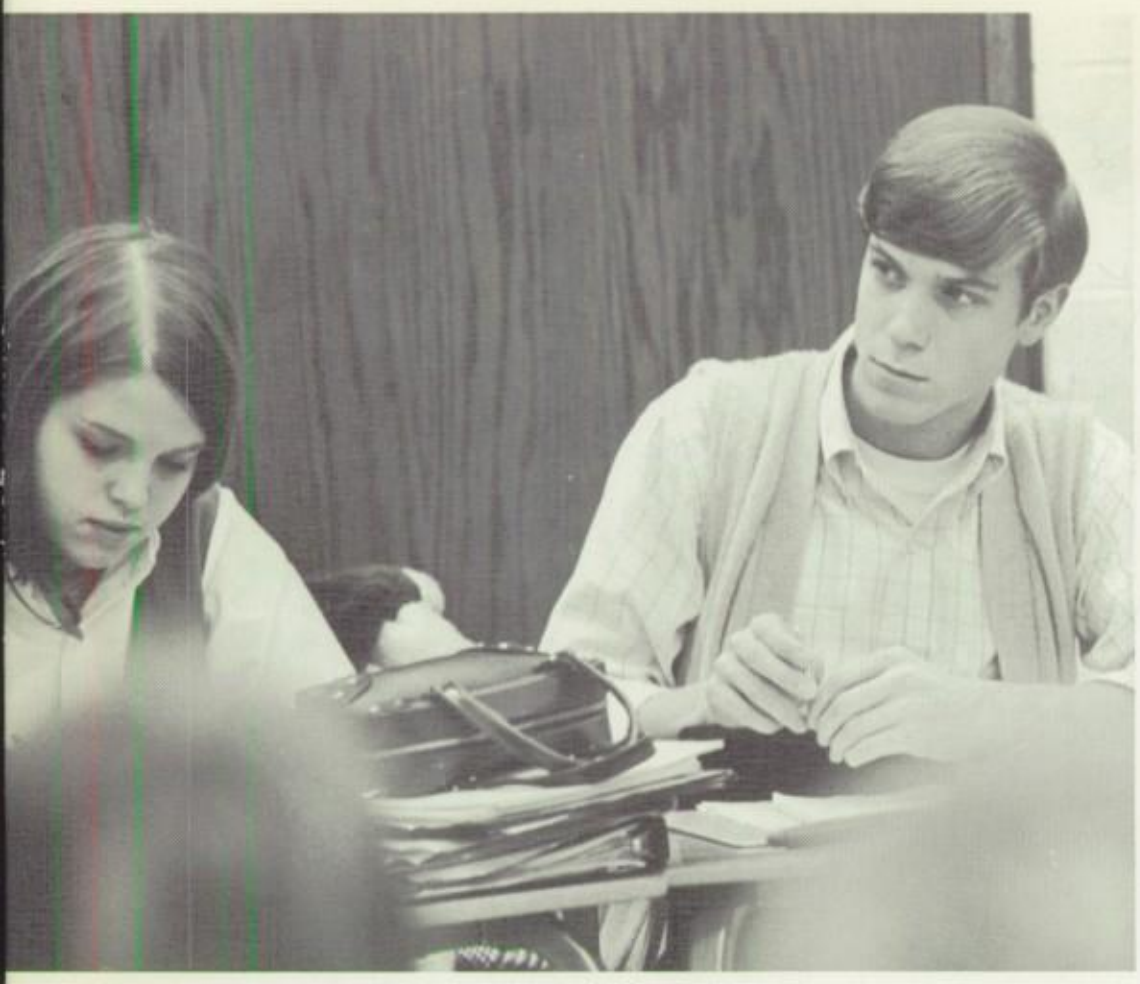
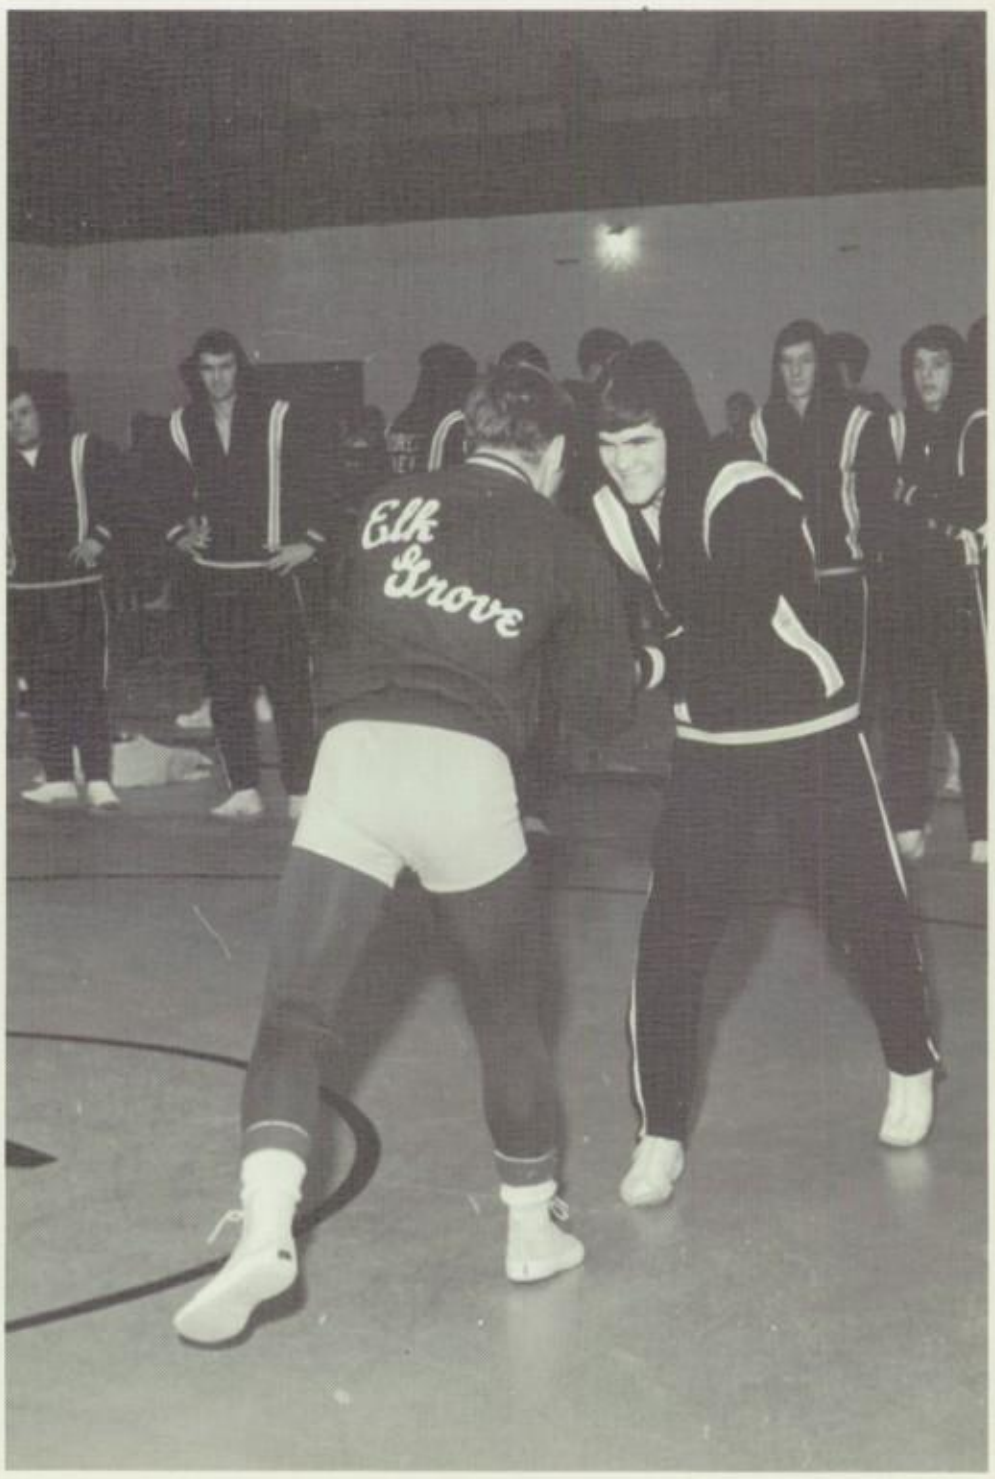
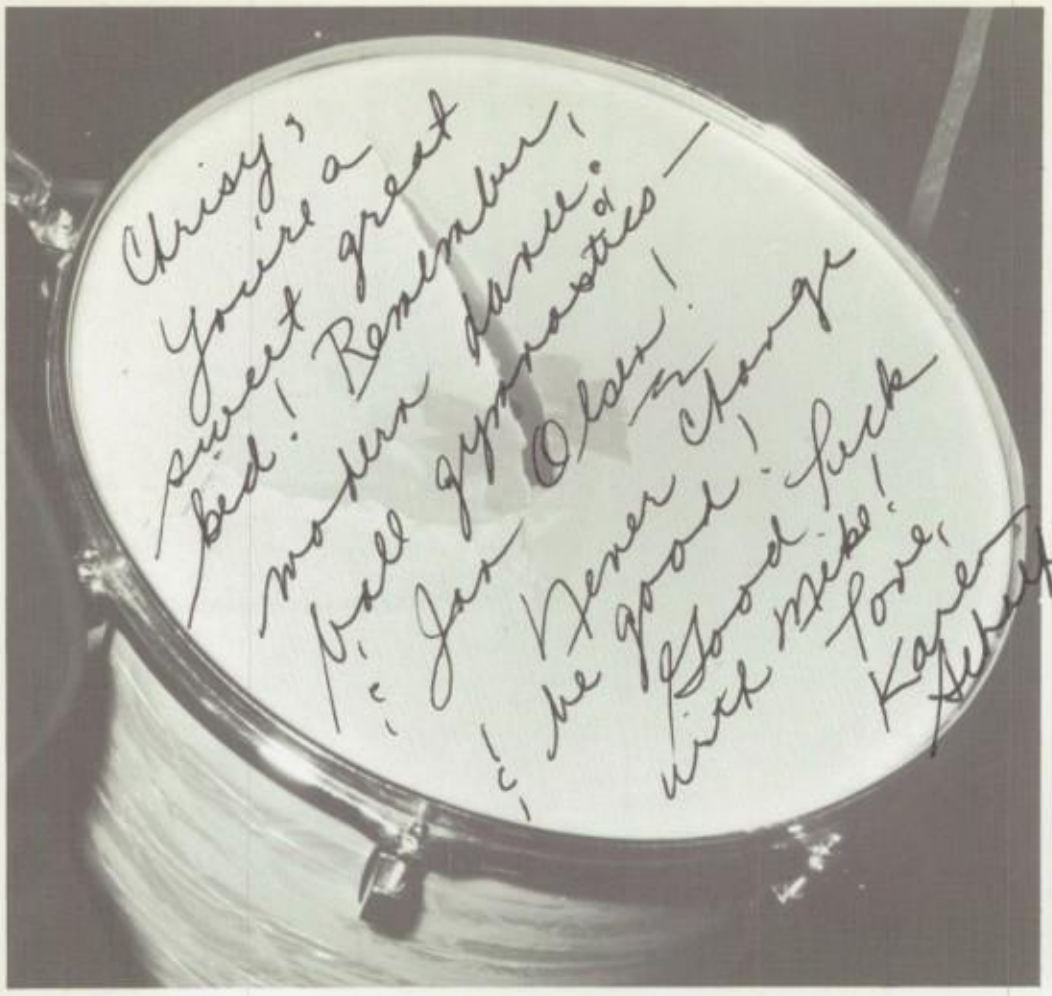
PUT THE KNIGHTS
IN THE DARK!



Seniors, as they channeled their enthusiasm into college, a career, or marriage, looked back on four years which helped them to prepare for the adult world. Underclassmen looked forward to the opportunities and experiences of another year at Forest View. Even though the school year has come to a close, memories of achievements, friends, teachers, laughter, and tears will always remain.





The 1969-70 school year marked the end of an old decade and the beginning of a new age of knowledge and greater awareness of the world. Students at Forest View High School prepared to join this rapidly changing society. Their enthusiasm in studies, athletics, activities, and organizations was the key to school success and, more especially, to individual achievement. The success of man's endeavors depends on enthusiasm, the same kind of enthusiasm displayed by Forest View students.

In Memoriam

Bob Serpone

In memory of Bob Serpone of the senior class of 1970 . . .Active in football and baseball during his first years at Forest View, Bob also developed his talents by working as an assistant physical education teacher at Holmes Junior High School during the school day. He is now greatly missed by his family, friends, and acquaintances at Forest View.

Chris,
It's been fun
knowing ya this year! Did you ever make up your hours of gym? Have fun this summer
and good luck!
Marcie

A Last Word

The making of a yearbook is a very hectic, yet rewarding, experience. The Talon staff has worked hard throughout the year taking pictures, writing copy, and assembling pages so that you, the student body of Forest View, could remember the '69-'70 school year. We, the editors of the 1970 Talon, feel certain people deserve special recognition for their part in making the 1970 Talon a reality:

Mr. Robert Staley, our ever-helpful adviser, for his patience and wise suggestions;

Walsworth Publishing Company, for its cooperation in solving the problems of yearbook production;

Mr. Robert Moorhead, our Walsworth representative, for his help and encouragement;

Durand Cover Company, for creating a beautiful cover;

Walinger Studios, Inc., for its excellent photography;

Mr. William LeClear of Walinger Studios, for the fish-eye photos on the division pages;

Marty Broeske, for his many pictures that appear throughout the book;

Mary Buyers and Mike Kowalczyk, for the cover and endsheet designs respectively;

Ed Johnson, for his assistance in writing sports copy;

All teachers, for their patience and cooperation during the taking of academic photos;

The Talon staff, for its willingness and cooperation in relinquishing many hours so that the deadlines could be met;

And especially you, the students of Forest View, for making this a wonderful year to remember.

Chris: Sad to part
It's really been 4 years since we have been together. We have had many good times and great times, but those friends. I could write forever and never run out of things to say. You are a true friend and I'm glad
I met him. I can always count on you to be there for me. I'll miss
all the fun things
we've done together
and the crazy
times we've had.
I really wish you
the best of luck
in the future and
I know you will do well in life.
Take care of yourself and remember me when you're famous.
Love + peace
forever

Dear Chris W. from Chris E.
Best of luck after
the high school.
It's been nice having you as a friend this year ☺

Chris,
Well I really don't know where to begin we've been friends for four years now and at least we can be grateful to Forest View for one thing, I got to meet you. Really though I've enjoyed my years at F.V., I have a lot of really fantastic memories and I will always look back at my high school days with very happy feelings. But I want to thank you for helping these memories so wonderful. I've enjoyed all the classes we ever had together and I will always remember you. But just because our high school days are over I hope this doesn't mean that our friendship days, our good times are over. I hope we will always remain friends and that we can continue doing things together. Chris, don't ever change you are truly a wonderful person. I hope you will always be happy. Love, Sue

Chris,
Its been a riot these last two yrs. in German class. I hate to see you leave and I wish I had known you earlier. You're a real swell kid!! I hope we can get together just like you said. Have fun in the summer and the future!! Good Luck!!

Sharon
Krause

What can I say when I like across the street from you
Bill

Christopher, Labycakes,
How many kicks did Mike say you were going to have?
Be sure to tell Mike to be on(?) pulling out of your dr(?)way. Your garbage bags might f(?)p. It's been fun saying good-by to you every day after getting off this busy bus.
Love,
Steve

Chris,

I wish we could have been able to see each other more this year, but, remember last year the riot we had. I'll never forget you. You've been a close friend to me and I'm grateful. Come back to see me. Congratulations, I'll miss you very much!

(With baby)

Lovealways,

Bev

Hi Chris

It was really funny this year in English. I think we have him next year too! You're lucky your getting out.

Are you thinking about summer school?

Have fun!

Cathy

Chris

Hope that you understand what I'm trying to say. I'm very bad at this. It's for the very best. It's not that I don't like you, it's just that I'm different. I like to laugh, a lot, and have fun. I like to think, a lot, but that's not the way you want it to be. I'm sorry that I'm not what you want me to be. I'm really sorry. I'll miss you. Please don't forget me. Please write me. I'll miss you. Please write me. I'll miss you. Please write me. I'll miss you
